Labor Hits Wirtz About Work Week

Administration, Unions At Odds On Poverty War

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz ran into stiff criticism from the nation's top labor leaders Friday over the administration's refusal to push for a 35-hour work week.

Wirtz said President Johnson's war on poverty calls for so much to be done in the nation that the answer to unemployment "is not more leisure for all of us."

Replied George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO: "We don't agree with Mr. Wirtz on that at all."

CLOSED SESSION

The two spoke in separate news conferences after Wirtz spent more than an hour in closed session with the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

In appearing before the council, Wirtz took a break from his marathon round of conferences seeking to settle a longshoremen's boycott that halted U.S. wheat shipments to the Soviet Union.

Wirtz refused to talk with newsmen about the wheat dispute, but Meany said: "I hope we will reach an understanding before very long."

Meany is backing the AFL-CIO's Maritime Trades Department in its refusal to lift the wheat boycott until the government guarantees at least half the grain will be shipped in U.S. vessels.

On the unemployment problem, Wirtz said he is giving it top priority but that, "the administration does not support the proposal of a statutory, mandatory 35-hour work week."

U.S. Chamber Advises Vast Spending Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce recommended Friday a $6.5-billion cut in the requests for new spending authority in fiscal 1964 and 1965 made in President Johnson's budget message to Congress last month.

The chamber's board of directors asked the carving of $1.4 billion from Johnson's proposals for urban renewal and public housing and $700 million from the appropriation asked for national defense. It urged also the elimination of $718 million earmarked for federal aid to education, on ground that education is "a state and local responsibility."

Presenting the budget recommendations to reporters, the chamber president, Edwin P. one of the five physicians at had shifted billions of dollars in appropriation requests from the budget for fiscal 1965, which starts July 1, to the current year's budget in the form of $4.2 billion in supplemental spending authority for this year.

The effect, Neilan said, is to make Johnson's new budget look better and the 1964 budget of President John F. Kennedy look worse.

"I believe that if any business corporation made this kind of financial reports the Securities and Exchange Commission would disqualify its securities from being offered to the public."

When asked if he was trying to say that Johnson's budget is a fraudulent one, the Wilmington, Del., banker said he would not use that term but would call the budget a misleading one.

1st Wheat Ship Completes Trip

ODESSA, U.S.S.R. (AP)—The American freighter Exilona, coated with ice and 12 hours ahead of schedule, arrived here Friday with the first cargo of U.S. wheat for the Soviet Union.

With U.S. and Soviet flags flying, she docked in mid afternoon.

Soviet harbor officials told the Exilona's master, Capt. Edward Jungerheld of New York, that the 6,500 tons of wheat aboard would be unloaded within three days. The ship sailed from Hoboken, N.J., on Jan. 31.

There were no special welcoming ceremonies but harbor officials rushed the ship to the docks immediately, bypassing eight other ships anchored in the harbor.

Several hours after the docking, Soviet and American newsmen were permitted aboard.

Pistol Shots Miss Turkish Premier

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A Turk dashed up to Premier Ismet Inonu Friday and fired three pistol shots at him from about 12 feet away. The man was overpowered by security guards. Inonu was not hit.

The bullets smashed into Inonu's official car as he sat in it in front of his office in downtown Ankara, ready to drive off to attend a session of Parliament.

REMAINS CALM

The 79-year-old political veteran remained calm as security guards whisked the assassin away from angry crowds. The premier later told the nation he is "hale and sound and at the service of the nation."

Held as the would-be assassin is Mesut Suna, 38, described by police as a foe of Inonu's government. Suna is foreman of a power station in the Kayseri district, 165 miles southeast of Ankara. He had been trying to make an appointment to see Inonu.

"I hope I kill him!" police said Suna shouted. "It would be for the good of the country."

A veteran of Turkey's angry politics, a man who helped Kemal Ataturk found modern Turkey, Inonu said in a broadcast over the state radio:

"Nothing happened to me. I saw a man I did not know fire at me from a distance of three to four meters (about three to four yards). There are three bullet holes in my car. The attacker was apprehended by security men who managed to save him from the hands of an angry group of my fellow citizens who on hearing the shots had immediately gathered in front of my office."

It was reported that Suna had called at Inonu's office about 11 a.m. and told secretaries he wanted an appointment with the premier to discuss a private matter. He was told Inonu was engaged for the day and could not receive him.

Meets President Of Mexico During California Stay

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Johnson said Friday that "there is no panic on our agenda" and warned Red China it is playing a deeply dangerous game in South Viet Nam.

And the visiting president of Mexico, Adolfo Lopez Mateos, called on wise men of the world to apply genius and imagination to abolishing cold war and wiping out the origins of international tension.

The two presidents spoke at charter day ceremonies at the University of California at Los Angeles, 90 miles from Palm Springs, which is headquarters for their California visit.

GREETS MATEOS

Johnson welcomed Lopez Mateos to this country in ceremonies at Los Angeles International Airport. They traded bear hugs. Lopez Mateos looked up at the 6-foot-3 Johnson and remarked in Spanish: "If I had remembered you were so tall I'd have brought my high heels."

At the university, the two appeared together in a huge temporary outdoor stadium on the athletic field. Bleachers and chairs were packed with a crowd estimated at 34,000.

King's Condition Prompts Conflict

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—King Paul underwent a four - hour emergency operation Friday for a stomach ulcer. His doctors called the operation a success but Greek newspapers described the monarch's condition as grave, or critical.

The most reassuring word came from Dr. N. Tsamboulas, one of the five physicians attending the 62-year-old ruler, who said "The king is all right now."

"The operation went very well," Tsamboulas told reporters outside Tatoi Palace, 26 miles north of Athens where the operation was performed. "The king woke up and kissed the queen and his son Constantine and the other children."

LEGAL BATTLE FLARES

Cached Cash Found

CHICAGO (AP)—A full-blown legal battle shaped up Friday for the $800,000 fortune of a dead policy wheel operator whose pinch-penny mode of operation escaped the attention of rival crime syndicate gambling bosses.

The cash hoard was found Wednesday night in a bedroom of the modest South Side home shared by the late Lawrence Wakefield, 60, Negro policy wheel operator, and Rose Kennedy, 66, a white woman who said she has lived with him since 1937.

Mrs. Kennedy, who never let the money out of her sight during the 18 hours that crews of policemen counted it, bill by bill and coin by coin, indicated she would try to recover the entire amount.

The Internal Revenue Service slapped a $102,000 lien on the money for back income taxes.

Gerald Mannix, assistant state's attorney, appeared in Probate Court on Friday in behalf of Cook County (Chicago). He said if no known heirs are found the county will be the official claimant.

The fortune was discovered after Wakefield suffered a heart attack Tuesday night and Mrs. Kennedy summoned a police inhalator squad. A sharp-eyed patrolman spotted a bag of currency and a policy slip and notified his superiors.

After Wakefield was removed to a hospital, where he died the following night, police raided the home and found money in 32 sacks, boxes and bags in the bedroom.

Mrs. Kennedy told policemen $160,000 of the money belonged to her gambler husband, a Canadian gambler who came to the United States with her in 1929 and died several years later.

MRS. ROSE KENNEDY
. . . Watches Money Counted

Although Illinois does not recognize common law unions as grounds for inheritance claims, Mrs. Kennedy and her newly retained lawyer, Norris J. Bishton Jr., indicated they would try to get the entire fortune.

Mrs. Kennedy told newsmen she and here husband invested 3 years ago in the Night Owl and Speedway policy wheels which Wakefield operated at the time of his death, and merely hired him as their manager.

She has been charged with possessing gambling equipment.

In addition to $763,225.30 found in the home, police discovered $15,825 in government E bonds, bank books showing total deposits of around $50,000 and slips to safety deposit boxes in five banks, including one in Detroit and another in Gary, Ind.

Police said crime syndicate leaders apparently were duped by Wakefield's modest methods of operation and didn't feel it was worth the effort to "muscle in."

His fortune, hidden away in his home, was a secret. Wakefield gave the impression of barely surviving, depending on the good will of a few friends who bought his policy slips daily. Mrs. Kennedy wore a babushka and old clothes and Wakefield made his contacts in a 1953 model car. With handmade presses, Wakefield printed his own policy slips.

Communists Take Hamlet, Shell Troops

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist guerrillas, in a sharp upsurge of attacks reported Friday, raided a strategic hamlet police headquarters after capturing the officer in charge and shelled South Vietnamese troops with their own mortars.

SAIGON CALM

Despite the terrorism, the U.S. Pacific forces commander said Friday that most Americans in this capital have refused to panic. Adm. Harry D. Felt said most of the 1,800 dependents of U.S. servicemen and civilians in Saigon had decided to stay.

The U.S. spokesman said the guerrilla raid on the strategic hamlet occurred in Kien Hoa Province and began when a Viet Cong band ambushed and captured a police officer from the hamlet. The Communists marched their prisoner back to the hamlet and ransacked his office after defenders let them in by mistake, the spokesman said.

Two South Vietnamese defense corpsmen were wounded and 11 others captured in the action.

In another engagement Communist Viet Cong forces in Hoa Nghia shelled South Vietnamese mortar positions with four rounds from their own 60-mm. mortars Thursday. Three government soldiers were wounded.

Before dawn Friday Viet Cong guerrillas also launched an attack in Chuong Thien Province, about 100 miles south of Saigon. A company - sized Communist unit attacked a regular army company at an outpost with mortar and automatic weapons fire.

South Vietnamese troops called in mortar, artillery and air support to repel the attackers.

29 Fishermen Get Reception On Cuba Return

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Twenty-nine Cuban fishermen returned home Friday from 18 days of detention in Florida. At a tumultuous reception on Havana's waterfront, they told Fidel Castro the Yankees robbed them.

"This was piracy," Castro said.

Ships' horns hooted, thousands of waterfront watchers cheered and a squadron of MIG21 jet fighters flew overhead in salute to the fishermen, freed along with four Cuban government trawlers after payment of four $500 fines imposed by a Florida court for poaching.

Cuban flags and posters decked the streets.

The bearded prime minister, who cut off the water to the U.S. Guantanamo Naval Base after the Cubans were arrested in American waters Feb. 2, declared: "They were the victims of an illegal and arbitrary act.

"They were harassed, but they [illegible]!" he said.

Ship Fails In Rescue Attempts

NEW YORK (AP) — British seamen from the freighter Ambassador fought against mountainous seas and hurricane winds to reach an Italian liner standing by, but not one made it.

Witnesses described the ordeal Friday.

"We saw one who tried to climb, but he fell into the water," said Anthony Maimone, a jeweler from Milan, who arrived here aboard the Leonardo da Vinci.

"We never saw him again."

DISAPPEARS

Passengers and the captain of the Italian Line flagship told of the hours they remained at the flooded freighter's side Tuesday prevented by the storm from rescuing the Ambassador's 35 crewmen.

Roswell L. Gilpatric, outgoing assistant secretary of defense, was among those who watched in despair.

"I have been a seaman myself, and this was one of the biggest dramas of the sea I have ever seen," Gilpatric said. "This ship did the utmost she could do."

Capt. Oscar Ribari said he maneuvered within half a mile of the badly listing Ambassador but could not close in on her. He described the rain and hail and wind and waves as the worst weather in his 41 years at sea. His 33,000-ton ship, equipped with four stabilizers, was rolling to 25 degrees, he said.

The Leonardo da Vinci swung ropes and nets over her side as Ambassador crewmen abandoned ship. Ribari said three life rafts approached — Three men in the first, one man in the sea attached to the second, and the third empty. But in the heaving sea none could come aboard.

Gloria Helenstein, 13, fought back tears as she told of watch-

STORMY SESSION

2nd Juror Picked For Ruby's Trial

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A 39-year-old industrial engineer Friday was selected as the second juror in the murder trial of Jack Ruby. During an ofttimes stormy session, one defense lawyer was threatened with contempt.

The defense vainly sought at one point during the fifth day of the trial to bring a lie detector into court to use on prospective jurors.

36TH CANDIDATE

Allen W. McCoy, dark haired father of two daughters, was the 36th candidate called, and only the second accepted, during the trial of Ruby for the slaying Nov. 24 of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Three prospects were called after McCoy's acceptance and all were rejected before the trial recessed overnight. One was the first Negro candidate, a woman who was disqualified because she opposed capital punishment.

The special weekend session was called to try to speed things up.

McCoy was sworn in immediately and taken to the eighth floor of the courthouse to join Max Causey, 35, an electronics engineer, who was selected Thursday as the first juror.

Ruby was said to have concurred in the choice of McCoy as he did in that of Causey. He was quoted as saying of McCoy: "I like him—a fine man."

Ruby, 52, was closeted in the courtroom with his lawyers for 15 minutes before the afternoon session. Newsmen and spectators were barred.

One of the lawyers said Ruby was upset and asked for the conference.

The defense source added:

"He was almost incoherent. He was on some kick about

U.N. Secretary Holds Meet On Cyprus Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Amid some indications of further progress, Secretary General U Thant held a full round of private talks with U.N. diplomats Friday in an effort to produce agreement on how to resolve the Cyprus crisis.

Members of the U.N. Security Council approved his request to postpone an afternoon session in order to give full rein to behind-the-scenes negotiations.

He hoped to achieve results before Monday, when the council is tentatively scheduled to resume its Cyprus debate. Further postponement is possible.

DEPART FROM COLONIES

Beatles Bid Adieu To Screaming Fans

The four mop-topped entertainers arrived earlier at Kennedy Airport from Miami where they had appeared in several television shows and made some personal appearances.

Hordes of anxious Beatle fans began to arrive at the airport in the early afternoon and took up positions against the railing of an observation platform.

Even before the arrival of the Beatles four young girls collapsed in the milling crowd and were carried by police to a first aid room.

Despite little advance notice of their departure, the four British imports managed to create a crowd that rivaled the one on hand when they came to New York two weeks ago.

For a while it was touch and go at the Pan American passenger headquarters where some 200 city police had to call on baggage handlers and airport mechanics to help keep the fans under control.

Ten police cars and a huge airline truck also were used to keep the surging masses from breaking through to the apron on which the Beatles stood nodding their shaggy heads.

One of the many aides accompanying the Beatles said a planned airport interview was canceled because of fear the four entertainers might be injured in a crush of fans.

Labor Hits Wirtz About Work Week

Administration, Unions At Odds On Poverty War

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz ran into stiff criticism from the nation's top labor leaders Friday over the administration's refusal to push for a 35-hour work week.

U.S. Chamber Advises Vast Spending Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce recommended Friday a $6.5-billion cut in the requests for new spending authority in fiscal 1964 and 1965 made in President Johnson's budget message to Congress last month.

The chamber's board of directors asked the carving of $1.4 billion from Johnson's proposals for urban renewal and public housing and $700 million from the appropriation asked for national defense. SAIGON CALM

Despite the terrorism, the U.S. Pacific forces commander said Friday that most Americans in this capital have refused to panic. Adm. Harry D. Felt said most of the 1,800 dependents of U.S. servicemen and civilians in Saigon had decided to stay.

The U.S. spokesman said the guerrilla raid on the strategic hamlet occurred in Kien Hoa Province and began when a Viet Cong band ambushed and captured a police officer from the hamlet. The Communists marched their prisoner back to the hamlet and ransacked his office after defenders let them in by mistake, the spokesman said.

Two South Vietnamese defense corpsmen were wounded and 14 others captured in the action.

In another engagement, Communist Viet Cong forces in Hau Nghia shelled South Vietnamese mortar positions with four rounds from their own 60-mm. mortars Thursday. Three government soldiers were wounded.

Before dawn Friday, Viet Cong guerrillas also launched an attack in Chuong Thien Province, about 100 miles south of Saigon. A company - sized Communist unit attacked a regular army company at an outpost with mortar and automatic weapons fire.

South Vietnamese troops called in mortar, artillery and air support to repel the attackers.

Ship Fails In Rescue Attempts

NEW YORK (AP) — British seamen from the freighter Ambassador fought against mountainous seas and hurricane winds to reach an Italian liner standing by, but not one made it.

Witnesses described the ordeal Friday.

"We saw one who tried to climb, but he fell into the water," said Anthony Maimone, a jeweler from Milan, who arrived here aboard the Leonardo da Vinci.

"We never saw him again."

DISAPPEARS

Passengers and the captain of the Italian Line flagship told of the hours they remained at the flooded freighter's side Tuesday prevented by the storm from rescuing the Ambassador's 35 crewmen.

Roswell L Gilpatric, outgoing assistant secretary of defense, was among those who watched in despair.

"I have been a seaman myself, and this was one of the biggest dramas of the sea I have ever seen," Gilpatric said. "This ship did the utmost she could do."

Capt. Oscar Ribari said he maneuvered within half a mile of the badly listing Ambassador but could not close in on her. He described the rain and hail and wind and waves as the worst weather in his 41 years at sea. His 33,600-ton ship, equipped with four stabilizers, was rolling to 25 degrees, he said.

The Leonardo da Vinci swung ropes and nets over her side as Ambassador crewmen abandoned ship. Ribari said three life rafts approached — Three men in the first, one man in the sea attached to the second, and the third empty. But in the heaving sea none could come aboard.

Gloria Holenstein, 13, fought back tears as she told of watch-

STORMY SESSION

2nd Juror Picked For Ruby's Trial

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A 39-year-old industrial engineer Friday was selected as the second juror in the murder trial of Jack Ruby. During an ofttimes stormy session, one defense lawyer was threatened with contempt.

The defense vainly sought at one point during the fifth day of the trial to bring a lie detector into court to use on prospective jurors.

36TH CANDIDATE

Allen W. McCoy, dark-haired father of two daughters, was the 36th candidate called, and only the second accepted, during the trial of Ruby for the slaying Nov. 24 of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Three prospects were called after McCoy's acceptance and all were rejected before the trial recessed overnight. One was the first Negro candidate, a woman who was disqualified because she opposed capital punishment.

The special weekend session was called to try to speed things up.

McCoy was sworn in immediately and taken to the eighth floor of the courthouse to join Max Causey, 35, an electronics engineer, who was selected Thursday as the first juror.

Ruby was said to have concurred in the choice of McCoy as he did in that of Causey. He was quoted as saying of McCoy: "I like him—a fine man."

Ruby, 52, was closeted in the courtroom with his lawyers for 15 minutes before the afternoon session. Newsmen and spectators were barred.

One of the lawyers said Ruby was upset and asked for the conference.

The defense source added: "He was almost incoherent. He was on some kick about

U.N. Secretary Holds Meet On Cyprus Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Amid some indications of further progress, Secretary-General U Thant held a full round of private talks with U.N. diplomats Friday in an effort to produce agreement on how to resolve the Cyprus crisis.

Members of the U.N. Security Council approved his request to postpone an afternoon session in order to give full rein to behind-the-scenes negotiations.

He hoped to achieve results before Monday, when the council is tentatively scheduled to resume its Cyprus debate. Further postponement is possible.

Thant opened Friday's round of talks by meeting with Sir Patrick Dean of Britain and U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

DEPART FROM COLONIES

Beatles Bid Adieu To Screaming Fans

The four mop-topped entertainers arrived earlier at Kennedy Airport from Miami, where they had appeared in several television shows and made some personal appearances.

Even before the arrival of the Beatles four young girls collapsed in the milling crowd and were carried by police to a first aid room.

Despite little advance notice of their departure, the four British imports managed to draw a crowd that rivaled the one on hand when they came to New York two weeks ago.

For a while it was touch and go at the Pan American passenger headquarters, where some 200 city police had to call on baggage handlers and airplane mechanics to help keep the Beatle fans under control.

Ten police cars and a huge airline truck also were used to keep the surging masses from breaking through to the apron on which the Beatles stood nodding their shaggy heads.

One of the many aides accompanying the Beatles said a planned airport interview was canceled because of fear the four entertainers might be injured in a crush of fans.

29 Fishermen Get Reception On Cuba Return

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Twenty-nine Cuban fishermen returned home Friday from 18 days of detention in Florida. At a tumultuous reception on Havana's waterfront, they told Fidel Castro the Yankees robbed them.

"This was piracy," Castro said.

Ships' horns hooted, thousands of waterfront watchers cheered and a squadron of MIG21 jet fighters flew overhead in salute to the fishermen, freed along with four Cuban government trawlers after payment of four $500 fines imposed by a Florida court for poaching.

Cuban flags and posters decked the streets.

The bearded prime minister, who cut off the water to the U.S. Guantanamo Naval Base after the Cubans were arrested in American waters Feb. 2, declared, "They were the victims of an illegal and arbitrary act."

"They were harassed, but they resisted," he said.

Does the Ouachita Parish School Board have plans to build a junior high school north of Monroe?

Yes, a junior high will be built when enrollment potential increases enough to justify it. The school board office said that present plans call for a new elementary school to be built on a 20-acre site at the Town and Country subdivision. The school will be ready for use in 1965. Then, when the school population rises, a junior high will be added at the same location.

Explain what the John Birch Society is and where was it formed?

The John Birch Society was named in honor of a Christian missionary from a farm near Macon, Ga., who was in China when the United States entered World War II. His heroism, accomplishments and nobility of character were to make him a legend. Only July 4, 1942, John Birch officially joined General Chennault's forces in Chungking as a volunteer. He organized Chennault's intelligence service, rose to the rank of captain in the U.S. Army and served with honor.

Ten days after V-J day, while in uniform on a peaceful and official mission for our government, John Birch was murdered by our "allies" the Chinese Communists. This was on Aug. 25, 1945.

The John Birch Society was formed to "fight the encroachment of communist and communist-inspired doctrines, to rediscover some of the sounder spiritual values in the example of his life and learn the essential truths about Communism."

It's address is Belmont, 78, Mass.

Why do nurses aides at E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital in Monroe get only 16½ days of annual leave while they are working 44-hour weeks? In the past, they were given 18 days annual leave on the basis of working 44 hours a week. The 16½ days leave would be the normal amount given to persons who work 40-hour weeks.

Annual leave at the hospital is figured upon the basis of longevity and not upon the number of hours in the work week, Ray Rhymes, hospital administrator, said. The length of leaves are determined by three-year, 10-year, and more than 10-year periods of seniority at the hospital. If a person has worked more than 10 years at the hospital, he is entitled to the maximum annual leave of three-and-one-half weeks. The minimum leave is two weeks of working days vacation for persons with three years or less at the hospital, Rhymes said.

Is Gassoway Lake which was formed by the Mississippi River a state or private lake? Is it true that the federal government paid for the land on the inside of the levee with the original owner retaining possession? What rate of taxes do they pay?

Gassoway Lake near the Arkansas line in East Carrol Parish and the land surrounding it is presently privately owned by the Holly Brook Land Co. and leased to the Nyanza Hunting Club, James Shepherd, president of the club said.

Although land around the lake is posted, fishermen can use the lake by paying a fee of 50 cents for using the boat landing or renting a boat at the landing. However, the lake is closed to commercial fishermen, Shepherd said, who explained the fee was to help pay for graveling a roadway leading to and from the lake.

The federal government leased land on which the Mississippi River levee is built, but the government did not lease the land inside the levee, Shepherd said.

At present litigation is under way with the plaintiffs contending that land inside the levee is part of an old river bed and is not privately owned. The hunting club and land owners claim otherwise.

Taxes are paid on the land inside the levee at the normal rate levied by the tax assessor of that district, Shepherd said.

What is ALSAC? What does it do for the people of Ouachita Parish? How much of the funds raised go outside the parish?

The letters ALSAC stand for Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children. A drive by both Protestant and Catholic churches, civic groups and city departments will get under way next month in the Twin Cities. Funds are sent to a research hospital, St. Jude's in Memphis, Tenn., which was started by the comedian Danny Thomas.

The hospital staff studies causes to find cures for leukemia and related blood diseases. If discoveries are made they immediately will be relayed to Ouachita Parish physicians as well as the rest of the nation and world. At least two Ouachita Parish residents are known to have gone to the Memphis hospital.

At present, what are the plans for the property on which the old Central Grammar School is located?

City School Board President J. H. Scogin Jr. says there are no firm plans for using the property at this time, and adds that a question of ownership still surrounds the situation.

It has not been legally established whether the board, which administered the abandoned school, or the City of Monroe can take steps to put the land to new use.

Scogin noted further that the board knows now of no prospective buyers for the land and does not contemplate action in the near future to ascertain ownership.

Suggested uses for the property have included sale as a business location and use as a city park site.

Are there any areas in the Monroe city limits that one might build a home and business, specifically a gift item business?

Planning Director George Parsons notes that "the zoning ordinance contains only one type of district where a home and some limited business can be developed. In the B-1 (transition business) district, one could have a combination home and gift shop. This is a limited type of district but several are in existence in Monroe."

• • •

We live in a subdivision outside the city limits of Monroe and would like to know if there is any law prohibiting the burning of trash in these areas. If there is a law, can people be held responsible for loss of property due to this burning of trash?

A spokesman for the district attorney's office points out that there is no parish ordinance prohibiting the burning of trash, but adds that a person setting a fire and permitting it to spread to the land of another commits a violation of a state "fire razing" statute.

The law terms it a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment or both. The statute derives from Article 23-15 of the civil code which holds the responsible party liable for any foreseeable damages resulting from the fire. For example, a person lighting a fire in his yard on a windy day with the neighbor's clothes on a line near by, might incur smoke damages. That is only one application of the law and there are many others.

Can the police jury take money that has been received by them from district and parish taxes for road construction and road maintenance purposes and purchase fencing to complete the fencing of a road project which has been started by the state.

The Louisiana attorney general's office said that, in their opinion, these funds may not be used for fences but are limited strictly to the construction and maintenance of roads within the parish.

Article X, section 10 of the Louisiana constitution was cited by the attorney general and he said "district and parish taxes placed upon the parish for road construction and road maintenance are limited to the purposes for which the tax was imposed."

• • •

What are the troop letters of the state police troops in Louisiana and where are the headquarters of each?

They are as follows: Troop A, Baton Rouge; B, New Orleans; C, Franklin; D, Lake Charles; E, Alexandria; F, Monroe; G, Shreveport; H, Leesville; I, Lafayette; K, Opelousas; L, Covington; M, DesAllemands; N, Crowley.

Main headquarters for the state police is in Baton Rouge.

• • •

I understand the letter "F" on the new Louisiana license plates stands for the state police troop in the area in which the plates are sold and that each troop area has a different letter. I have noticed some plates with an "X" on them. Is there a troop "X"? Also, can it be determined by the numbers on the license plate which parish the plate was bought in?

First, the letter "X" on the license plate denotes that it was purchased by mail from the Baton Rouge office of the motor vehicle department.

As to the second question, the answer, for all practical purposes, is no. The local motor vehicle office said that plates were sent out to different substations and it would be almost impossible to determine where they were bought. They did say, however, that the first 30,000 plates were kept in Monroe so anything up to 30 before the F would be Monroe.

Are aluminum kitchen utensils poisonous?

No, aluminum utensils definitely are not poisonous, Mrs. Audrey Dawson, Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration agent, said. Mrs. Dawson said her office has received similar questions about aluminum utensils, but there is no foundation whatsoever that they are poisonous, she said. Sometimes water chemicals will darken aluminum ware, but it can easily be brightened again by boiling tomatoes in the utensil, Mrs. Dawson said.

Why do nurses aides at E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital in Monroe get only 16½ days of annual leave while they are working 44-hour weeks? In the past, they were given 18 days annual leave on the basis of working 44 hours a week. The 16½ days leave would be the normal amount given to persons who work 40-hour weeks.

Annual leave at the hospital is figured upon the basis of longevity and not upon the number of hours in the work week, Ray Rhymes, hospital administrator, said. The length of leaves are determined by three-year, 10-year, and more than 10-year periods of seniority at the hospital. If a person has worked more than 10 years at the hospital, he is entitled to the maximum annual leave of three-and-one-half weeks. The minimum leave is two weeks of working days vacation for persons with three years or less at the hospital, Rhymes said.

Is Gassoway Lake which was formed by the Mississippi River a state or private lake? Is it true that the federal government paid for the land on the inside of the levee with the original owner retaining possession? What rate of taxes do they pay?

Gassoway Lake near the Arkansas line in East Carrol Parish and the land surrounding it is presently privately owned by the Holly Brook Land Co. and leased to the Nyanza Hunting Club, James Shepherd, president of the club said.

Although land around the lake is posted, fishermen can use the lake by paying a fee of 50 cents for using the boat landing or renting a boat at the landing. However, the lake is closed to commercial fishermen, Shepherd said, who explained the fee was to help pay for graveling a roadway leading to and from the lake.

The federal government leased land on which the Mississippi River levee is built, but the government did not lease the land inside the levee, Shepherd said.

At present litigation is under way with the plaintiffs contending that land inside the levee is part of an old river bed and is not privately owned. The hunting club and land owners claim otherwise.

Taxes are paid on the land inside the levee at the normal rate levied by the tax assessor of that district, Shepherd said.

What is ALSAC? What does it do for the people of Ouachita Parish? How much of the funds raised go outside the parish?

The letters ALSAC stand for Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children. A drive by both Protestant and Catholic churches, civic groups and city departments will get under way next month in the Twin Cities. Funds are sent to a research hospital, St. Jude's in Memphis, Tenn., which was started by the comedian Danny Thomas.

The hospital staff studies causes to find cures for leukemia and related blood diseases. If discoveries are made they immediately will be relayed to Ouachita Parish physicians as well as the rest of the nation and world. At least two Ouachita Parish residents are known to have gone to the Memphis hospital.

At present, what are the plans for the property on which the old Central Grammar School is located?

City School Board President J. H. Scogin Jr. says there are no firm plans for using the property at this time, and adds that a question of ownership still surrounds the situation.

It has not been legally established whether the board, which administered the abandoned school, or the City of Monroe can take steps to put the land to new use.

Scogin noted further that the board knows now of no prospective buyers for the land and does not contemplate action in the near future to ascertain ownership.

Suggested uses for the property have included sale as a business location and use as a city park site.

Are there any areas in the Monroe city limits that one might build a home and business, specifically a gift item business?

Planning Director George Parsons notes that "the zoning ordinance contains only one type of district where a home and some limited business can be developed. In the B-1 (transition business) district, one could have a combination home and gift shop. This is a limited type of district but several are in existence in Monroe."

• • •

We live in a subdivision outside the city limits of Monroe and would like to know if there is any law prohibiting the burning of trash in these areas. If there is a law, can people be held responsible for loss of property due to this burning of trash?

A spokesman for the district attorney's office points out that there is no parish ordinance prohibiting the burning of trash, but adds that a person setting a fire and permitting it to spread to the land of another commits a violation of a state "fire razing" statute.

The law terms it a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment or both. The statute derives from Article 23-15 of the civil code which holds the responsible party liable for any foreseeable damages resulting from the fire. For example, a person lighting a fire in his yard on a windy day with the neighbor's clothes on a line near by, might incur smoke damages. That is only one application of the law and there are many others.

Can the police jury take money that has been received by them from district and parish taxes for road construction and road maintenance purposes and purchase fencing to complete the fencing of a road project which has been started by the state.

The Louisiana attorney general's office said that, in their opinion, these funds may not be used for fences but are limited strictly to the construction and maintenance of roads within the parish.

Article X, section 10 of the Louisiana constitution was cited by the attorney general and he said "district and parish taxes placed upon the parish for road construction and road maintenance are limited to the purposes for which the tax was imposed."

• • •

What are the troop letters of the state police troops in Louisiana and where are the headquarters of each?

They are as follows: Troop A, Baton Rouge; B, New Orleans; C, Franklin; D, Lake Charles; E, Alexandria; F, Monroe; G, Shreveport; H. Leesville; I, Lafayette; K, Opelousas; L, Covington; M, DesAllemands; N, Crowley.

Main headquarters for the state police is in Baton Rouge.

• • •

I understand the letter "F" on the new Louisiana license plates stands for the state police troop in the area in which the plates are sold and that each troop area has a different letter. I have noticed some plates with an "X" on them. Is there a troop "X"? Also, can it be determined by the numbers on the license plate which parish the plate was bought in?

First, the letter "X" on the license plate denotes that it was purchased by mail from the Baton Rouge office of the motor vehicle department.

As to the second question, the answer, for all practical purposes, is no. The local motor vehicle office said that plates were sent out to different substations and it would be almost impossible to determine where they were bought. They did say, however, that the first 30,000 plates were kept in Monroe so anything up to 30 before the F would be Monroe.

Lyons Gratified By Grass-Roots Citizens' Views

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Voters of the 4th Congressional District were told here Friday by Charlton Lyons, Republican candidate for governor, that "regardless of the outcome of the election, the terrific and spontaneous response from grass-roots citizens in every walk of life and every area of the state has been the most inspiring and gratifying experience of my life."

Lyons spent the day stumping in the district where he narrowly missed winning election to Congress two years ago. He said:

"The calls and letters to my office and my campaign headquarters, and the person-to-person contacts I have made while campaigning, have brought the reassuring knowledge that an overwhelming majority of Louisiana's citizens do care about preserving and protecting the integrity and responsibility of free self-government."

The GOP candidate reported that responses have come from employees and employers, housewives, parents, students, fishermen, farmers, small businessmen, teachers, doctors, attorneys, clergymen, the unemployed, and those forced to seek public assistance through no fault of their own.

He added that the most inspiring thing about the response to his crusade is the nature of the comments.

"They are not asking me 'what have you done for me lately?' " Lyons stated, "and they are not asking me 'what will you do for me—or my special interest group—if you are elected?' "

"They are asking only for one thing," he continued.

"They want sound and responsible government in Baton Rouge for their children and their grandchildren," Lyons declared.

Referring to his own reactions in the campaign, he continued, "It is a great privilege to be the candidate for people so dedicated to the need for better government."

"If the people were to elect me on March 3rd," he promised, "my first act will be to issue an official proclamation declaring a partnership between the governor and the people of Louisiana."

"Together, we can and will build a state of which we can be proud and which the rest of the nation will admire and respect," concluded Lyons.

Grambling Sets U.S., Europe Summer Tours

GRAMBLING (Special) — Plans for an overseas trip to Europe and a domestic tour of the United States have been outlined by Grambling College officials for the annual summer school educational study-tour program.

In making the announcement, Dr. Louis C. Goodwin, tour coordinator, said both trips will include visits to the New York World's Fair.

He outlined visits to cities and places of interest in England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. Participants can earn six semester hours credit. The tour is scheduled to leave Grambling on July 30 and return on Aug. 17.

Dr. Goodwin said the domestic tour is similar to one made last year to the Eastern U. S. The added feature will be a week's stay in New York for the World's Fair.

The tour then moves into Canada by way of Quebec, Montreal and Ottawa via the Mid-West before returning to Grambling.

Six semester hours credit are also offered for this trip, Dr. Goodwin said.

2 Ex-Engineers For Louisiana Plead Innocent

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Two former Louisiana highway engineers pleaded innocent in U. S. District Court here Friday to charges of conspiracy.

An attorney for Ben Barnes and Alfred E. Simpson requested 90 days to file defense motions in the case. U. S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West granted 30 days, and indicated more time may be granted later if needed.

Barnes and Simpson, both formerly of the Shreveport district of the state Highway Department, are accused of making false reports on materials going into federally-supported highway projects. A federal grand jury at New Orleans indicted them last month for acts dating back to 1958-59.

African Downfall

There's a new book making the rounds which might serve to shock U.S. readers into a few sober thoughts about the growth of what we believe to be civilization.

Entitled "The Geography of the Intellect," the book came out about the same time shelves over the nation were well stocked with Christmas gift reading material. But now the efforts of the two writers and researchers, Stefan T. Possony and Nathaniel Weyl, are beginning to come through.

The book is really an appeal to reason. It says a few things which many more people know to be true than care to admit—for one reason or another. It points realistically to the policies of the western nations not being put into practice in Asia and Africa and exposes these policies as a "genetic catastrophe."

For example, there is the account of fairly recent happenings in one underdeveloped area:

". . . In British East Africa, power is being transferred from about a half-million Europeans to a handful of Negro political leaders, backed by violent, resentful and incredibly ignorant black millions. In the Portuguese possessions, sadistic race war against about a half million white and assimilated Africans is being encouraged, not merely by the neutralist bureaucracy of the United Nations, but by such civilized nations as the United States and Israel.

"The final goal of this racial revolution now in progress is apparently to be the subjugation or annihilation of the three million whites who now govern in the Union of South Africa. This continental race war will involve genocide on a prodigious scale."

On the positive side, the book gives evidence to show this sort of breaking down will set all of Africa back hundreds of years. For there are realistic, unsentimental statistics that show where the greatest degree of general welfare in Africa exists is where there is the largest white settlement.

Protection Of Earnings

When the politicians start playing up to the "consumer" it's a sure sign a national election is on the way.

Just two years ago, the late President Kennedy reached for a whole assortment of proposals dealing with real or fancied abuses and put them out as the administration's program for "the protection of the consumer."

The discovery of the intermediate range missiles in Cuba caused this major political drive to change its course, but we recall one phrase of the day which issued a plea for "safe and effective drugs."

Now that a new presidential campaign is shaping up, President Johnson has offered just about the same package—truth in labeling, truth in packaging, truth in securities, and other means which would allow the federal government a greater hold on the marketing of all food and drugs.

All of these steps are based on the assumption that the American housewife "cannot help but feel confused, and too often unheard, as she seeks the best value for the hard-earned dollar she spends."

The pitch has good dramatic effect. Then we remember that everyone in the country is a consumer. Many of these consumers are also producers. The politicians don't like to think of it that way, but a producer's earnings enable him and his family to be consumers.

It is foolish for any planner to think that laws aimed at the consumer's vote won't somehow cost the producer, perhaps unfairly. Even President Johnson opposes a law which would allow manufacturers to set minimum retail prices on their products. Such a law exists in England under the description "compulsory retail price maintenance." The word "compulsory" has become altogether too familiar in present-day government regulations.

In other aspects of "consumer protection," we are led to believe that local inspectors must be replaced by federal inspectors. We are told that new laws are necessary in order to prevent abuses which would not exist if present laws were carried out.

There is the so-called "truth-in-lending" bill as drawn up by Senator Douglas of Illinois. The name of this bill suggests that rates of interest should be made clear to the borrower or installment buyer. This information is readily available right now to all those who ask for it.

President Johnson and others would have us believe they are dedicated to the interests of the nation's shoppers. But a narrow margin of Senate votes on the side of keeping in effect the World War II federal excise taxes on such items as ladies' handbags was hailed as a "Johnson victory."

Finally, the bureaucrats working for the idea of federal consumer protection imply that the government can somehow assist the housewife in determining what is the best value for her hard-earned dollar.

If there were really a way of carrying this out, all of western civilization could junk its system of competition and private enterprise and set up a system of government-controlled production and state-directed purchasing. That's just one step away from life by government issue.

Perhaps someone should press for truth in government. Such an administration could begin to pay back the public debt and the people might grow less cynical about their own. If the spiral of inflation were curtailed by more truth in government, it might encourage people to put away savings which would hold promise of buying more—not less—in five or 10 years.

Indeed, the American consumer needs attention. But the best thing the government could do for him or for her would be to stop devaluating the money on the producing side.

Abreast Of The Times

News stories and accounts from visitors to other parts of the world these days tell of malnutrition and starvation in many areas. The reports from meetings in this country on food and agriculture are a welcome contrast.

Some time ago, the American Meat Institute held its annual meeting in Chicago. Well-known speakers, experts in their fields, addressed the meeting. Embodied in these speeches were the plans of the farmers, meat packers and food distributors to do a constantly better job of meeting consumer demands and adjusting to the many changes which are accurring in the art of achieving maximum benefit from the land in terms of food and fiber.

The meat industry is undergoing changes in operating techniques extending from the farm, to processing and to marketing. This is a big industry. It is the farmer's largest single source of cash income.

In common with other elements of the free market competitive system in which we live, it must of necessity search for improvements that render the greatest service at a fair profit. In short, it proposes to keep abreast of the times.

As summed up by one speaker, True D. Morse, former undersecretary of agriculture, in discussing the emerging trends in the marketing of farm products:

"Great changes in marketing are ahead. They are emerging gradually. They require difficult adjustments. But, they offer opportunities——and will be progress toward more dependable incomes for farmers and processors—and better service to retailer and consumers."

U.S. State Department Met Visiting Dictator's Whims

With the State Department it is apparently a case of what President Sukarno wants, Sukarno gets — be it wine, women or big hand-outs of foreign aid.

On foreign aid — the Department is urging President Johnson to continue dishing it out despite the strutting, Soviet-leaning Indonesian ruler's constant threats of war against newly - independent Malaysia. Last year he got $140.9 million. His overall U.S. aid total to date is around $900 million.

On wine, women and whoopee — a congressional investigating committee is poring over some astounding State Department documents revealing that arrangements were made to supply Sukarno with what amounted to a harem of "call girls" during his junkets to the U. S. in 1956, 1960 and 1961.

ONE OF these State Department reports discloses that the Indonesian embassy in Washington went to the extent of bluntly letting it be known that the "success of Sukarno's mission would depend on the availability of women."

Also, that in advance of one visit, Sukarno sent word he would like to have a "Latin type, an American type, and a Nordic type woman" to accompany him on his tour of the U. S. The State Department document indicates these exotic demands were fully and satisfactorily met.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy, who recently conferred with Sukarno in the Far East, is supporting the State Department's backstage recommendation that he be given more aid. Kennedy favors that on condition the Indonesian keeps the peace with Malaysia.

This decision is squarely up to President Johnson.

Under a provision written into the foreign aid budget last year, the President is required to personally certify to Congress that continued aid to Indonesia is in this country's "national interest."

That's one reason the investigating committee is intently studying the State Department's startling documents, and closely watching what the President does.

THE AMAZING State Department report shows clearly that officials not only assisted in meeting Sukarno's demand for "call girls," but condoned his flouting of the Mann Act in taking them across state lines.

The story is as shocking as it is lurid. Following are publishable highlights of the State Department's sorry role in the sordid affair:

"In . . . ., Sukarno paid a state visit to the U. S. At that time, he was hesitating between the U. S. and the Soviet Union, and was playing the part of a so-called neutral which in effect, indicated he favored the Soviet position. The U. S. at this time was going all-out to impress Sukarno.

"A representative of the Indonesian embassy, approached the State Department regarding having women available for Sukarno. Sukarno wanted a Latin type, an American type and a Nordic type woman available when he felt so inclined. State Department officials told . . . . that they could not have anything to do with the obtaining of these women officially, but suggested . . . . . a former FBI agent then engaged in private investigation business in Washington.

"X agreed to obtain the women for Sukarno. He contacted an inspector of the New York Police Department and wanted to arrange for himself and the girls to stay at the . . . . hotel in rooms not too distant from Sukarno and his party. The inspector refused to involve the New York Police Department despite assurances that the State Department approved.

"X AND the prostitutes subsequently stayed at a hotel near where Sukarno and his party were staying. X used a fictitious name at the . . . hotel, where he received calls from one of Sukarno's secretaries to send one of the girls over to the hotel where Sukarno was staying and she would be secretly passed into one of the rooms.

"The Sukarno party traveled across the U. S. stopping at various cities, such as Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, etc., and X followed staying close by with the girls.

"X was hired by the Indonesian embassy in Washington through a second party. X did not register as a foreign agent and in transferring females across state lines, he violated the Mann Act which forbids transferring women across state lines for immoral purposes. He violated this statute numerous times from New York to California.

"A representative of the Indonesian embassy told State Department officials that success of Sukarno's mission would depend on the availability of women."

THE FUTILITY of the State Department's tawdry efforts to "accommodate" the Indonesian playboy ruler is clearly shown by the recent test launching by his air force of powerful Soviet anti-aircraft missiles of the type that downed the U-2 reconnaissance plane during the Eisenhower administration.

These experiments were witnessed by a group of Russian military advisers. The missiles were fired as part of a so-called "national alertness" program in Sukarno's war - threatening machinations against Malaysia.

In an unpublicized speech, Indonesian air commander Rusmin Nurdjadi stated the SA-2 missiles have also been supplied to Cuba and Red China. He attributed this information to the Soviet military advisers in Indonesia.

Through his embassy in Washington, Sukarno is urgently pressuring the State Department to induce Britain to release a large shipment of plane spare parts that have been impounded in Hong Kong.

THE PARTS are for ten C-130 U. S. - built cargo aircraft bought by Indonesia in late 1962. The parts, en route to Indonesia, were seized in Hong Kong on the ground that military equipment cannot be exported from a British possession.

Pressure Relieved On Mother-In-Law

At last some of the pressure is being taken off mothers-in-law. Innocent as most of them are, they have been too long the targets of the disgruntled. Blamed for everything from simple headaches to divorce, they have suffered in silence. Now comes some relief from an unexpected quarter; the mother-in-law accuses the daughter-in-law.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Three years ago I was told by a doctor that I was an epileptic. A second doctor told me I was not. I had seizures many times while living with a daugher-in-law. The second doctor I mentioned told me I had "piled up" nerves and to get out of my daughter-in-law's home. I did.

I haven't had one attack in over two years. I'm regaining some badly needed weight and haven't taken so much as an aspirin since I have been living alone. — Mrs. D.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have numbness in my arms and legs, see spots, have heart flutters, and palpitations of the heart, dizziness, pains in chest and anemia too. I am 30 years old, weigh 128 and have had four children. Have been in hospitals about four times. Doctors have tried to locate my trouble but nothing seems to be wrong with me. I seem to be getting worse every day. Nothing helps. Always they say it's nerves, but I don't believe it.

HAVE YOU ever heard of a person's heart skipping a beat three times straight? Well, mine did and it knocked me back on the bed and I broke out in perspiration. Yet doctors keep on saying nerves. Can you make a comment on my problem? And please don't say it's nerves.

— Mrs. F.

Comment: Before I get lost in my answer, I suggest that you write to me, in care of this newspaper, for my leaflet, "Maybe Your Heart Trouble's Imaginary." Enclose 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. In it you (and others) will discover that it is not unusual for people without heart disease to suffer more than those who actually have it. Fear compounded hour after hour and day after day adds up to a tremendous amount of free-floating anxiety.

I would be the last to say you are imagining your symptoms. When the heart skips it can seem like the end of the world to frightened patients. Have I heard of a patient having three successive heart skips? Of course. This is not unusual. And please remember that such skips don't kill anyone. I admit they almost frighten one to death.

Perhaps you missed the column a few months ago in which a man in his 70s told about having skips every day since the age of 20. He said he grew to accept them, never worried about them and believed his doctors who told him he had a good heart.

I know my saying this won't make you shut off your fears just like that. However, what else can I do but try to reassure you? Your doctors have looked but not found, heart disease. With modern instruments of diagnosis they couldn't possibly miss it if you had it. At your request I won't say it's your nerves; but what else can I do but agree with your doctors that you are allowing your imagination to run away with itself and making your existence a fearful nightmare?

I WISH I might cure you with a few words. It will take more than that. But the first step on the journey is to believe your doctors when they say your heart is all right. If you can learn to do that, you can mentally ignore the skips and go about your merry way.

Castro Fishermen Actually Agents

The outcry against Florida for applying a legitimate state law in the seizure of four Cuban "fishing boats" continues — and the pundits moan about the monstrosity of allowing a state of the Union "to make American foreign policy."

This is par for the course. The moment anything is done which discomfits the bubonic Left, there are always loud voices to deplore it. That Fidel Castro cut off the water supply of the U. S. Navy base at Guantanamo added fuel to the fires being started by our bleeding hearts.

The plain fact, though it will probably be denied by federal authorities, is this: The "fishing boats" were no more playing their trade than Hitler's "tourists" in Norway and France were sightseeing in the pre-war days.

THE MISSION of those boats — and this was known to those who keep track of these matters — was to spy on the naval comings and goings of Cuban exile groups. The information gathered by these floating espionage mills is of vital importance to Fidel Castro's Communist bosses and to the defense of Khrushchev's Latin American beachhead. Every boatload of Cuban exiles returning for active guerrilla duty in the Escambray Mountains means trouble for international Communism.

The clandestine shuttle service also links Cuban exiles in the United States and those in Latin American countries which take a more serious view of the Castro-Communist menace than does the Johnson Administration and its appeasement-minded State Department.

The Castro-Communist regime is actively working to overthrow Central and South American republics. The United States can preach patience and moderation, or argue that the Kremlin's leaders are maturing, but this is of small comfort to governments threatened daily by armed insurrection, subversion, and internal disorder of every sort. This knowledge has led these governments to open their doors to those ready to fight Cuban Communism with more than words.

THE CASTRO regime spends considerable time and money to keep a watch on the comings and goings of the Freedom Fighters. The coast of Florida is one of its best vantage points —something that is readily understandable when it is realized that the Cuban exiles use it both as a staging area and as supply depot. Guns and ammunition are important to the anti-Castro groups in the Escambray Mountains — but these are available from Latin American governments.

FAR MORE important to the Freedom Fighters are clothing, shoes, and non-military equipment which can be purchased much more readily and inobstrusively in the United States. This kind of logistical support is vital to the anti-Castro forces.

The Cuban Reds are therefore determined to cut off aid from the United States, and their "fishing boat" patrol is necessary if they are to succeed. The action of the Florida authorities cannot therefore be described as "irresponsible" although it must be said with some sadness that it runs counter to the policies of the Administration.

Fidel Castro, in fact, could well save the money which these electronically-equipped "fishing boats" cost him. Under orders from Washington, the U. S. Coast Guard is doing the job for him.

Cuban exiles have spoken bitterly of the difficulties involved in slipping past U. S. patrol vessels which have devoted their efforts and the taxpayers' money to thwarting the activities of anti-Castro irregulars. Less than a fortnight ago, a 54-foot converted tuna boat was seized by U. S. authorities as it attempted to slip past our blackade of Florida. It carried some arms, but mostly clothing for the Freedom Fighters in the Cuban mountains.

WHILE OUR allies ship what they will to Cuba (busses from Britain, wheat from Canada, industrial equipment from Europe), the Administration fearlessly plies the waters around Florida to make sure that nothing gets to the forces of freedom fighting a desperate guerilla battle. What may be the political and moral justification for these acts has never been explained to me. Perhaps the voters will offer their answer next November — and perhaps not.

Asks Information From Eisenhower

Americans have been informed by full page advertisements in the daily press that "beginning July 13, 1964, Dwight D. Eisenhower will honor the American Broadcasting Company and inform the American people" by serving "as the political consultant for ABC News" at the Republican convention. He will, ABC promises, "give the country the benefit of his unique experience and knowledge." There is no question of the uniqueness of General Eisenhower's experience and knowledge, nor of the fact that the country would much benefit if he could and would communicate them freely. There is one small matter, though, the unique knowledge of which I fear I share with him. My conscience stirs, and so I write to say I hope General Eisenhower, before plunging all the way into this heady new traffice with national and cosmic affairs, will help me set the record straight.

I speak about his memoirs, MANDATE FOR CHANGE. On p. 319, in a chapter devoted largely to the evils of Senator McCarthy, he points out that the Senator "depended upon consistent attack" for its "publicity value," and gave as an instance that "in a letter to me (Senator McCarthy) made wild charges against James Bryant Conant, president of Harvard University, when I nominated that distinguished educator as United States High Commissioner to the Federal Republic of Germany."

NOW THE facts are as follows: Early in 1953, McCarthy set out to prepare a speech giving the reasons why he thought Dr. Conant should not be sent to Germany as our High Commissioner. He asked me to write that speech, which I did, after agreement had been reached on what it should say. Three points were made. None of them remotely insinuated that Dr. Conant might be disloyal. None of them was in any way "wild." Dr. Conant, the proposed speech said, was a poor choice to send to Germany because a) he was one of the earliest endorsers of the Morgenthau Plan idea for Germany; because b) he did not, as witness his then recent call for the abolition of private schools, and certain other cited articles and speeches, truly understand Ameican life, and so was not in a good position to be our representative to a renascent Germany searching for free ideals; and because c) in the field of security, an important responsibility of a High Commissioner, he was naive, as witness his then recent statement about the presumptive immunity of Harvard from penetration by even a single Communist. (It is inconceivable, he had told a congressional committee, that any member of the Harvard faculty was a Communist. To which the obvious reply, of course, was that it was inconceivable that the Communist Party, over the years, should think of Harvard as too unimportant a place to try to penetrate.)

What then happened was that Senator Taft, having got wind of the speech, asked Senator McCarthy not to deliver it, on the grounds that while it could not hope to prevent the Senate from ratifying Dr. Conant, such power, it would certainly alert the German community to Conant's forgotten advocacy of the Morgenthau Plan, and also to other matters, and so limit his potential usefulness in Bonn once he got there. Senator McCarthy yielded to Senator Taft's request, and sent the speech, instead, in the form of a private letter to President Eisenhower.

HE GOT back from the President a most cordial note, thanking him for taking the course he took and, as I remember, acknowledging the seriousness of the points he raised, while reaffirming his own conviction that Dr. Conant was even so the best man to go to Bonn.

I say "as I remember" because Senator McCarthy sent me the original of President Eisenhower's letter, as a courtesy, to explain what had been the road the speech I prepared had finally traveled; and I tucked it away somewhere. — if I can find it. I called the former Mrs. McCarthy, thinking perhaps I might have returned it to the Senator. She has searched his files, but could not find any trace of it. But it exists, somewhere.

African Downfall

There's a new book making the rounds which might serve to shock U.S. readers into a few sober thoughts about the growth of what we believe to be civilization.

Entitled "The Geography of the Intellect," the book came out about the same time shelves over the nation were well stocked with Christmas gift reading material. But now the efforts of the two writers and researchers, Stefan T. Possony and Nathaniel Weyl, are beginning to come through.

The book is really an appeal to reason. It says a few things which many more people know to be true than care to admit—for one reason or another. It points realistically to the policies of the western nations not being put into practice in Asia and Africa and exposes these policies as a "genetic catastrophe."

For example, there is the account of fairly recent happenings in one underdeveloped area:

". . . In British East Africa, power is being transferred from about a half-million Europeans to a handful of Negro political leaders, backed by violent, resentful and incredibly ignorant black millions. In the Portuguese possessions, sadistic race war against about a half million white and assimilated Africans is being encouraged, not merely by the neutralist bureaucracy of the United Nations, but by such civilized nations as the United States and Israel.

"The final goal of this racial revolution now in progress is apparently to be the subjugation or annihilation of the three million whites who now govern in the Union of South Africa. This continental race war will involve genocide on a prodigious scale."

On the positive side, the book gives evidence to show this sort of breaking down will set all of Africa back hundreds of years. For there are realistic, unsentimental statistics that show where the greatest degree of general welfare in Africa exists is where there is the largest white settlement.

Protection Of Earnings

When the politicians start playing up to the "consumer" it's a sure sign a national election is on the way.

Just two years ago, the late President Kennedy reached for a whole assortment of proposals dealing with real or fancied abuses and put them out as the administration's program for "the protection of the consumer."

The discovery of the intermediate range missiles in Cuba caused this major political drive to change its course, but we recall one phrase of the day which issued a plea for "safe and effective drugs."

Now that a new presidential campaign is shaping up, President Johnson has offered just about the same package—truth in labeling, truth in packaging, truth in securities, and other means which would allow the federal government a greater hold on the marketing of all food and drugs.

All of these steps are based on the assumption that the American housewife "cannot help but feel confused, and too often unheard, as she seeks the best value for the hard-earned dollar she spends."

The pitch has good dramatic effect. Then we remember that everyone in the country is a consumer. Many of these consumers are also producers. The politicians don't like to think of it that way, but a producer's earnings enable him and his family to be consumers.

It is foolish for any planner to think that laws aimed at the consumer's vote won't somehow cost the producer, perhaps unfairly. Even President Johnson opposes a law which would allow manufacturers to set minimum retail prices on their products. Such a law exists in England under the description "compulsory retail price maintenance." The word "compulsory" has become altogether too familiar in present-day government regulations.

In other aspects of "consumer protection," we are led to believe that local inspectors must be replaced by federal inspectors. We are told that new laws are necessary in order to prevent abuses which would not exist if present laws were carried out.

There is the so-called "truth-in-lending" bill as drawn up by Senator Douglas of Illinois. The name of this bill suggests that rates of interest should be made clear to the borrower or installment buyer. This information is readily available right now to all those who ask for it.

President Johnson and others would have us believe they are dedicated to the interests of the nation's shoppers. But a narrow margin of Senate votes on the side of keeping in effect the World War II federal excise taxes on such items as ladies' handbags was hailed as a "Johnson victory."

Finally, the bureaucrats working for the idea of federal consumer protection imply that the government can somehow assist the housewife in determining what is the best value for her hard-earned dollar.

If there were really a way of carrying this out, all of western civilization could junk its system of competition and private enterprise and set up a system of government-controlled production and state-directed purchasing. That's just one step away from life by government issue.

Perhaps someone should press for truth in government. Such an administration could begin to pay back the public debt and the people might grow less cynical about their own. If the spiral of inflation were curtailed by more truth in government, it might encourage people to put away savings which would hold promise of buying more—not less—in five or 10 years.

Indeed, the American consumer needs attention. But the best thing the government could do for him or for her would be to stop devaluating the money on the producing side.

Abreast Of The Times

News stories and accounts from visitors to other parts of the world these days tell of malnutrition and starvation in many areas. The reports from meetings in this country on food and agriculture are a welcome contrast.

Some time ago, the American Meat Institute held its annual meeting in Chicago. Well-known speakers, experts in their fields, addressed the meeting. Embodied in these speeches were the plans of the farmers, meat packers and food distributors to do a constantly better job of meeting consumer demands and adjusting to the many changes which are accurring in the art of achieving maximum benefit from the land in terms of food and fiber.

The meat industry is undergoing changes in operating techniques extending from the farm, to processing and to marketing. This is a big industry. It is the farmer's largest single source of cash income.

In common with other elements of the free market competitive system in which we live, it must of necessity search for improvements that render the greatest service at a fair profit. In short, it proposes to keep abreast of the times.

As summed up by one speaker, True D. Morse, former undersecretary of agriculture, in discussing the emerging trends in the marketing of farm products:

"Great changes in marketing are ahead. They are emerging gradually. They require difficult adjustments. But, they offer opportunities——and will be progress toward more dependable incomes for farmers and processors—and better service to retailer and consumers."

U.S. State Department Met Visiting Dictator's Whims

With the State Department it is apparently a case of what President Sukarno wants, Sukarno gets — be it wine, women or big hand-outs of foreign aid.

On foreign aid — the Department is urging President Johnson to continue dishing it out despite the strutting, Soviet-leaning Indonesian ruler's constant threats of war against newly - independent Malaysia. Last year he got $140.9 million. His overall U.S. aid total to date is around $900 million.

On wine, women and whoopee — a congressional investigating committee is poring over some astounding State Department documents revealing that arrangements were made to supply Sukarno with what amounted to a harem of "call girls" during his junkets to the U. S. in 1956, 1960 and 1961.

ONE OF these State Department reports discloses that the Indonesian embassy in Washington went to the extent of bluntly letting it be known that the "success of Sukarno's mission would depend on the availability of women."

Also, that in advance of one visit, Sukarno sent word he would like to have a "Latin type, an American type, and a Nordic type woman" to accompany him on his tour of the U. S. The State Department document indicates these exotic demands were fully and satisfactorily met.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy, who recently conferred with Sukarno in the Far East, is supporting the State Department's backstage recommendation that he be given more aid. Kennedy favors that on condition the Indonesian keeps the peace with Malaysia.

This decision is squarely up to President Johnson.

Under a provision written into the foreign aid budget last year, the President is required to personally certify to Congress that continued aid to Indonesia is in this country's "national interest."

That's one reason the investigating committee is intently studying the State Department's startling documents, and closely watching what the President does.

THE AMAZING State Department report shows clearly that officials not only assisted in meeting Sukarno's demand for "call girls," but condoned his flouting of the Mann Act in taking them across state lines.

The story is as shocking as it is lurid. Following are publishable highlights of the State Department's sorry role in the sordid affair:

"In . . . ., Sukarno paid a state visit to the U. S. At that time, he was hesitating between the U. S. and the Soviet Union, and was playing the part of a so-called neutral which in effect, indicated he favored the Soviet position. The U. S. at this time was going all-out to impress Sukarno.

"A representative of the Indonesian embassy, approached the State Department regarding having women available for Sukarno. Sukarno wanted a Latin type, an American type and a Nordic type woman available when he felt so inclined. State Department officials told . . . . that they could not have anything to do with the obtaining of these women officially, but suggested . . . . ., a former FBI agent then engaged in private investigation business in Washington.

"X agreed to obtain the women for Sukarno. He contacted an inspector of the New York Police Department and wanted to arrange for himself and the girls to stay at the . . . . hotel in rooms not too distant from Sukarno and his party. The inspector refused to involve the New York Police Department despite assurances that the State Department approved.

"X AND the prostitutes subsequently stayed at a hotel near where Sukarno and his party were staying. X used a fictitious name at the . . . hotel, where he received calls from one of Sukarno's secretaries to send one of the girls over to the hotel where Sukarno was staying and she would be secretly passed into one of the rooms.

"The Sukarno party traveled across the U. S. stopping at various cities, such as Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, etc., and X followed staying close by with the girls.

"X was hired by the Indonesian embassy in Washington through a second party. X did not register as a foreign agent and in transferring females across state lines, he violated the Mann Act which forbids transferring women across state lines for immoral purposes. He violated this statute numerous times from New York to California.

"A representative of the Indonesian embassy told State Department officials that success of Sukarno's mission would depend on the availability of women."

THE FUTILITY of the State Department's tawdry efforts to "accommodate" the Indonesian playboy ruler is clearly shown by the recent test launching by his air force of powerful Soviet anti-aircraft missiles of the type that downed the U-2 reconnaissance plane during the Eisenhower administration.

These experiments were witnessed by a group of Russian military advisers. The missiles were fired as part of a so-called "national alertness" program in Sukarno's war - threatening machinations against Malaysia.

THE PARTS are for ten C-130 U. S. - built cargo aircraft bought by Indonesia in late 1962. The parts, en route to Indonesia, were seized in Hong Kong on the ground that military equipment cannot be exported from a British possession.

(It is inconceivable, he had told a congressional committee, that any member of the Harvard faculty was a Communist. To which the obvious reply, of course, was that it was inconceivable that the Communist Party, over the years, should think of Harvard as too unimportant a place to try to penetrate.)

What then happened was that Senator Taft, having got wind of the speech, asked Senator McCarthy not to deliver it, on the grounds that while it could not hope to prevent the Senate from ratifying Dr. Conant, such power, it would certainly alert the German community to Conant's forgotten advocacy of the Morgenthau Plan, and also to other matters, and so limit his potential usefulness in Bonn once he got there. Senator McCarthy yielded to Senator Taft's request, and sent the speech, instead, in the form of a private letter to President Eisenhower.

HE GOT back from the President a most cordial note, thanking him for taking the course he took and, as I remember, acknowledging the seriousness of the points he raised, while reaffirming his own conviction that Dr. Conant was even so the best man to go to Bonn.

I say "as I remember" because Senator McCarthy sent me the original of President Eisenhower's letter, as a courtesy, to explain what had been the road the speech I prepared had finally traveled; and I tucked it away somewhere. — if I can find it. I called the former Mrs. McCarthy, thinking perhaps I might have returned it to the Senator. She has searched his files, but could not find any trace of it. But it exists, somewhere.

Rockefeller Meets With Ike Advisor

LINCOLN, N.H. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York held a surprise meeting Friday with Sherman Adams but the former national political figure refused to take sides in the New Hampshire presidential primary.

"I am not a witness in this proceeding," Adams said and walked off when a large corps of newsmen covering Rockefeller's trip pressed Adams for his views on the primary race.

Adams is a former governor of New Hampshire and later was a power in the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Adams, frequently described as the second most powerful man in the nation during his federal service, resigned following charges he had accepted gifts from Bernard M. Goldfine, a Boston industrialist who had run into various problems with the federal government.

Rockefeller and Adams met in the lobby of a hotel in the tiny northern New Hampshire town of Lincoln, Adams' home.

Rockefeller said Mrs. Adams had volunteered to be hostess for a small tea to allow the governor to meet some of her friends.

The governor is on an extensive campaign tour through New Hampshire, moving Friday into the sparsely settled rural and resort areas considered a source of major strength for his chief opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Reporters asked him how he stood in the campaign for the Republican nomination for president. "I can't tell you anything," Adams snapped. "Why don't you ask Mr. Rockefeller?"

The governor, who had joined Adams for a cup of tea, described Adams as "an old friend" and said they had served together as trustees of Dartmouth College.

Rockefeller was asked if he would like to have Adams' support.

"I've been after it all the way," Rockefeller said.

Asked if he thought he would get it, Rockefeller commented: "He's here today. That's a big step forward."

At one point Adams commented to Rockefeller, "I'm not used to being this important again."

Rockefeller moved on, pushing into the New Hampshire mountains in snow flurries. He will campaign in the ski area today, returning to New York City tonight.

In other developments, Rockefeller acknowledged in interviews that he had extensive support from the Teamsters Union in New Hampshire.

Asked if he would like Teamsters President James R. Hoffa to come up and campaign personally for him, Rockefeller said, "I'm happy the way things are going."

Illegal Weapon Charge Brings Fine, Jail Term

Another nine-month term was given to Tom Johnson, 35, Negro, 501 Adams St., Monroe, for unauthorized use of an automobile.

A $100 fine for theft by check was given to Moses Jenson, 32, 3011 Bailey St., Monroe.

Thurmon Berry, 30, Negro, 75-C Roy Dr., Monroe, received a $100 fine for carrying a concealed weapon, plus $30 each for simple battery and public drunkenness.

Those forfeiting $30 bonds for reckless driving included Cora Wilson, 52, 306 S. 12th St.; Gloria Stancil, 16, 720 Guy Ave.; Iola S. Dowd, 38, 206 Cedar St.; and Forrest E. Bourne, 65, 110 Louise Anne St. Roland D. Brown, P. O. Box 495, was fined $30 for the offense.

Fined $10 for reckless driving were Leon Smith, 34, F-17-A Foster Homes; Billy Jean Johnson, 17, 101 Ira St., West Monroe; and William F. Sherman, 75, 902 Burroughs St. Similar charges were nolle prossed for Clyde W. Clark, 19, Rt. 3, Box 120-A, West Monroe; and discharged against Leamon Gray, 3108 Jackson St.

Larry G. Lewis, 23, 310 Medorah Dr., West Monroe, was fined $10 for speeding. Those forfeiting speeding bonds were L. C. Reed, 19, West Monroe, $20; R. W. Bryan Jr., 30, 1513 N. 5th St., $12; E. L. Holloway, 51, 2704 Oak Dr. $13; and Eugenia Harris, 22, 812 Hilton St., $10.

Other cases processed by Judge Harper were for minor violations.

Scranton Hits Decline In U.S. Foreign Relations

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton contended Friday night that the political and economic position of the United States in relationship with other key countries of the Free World is in "tumbling decline."

The governor, a prospect for the Republican presidential nomination, said "a steady deterioration of the political front threatens to unhinge American statecraft at precisely the time when jointly with our allies we could be making great strides for freedom."

Scranton said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Cincinnati Council on World Affairs that the United States should provide "fearless leadership by regenerating our international economic strength" because this country, Japan, the British Commonwealth and the free nations of Western Europe could inspire close cooperation through the "mutual desires" of expansion of world trade, strengthening world financial mechanisms and aiding in the growth of developing nations.

He maintained that the United States has failed to respond to challenges in a changing world, thus contributing to a "disturbing catalogue of failure and dissidence."

"Collectively these political setbacks pose twin dangers," he said. "They have made it increasingly difficult for the United States to reassert its leadership and they have torpedoed our efforts to develop this nation's international economic strength.

"The world has been changing — swiftly so. But we have failed to respond to the challenge of that change. The Unied States is still the mightiest wealthiest country—and by long odds. Other nations know this. But they are acting otherwise. Their acceptance of our leadership is fitful; faltering. Yet it could hardly be otherwise for we have not seized the opportunity to break new ground in international policy."

He told the council that in order for the U.S. to "stride forth firmly on the stage of international economic leadership we must first set our own house in order. . .we are still on the defensive because of our weak balance of payments, and we do not negotiate from a posture of strength on either trade, aid, or finance."

Scranton said the federal government and the nation's business leaders were not "sufficiently export-minded."

He called on the U.S. Commerce Department to multiply its trade promotion programs and on Congress to appropriate sufficient funds for a "full scale drive to speed up exports."

The governor said he put "little faith" in proposals for a world central bank.

"But a system must be evolved that provides the necessary liquidity that a growing world economy needs — a system that does not expose the dollar to the harrowing uncertainties and pressures that we have recently been experiencing," he added.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD . . . The questioning of Richard Burton's right to enter the United States — because he may have committed "moral turpitude" — is not only making this country look ludicrous in the eyes of most of the rest of the civilized world, but it's having other interesting repercussions. (1) Immediately after word that a middle-Western legislator was seeking to have him barred from the U. S. reached Toronto newspapers, members of the cast crew of "Hamlet" arose and applauded Richard Burton when he arrived at the theatre for rehearsals. (2) Another famous actor, foreign-born and therefore subject to the same problems, is thinking of giving up his fight against his wife's divorce demands, because if she started "telling everything," she could put him in the same class with Dickie, as far as the Senators are concerned. (3) Even the most moral people, who disapprove of divorce and remarriage, let alone extra-marital relations of any improper kind, are wishing fervently, frequently and loudly that our elected representatives in Washington would start worrying about Panama, Cuba, Berlin, Viet Nam, the muggers in Central Park, the poverty in the tenements and the crimes in the subway before they take time out from their serious jobs to bar an actor from entering this sacred land of multiple marriages because he has been dallying with Elizabeth Taylor, who happens to be more famous than the women with whom some of our citizens more eminent than Richard Burton have been known to toy.

A history-making deal involving The Beatles is in the works. If plans materialize, they will do closed-circuit "live" concerts beamed into motion picture theatres, the way championship prize fights are handled. Each appearance could gross millions of dollars . . . "Which bottomless pit is HE?"

$1-BILLION INVESTOR

Company President Believes In Vigor

NEW YORK (AP) — Grant Keehn, new president of the nation's third largest life insurance company, is 63, works out twice weekly in a gym and invests more than $1 billion a year.

In a way, Keehn thinks, the workouts help the investments. "Calisthenics have been an important, lifelong habit for me," said the slim, 6-foot-1 executive. He goes to a gym near his Manhattan skyscraper office.

Keehn was named Thursday as president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, a company that sold $1.9 billion worth of life insurance to Americans last year. His new title means Keehn will share the decision-making for the huge corporation with his chief, James J. Oates Jr., 64, board chairman.

Keehn joined the insurance company in 1958 after two successful careers, as an investment firm partner and a banker. For more than five years he has directed the investment of billions of dollars of the company's money in things ranging from mortgages to common stocks.

Investors with a lot of money, says Keehn, have problems too.

For insurance companies, he says, it has been keen competition from banks and other savings institutions to get high-quality mortgages. This represents a major field in the battle among these institutions for best return on their investment dollar.

"I think insurance companies still have the best position," says Keehn.

As for personal success, Keehn says much of it depends on a wide range of interests—as success in investment often depends on putting money in a variety of holdings. Serving as a director of a railroad, for example, led to his present job.

Keehn got to know James Oates Sr., the man who was to be his boss at Equitable, when both served as directors of the Great Northern Railway in the 1940s. Both men had grown up in Chicago and had a nodding acquaintance as young men, but until then never knew each other well, says Keehn.

In 1957, Oates became president and chief executive officer at Equitable after nine years as president of a Chicago utility.

"The next year," recalls Keehn, "Oates persuaded me to come to Equitable to handle investments."

Keehn at that time was a vice president of New York's First National City Bank.

Despite the change in title, Keehn's office will remain on the 36th floor of Equitable's 42-story building. Oates' office is directly above, on the 37th floor.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD . . . The questioning of Richard Burton's right to enter the United States — because he may have committed "moral turpitude" — is not only making this country look ludicrous in the eyes of most of the rest of the civilized world, but it's having other interesting repercussions. (1) Immediately after word that a middle-Western legislator was seeking to have him barred from the U. S. reached Toronto newspapers, members of the cast crew of "Hamlet" arose and applauded Richard Burton when he arrived at the theatre for rehearsals. (2) Another famous actor, foreign-born and therefore subject to the same problems, is thinking of giving up his fight against his wife's divorce demands, because if she started "telling everything," she could put him in the same class with Dickie, as far as the Senators are concerned. (3) Even the most moral people, who disapprove of divorce and remarriage, let alone extra-marital relations of any improper kind, are wishing fervently, frequently and loudly that our elected representatives in Washington would start worrying about Panama, Cuba, Berlin, Viet Nam, the muggers in Central Park, the poverty in the tenements and the crimes in the subway before they take time out from their serious jobs to bar an actor from entering this sacred land of multiple marriages because he has been dallying with Elizabeth Taylor, who happens to be more famous than the women with whom some of our citizens more eminent than Richard Burton have been known to toy.

A history-making deal involving The Beatles is in the works. If plans materialize, they will do closed-circuit "live" concerts beamed into motion picture theatres, the way championship prize fights are handled. Each appearance could gross millions of dollars . . . Frankie Avalon's wife, Kay Diebel, is packing to accompany him on his personal appearance tour for his new film, "Muscle Beach Party," which has its premier in San Francisco next month. She hopes her presence on the junket will help dispel the rift rumors . . . The recent marriages of a young star is in trouble already. She claims her bridegroom is "a regular Hitler."

Chicago columnist Irving Kupcinet and his heartbroken wife are still stunned over the murder of their daughter Karyn, in Hollywood, and can't understand why the California police haven't unearthed any clues to the crime. . . Bob Hope and the Chrysler people are on the verge of announcing that Ski Nose, the darling, will be renewed for another televsion series. . . . Claudia McNeil, seeking a divorce from her husband, will make surprising charges. . . An incoming — very important — show may get a "play doctor" before it hits hits Broadway, although the director is understandably furious at the thought of having someone else come in and restage his creation.

The town's newest Chinese restaurant, Sun Luck Imperial, must be the most fabulously decorated chow-meinery in the nation—aside from the marvelous food. The bar is a masterpiece, with domes of amber beads and fairytale lights over each cocktail table, and all kinds of intricate wood carving from Hong Kong. Flames Leave Eight Dead In Chicago Home

CHICAGO (AP)—Fire raced through a two-bedroom bungalow attic early Friday killing seven children and a man who tried to rescue them.

Three of those who were in the house survived. They are James Alford, 37, a city detective, and his wife, Gloria, 35, parents of the children, and one of the eight youngsters who were in the two upstairs rooms. The boy, Keith, 13, saved himself by breaking a window and jumping 20 feet to the ground.

Alford suffered severe burns and smoke inhalation.

Those who died, all Negroes, were Leroy Robinson, 41, Alford's cousin, and seven children ranging in age from 1 to 11 years.

The Alford woman told police she and her husband were aroused by the smell of smoke, and found Robinson dragging his smoldering mattress from his bedroom toward the bathroom. The smoke became so thick and blinding that Alford broke a window for air.

Fanned by the draft, the mattress, still in the hallway, broke into flames. She said she screamed that the children were upstairs, and Robinson dashed up to the second floor. A moment later, flames shot up the stairwell.

Alford, whose clothing caught fire, ran from the house followed by his wife. About this time, Keith broke a window and jumped to the ground, and flames shot out the window after him.

What happened outside was told by horrified neighbors. Awakened by the explosive puffs as the flames raced through the upper floor of the 1½-story West Side home, Goldie Chesser said she saw Alford roll on the ground to extinguish his flaming clothing.

She said the Alford woman screamed hysterically, "Somebody help my children."

The children who died were James Jr., 11; Denise, 9; Calvin, 8; Patricia, 6; Steve, 5; Tyrone, 4, and Christine, 1.

How To Keep Well

By THEODORE VAN DELLEN

The sex of the newborn is easily established, as a rule, but in one out of every 1,000 births, the physician hesitates before saying, "It's a boy" or "It's a girl." Such an infant may be a pseudohermaphrodite, with jumbled reproductive organs. Certain external manifestations of both sexes may be present and it is a question as to which predominates.

Such structures usually are rudimentary. Prior to the discovery of a way to make chromosomal sex determinations, physicians concluded occasionally that a child was male, only to be proved in error later. Such mistaken identity led to accidental transvestism. This is not a perversion, as the victim and his family are aware of the true sexual identity.

What happens when the false identity has lasted for years and it becomes necessary to switch the sex after the child is in school? There is only one thing to do, even tho it provides a choice bit of gossip. Make the change without delay, regardless of the embarrassment of all concerned.

Two St. Louis plastic surgeons were consulted by the parents of a 13-year-old who had the outward appearance and social status of a girl. The parents had reason to question the true sex of their offspring with the advent of adolescence.

Examination revealed a deformity of the outer parts, which resembled those of a normal girl. Special laboratory and other tests proved otherwise. Reconstructive surgery was advised to establish the proper male sex. The operation was psychologically acceptable to the patient, who made immediate plans to recast his life as a boy, even to the selection of a he-man name. He decided on and pursued a masculine program that left no suggestion of femininity.

These plastic surgeons wrote a followup study on the young man in a recent issue of Surgery, Gynecology & Obstetrics. He has the physique of a professional football player, is married, and has one child.

OVERACTIVE STOMACH

H. U. writes: What can be done for a stomach that acts too fast? Food shifts to the intestine too soon, I have been told.

REPLY

Eat more proteins and fats, which take longer to digest. Don't drink fluids with meals. The anti-cholinergic drugs used in peptic ulcer tend to slow up the churning movements of the stomach and reduce acidity.

DRAWING FLUID

Mrs. D. writes: My husband has fluid in his lungs and his doctor draws it off each week. Does this fluid come from heart disease?

REPLY

This is doubtful because fluid from heart disease usually can be eliminated with digitalis and a diuretic. Go with your husband next week, and ask his physician to explain the cause.

VOICE WON'T DEEPEN

E. P. writes: If an 11-year-old girl is given a steroid for asthma, could it bring on male characteristics such as a husky voice?

REPLY

The voice will not change, unless this girl is overtreated. Acne, superfluous hair, and a moon face might develop but these conditions disappear after the hormone is discontinued.

CONSTIPATION

W. P. writes: Could drinking too little fluids lead to constipation?

REPLY

This is one cause but there are many others. Send stamped, self - addressed envelope for leaflet on constipation.

276 Graduate Students Seek Tech Degrees

RUSTON (Special) — With 276 graduate students registered at Louisiana Tech for the current semester, the advanced degee program at the college shows a gain of 25 per cent over the 220 enrolled last spring, it has been announced by Dr. J. B. Wilson, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, who is chairman of the graduate program at Tech.

Graduate work at Tech originally was approved by the State Board of Education in April of 1958. In that year, the first advanced students enrolled in the summer session.

Folliwng an expansion of the program, curricula are now being offered which lead to the graduate degrees of master of arts, master of arts in education, master of business administration, master of science and master of science in education.

Graduate enrollments have been as follows during the spring semesters since the inception of the program: 120 in 1959; 143 in 1960; 191 in 1961; 181 in 1962, and 220 in 1963.

WORLD SERIES BET

Executive Accused Of Killing Bookie

NEW YORK (AP)—Police accused a rich, young Park Avenue businessman Friday of murdering a bookie and having his body thrown into the Harlem River in a trunk because of a losing $25,000 World Series bet.

The trunk was thrown into the river by a red-haired girl friend and an unidentified couple, police declared.

The accused, Mark Fein, 32, president of Fein Industries, was in tears shortly after he pleaded innocent to the Oct. 10 shooting of Reuben Markowitz. The killing was four days after the series, which the Los Angeles Dodgers won in four games. Fein, manufacturer of boxes and cans, bet on the New York Yankees, police said.

Markowitz' body, bound with clothesline and with four bullet wounds, was found in the river Nov. 8. It apparently had floated free of the trunk, which was not found.

Papers on the body led police to check the bookie's 1,000 customers, who placed their bets under code names through a phone-answering service.

The case broke Thursday when Gloria Kendal, 34, red-haired friend of Fein, told police she helped dispose of the body with the aid of an unidentified couple who were unaware of what was in the trunk.

Albert A. Blinder, Fein's attorney, told reporters he believed the girl "is covering up for one of her friends and putting the blame on him."

Blinder said Fein had no motive. "He is a very well-to-do man," the attorney said.

Fein, thin and dark-haired and wearing glasses, broke down and wept in his wealthy father's arms after his arraignment before Criminal Court Judge Ambrose J. Haddock. He was held without bail pending a hearing.

"My son is innocent," the elder Fein told reporters. "I never heard him use a harsh word. This whole thing is bizarre and incredible. In his entire life he never even had a fist fight."

The elder Fein, also a can and box manufacturer, was the victim of an attempted $20,000 blackmail scheme in the 1950s. Several attempts were made to kill a show girl he later married.

Police said the younger Fein had lost $60,000 to another bookie and $10,000 to $20,000 to Markowitz.

He had a half interest in the $25,000 World Series bet, with two other unidentified businessmen splitting the remainder, officers said.

Fein arranged to meet Markowitz, ostensibly to pay him off, at a Manhattan apartment rented in Miss Kendal's name, according to the police account. After the shooting, the body was tied and put in a trunk, and two women and a man drove it to the river in a rented station wagon, police said.

The police account said Fein did not make the trip to the river, telling one of the women: "Take care of things. I've got some very important things to do."

Fein told his cobettors he had paid off Markowitz, and they paid him their $12,500 share of the bet, police said.

Flames Leave Eight Dead In Chicago Home

CHICAGO (AP)—Fire raced through a two-bedroom bungalow attic early Friday killing seven children and a man who tried to rescue them.

Three of those who were in the house survived. They are James Alford, 37, a city detective, and his wife, Gloria, 35, parents of the children, and one of the eight youngsters who were in the two upstairs rooms. The boy, Keith, 13, saved himself by breaking a window and jumping 20 feet to the ground.

Alford suffered severe burns and smoke inhalation.

Those who died, all Negroes, were Leroy Robinson, 41, Alford's cousin, and seven children ranging in age from 1 to 11 years.

The Alford woman told police she and her husband were aroused by the smell of smoke, and found Robinson dragging his smoldering mattress from his bedroom toward the bathroom. The smoke became so thick and blinding that Alford broke a window for air.

DEAR ABBY

Simmer Down—You're Magnifying Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man in his 50's who slips around to smoke? He started smoking when he was 15, and about four years ago he started having stomach trouble, so his doctor told him to quit smoking. He did for about three years, then he started to slip around and sneak smokes. Can you imagine a man in his 50's thinking he is getting away with it? His breath and clothes smell of tobacco something fierce. And you should hear the excuses he uses to get out of the house for a smoke. Also, I find cigarettes hidden all over the house. It makes me think that if a man will slip around to smoke, maybe that's not all he's slipping around to do. Am I wrong?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Probably. Don't assume that because your husband has one bad habit he has them all. So far, you know only what you've learned from smoke signals.

DEAR ABBY: Should a 16-year-old girl who has been called "naive" feel complimented or insulted?

"NAIVE"

DEAR NAIVE: If she is truly naive, she should feel complimented.

DEAR ABBY: I am a born loser. I lost my husband to another woman. I lost my only child to my husband because the court decided that he could provide a more normal atmosphere for him. I fell in love with a married man who works closely with me. I have never been alone with him, nor do I intend to be. I am sure he is aware of me in the same way, though not a word has been spoken about it. My interest in him has numbed my interest in all other men. It is also interfering with my efficiency on my job, and I know it is affecting his, too. If you could tell me how to regain my former uncomplicated state of mind without changing jobs, I would be grateful.

"BORN LOSER"

DEAR LOSER: There are no "Born Losers" — only people with occasional bad luck and others who play games in which the odds are against them. Quit punishing yourself. Unless you enjoy suffering, you will change jobs.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GIVING UP IN ALBUQUERQUE: Carry a Bible. And one day you will find that it is carrying you.

The serving table was covered with a black cloth. White Japanese china was used as contrast with the centerpiece created from flowering quince and camellias and a Japanese lady as an accessory.

During the program, Mrs. Vernon Whitlock gave points to remember and basic requirements for Japanese arrangements, demonstrating with the Seika style created of purple chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Max Kulcke gave an historical sketch and illustrated Nageire and Maribana styles, using flowering quince, camellias and aspidistra leaves.

Members attending were Mrs. J. M. Gilstrap, Mrs. E. L. Harrison, Mrs. J. V. Jones, Mrs. J. W. Keller, Mrs. Max Kulcke, Mrs. J. C. Loftin, Mrs. R. W. McPherson, Mrs. H. W. Mrs. Williams Cited By Women Voters

Mrs. Richard Williams, chairman of the Fund-Raising Committee for the Crossett League of Women Voters, has been cited by the State Board of the League for her outstanding fund - raising effort in Arkansas.

Other members of Mrs. Williams' committee are Mrs. John Carpenter Jr. and Mrs. Elbert Parrish. Notice was received by the Crossett League's president, Mrs. Robert Hudgens on Monday that Mrs. Williams' picture will be on a giant map at the National Convention in Philadelphia in April, called "The Fund-Raising Hall of Fame."

PROTECTION

Put rings and watches in your pocket instead of laying them on wash basin when you wash your hands.

LUXURY LAUNDRY

Many new "velvet look" robes are made of an all-nylon knit fabric called Islon. This luxury look is deceptive, since the fabric is as compatible with suds and washing machines as any housedress.

DEAR ABBY

Simmer Down—You're Magnifying Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man in his 50's who slips around to smoke? He started smoking when he was 15, and about four years ago he started having stomach trouble, so his doctor told him to quit smoking. He did, for about three years, then he started to slip around and sneak smokes. Can you imagine a man in his 50's thinking he is getting away with it? His breath and clothes smell of tobacco something fierce. And you should hear the excuses he uses to get out of the house for a smoke. Also, I find cigarettes hidden all over the house. It makes me think that if a man will slip around to smoke, maybe that's not all he's slipping around to do. Am I wrong?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Probably. Don't assume that because your husband has one bad habit he has them all. So far, you know only what you've learned from smoke signals.

DEAR ABBY: Should a 16-year-old girl who has been called "naive" feel complimented or insulted?

"NAIVE"

DEAR NAIVE: If she is truly naive, she should feel complimented.

DEAR ABBY: I am a born loser. I lost my husband to another woman. I lost my only child to my husband because the court decided that he could provide a more normal atmosphere for him. I fell in love with a married man who works closely with me. I have never been alone with him, nor do I intend to be. HINTS FROM HELOISE

Reader Passes On Hint For Drying Sweaters

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

When I wash my heavy sweaters in cold water soap, I roll them in a heavy bath towel (after rinsing), put them in my washing machine and turn it to spin-dry for a few minutes . . . leaving the sweater rolled in the bath towel.

The bath towel absorbs the excess water and removes much more water from the sweater than one can possibly squeeze out. This way they dry faster.

Just unroll the towel and you will be so pleased . . .

Dot

When I tried it, I found that if the sweater was rolled securely in the bath towel that the towel prevented "streaks" in the sweater when the spin dry cycle was used.

And thanks for the terrific hint.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Mothers of small tots can solve the problem of sticky fingers and hands by carrying a small, damp sponge in a plastic bag. This is not only easy to find but eliminates facial tissues and soiled hankies.

Mrs. Lawrence Beavers

Dear Heloise:

If you have limited storage space in your home and are head over heels with luggage. . .

Store out of season clothes, linens, blankets, etc. in your "not in use" luggage!

Include a sweet smelling sachet and your guilt feeling about shelf and closet space will fly away.

Dorothy Snyder

Dear Heloise:

For mothers who have tiny tots just beginning to use high chairs, and who have tried tying a diaper around the child's waist and tying them to the chair, and yet they still slide out . . . here is what we did:

I bought a pink rubber dish mat and cut a piece of it to fit in the seat of my child's high chair. Now he doesn't slide out under the tray. The rubber mat controls the "slide." Using a rubber mat is great in more ways than one:

Instead of washing the seat of the chair when it becomes dirty, all I do, now is remove the rubber mat and wash that.

With the leftover piece of rubber mat I lined the tray of the high chair. Now each night as I do my dishes, I just remove the rubber mats and wash them right along with my dishes.

Oh, how many hours a week this saves me washing that high chair.

Chris

Dear Heloise:

I have a grand solution for solving the everlasting problem of lint on dark clothes.

I took an old rolling pin I have in the house and put adhesive backed tape on the entire surface with the sticky side out. . .

I keep this on the top shelf of my closet and just roll it over my clothes and it removes all lint from them. I do this before I ever hang them up! It takes but a few seconds and removes large areas at once.

Replace the tape when necessary.

Mrs. Al Lenhard

Dear Heloise:

If you have glass rings on your furniture, caused by water, put some cigarette ashes on a wet rag and rub until the spot is gone. Works real good.

Mrs. B. Wickman

We mix cigarette and cigar ashes with vegetable oil and rub this in with our fingers very carefully until the ring is gone. Then polish as usual. Since I don't have a glass ring today I can't test your water method.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Reader Passes On Hint For Drying Sweaters

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

When I wash my heavy sweaters in cold water soap, I roll them in a heavy bath towel (after rinsing), put them in my washing machine and turn it to spin-dry for a few minutes . . . leaving the sweater rolled in the bath towel.

The bath towel absorbs the excess water and removes much more water from the sweater than one can possibly squeeze out. This way they dry faster.

Just unroll the towel and you will be so pleased . . .

Dot

When I tried it, I found that if the sweater was rolled securely in the bath towel that the towel prevented "streaks" in the sweater when the spin dry cycle was used.

And thanks for the terrific hint.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Mothers of small tots can solve the problem of sticky fingers and hands by carrying a small, damp sponge in a plastic bag. This is not only easy to find but eliminates facial tissues and soiled hankies.

Mrs. Lawrence Beavers

Dear Heloise:

If you have limited storage space in your home and are head over heels with luggage. . .

Store out of season clothes, linens, blankets, etc. in your "not in use" luggage!

Include a sweet smelling sachet and your guilt feeling about shelf and closet space will fly away.

Dorothy Snyder

Dear Heloise:

For mothers who have tiny tots just beginning to use high chairs, and who have tried tying a diaper around the child's waist and tying them to the chair, and yet they still slide out . . . here is what we did:

I bought a pink rubber dish mat and cut a piece of it to fit in the seat of my child's high chair. Now he doesn't slide out under the tray. The rubber mat controls the "slide." Using a rubber mat is great in more ways than one:

Instead of washing the seat of the chair when it becomes dirty, all I do, now is remove the rubber mat and wash that.

With the leftover piece of rubber mat I lined the tray of the high chair. Now each night as I do my dishes, I just remove the rubber mats and wash them right along with my dishes.

Oh, how many hours a week this saves me washing that high chair.

Chris

Dear Heloise:

I have a grand solution for solving the everlasting problem of lint on dark clothes.

I took an old rolling pin I have in the house and put adhesive backed tape on the entire surface with the sticky side out. . .

I keep this on the top shelf of my closet and just roll it over my clothes and it removes all lint from them. I do this before I ever hang them up! It takes but a few seconds and removes large areas at once.

Replace the tape when necessary.

Mrs. Al Lenhard

Dear Heloise:

If you have glass rings on your furniture, caused by water, put some cigarette ashes on a wet rag and rub until the spot is gone. Works real good.

Mrs. B. Wickman

We mix cigarette and cigar ashes with vegetable oil and rub this in with our fingers very carefully until the ring is gone. Then polish as usual. Since I don't have a glass ring today I can't test your water method.

AGC Dedication, Open House Set At New Building

Ribbon cutting ceremonies at 2 p.m. Sunday, followed by an open house until 5 p.m., will dedicate the new $70,000 headquarters building for the Northeast Louisiana Contractors Association of the Associated General Contractors.

The dedicatory address for the brick and ceramic tile structure at 807 Hudson Lane will be given by Lee Vanderpool, president of the Ouachita National Bank. Charles Keller, of New Orleans, president of the National AGC, will be one of the featured speakers while his wife will cut the ribbon, officially opening the building.

The building will serve AGC contractors from the 14-parish northeast Louisiana area. Local officials of the Northeast AGC Chapter slated to participate in ceremonies include Rannie Terral, Farmerville, president, Bobby Rodgers, Bastrop, vice president, and A. C. Breckenridge Jr., Monroe, secretary-treasurer.

A highlight of the event will be presentation of a $2500 five-year scholarship to a Louisiana Tech student. The scholarship is for studies leading to two degrees, in business administration and civil engineering. The Construction Industry Advancement Program is sponsoring the scholarship.

General contractors, association members and all persons connected in any way with the construction industry are invited to the event.

Terral will serve as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Wayne Gray will give the invocation.

The Monroe Chapter of the American Institute of Architects drew the plans for the building, constructed under a contract with Breck Construction Co.

"Generous contributions by subcontractors and the general contractor members of the Association have made the building possible," Terral commented.

Beyond the kitchen - coffee shop area is a large meeting room that will seat approximately 150 persons. It is available to any organization within the scope of the construction industry free of charge.

CLASSES

Classes for future schools will be conducted there, to improve knowledge of general contractors, journeymen and apprentices.

The plan room will be utilized by sub-contractors to make estimates on building plans to be furnished the AGC by local architects.

Walls are brick and mapleton ash paneling. Ceilings are mineral board, and the structure has a poured roof deck with built-up roof.

Terral is chairman of the building committee, composed of J. E. Baugh, J. Hilton Heard and A. C. Breckenridge Jr.

there being enough trouble in the world that he should make more, and that he was a burden on his brothers and sister."

However, Ruby appeared composed when the afternoon session started.

During the day, trial Judge Joe B. Brown's son, Joe, Jr., a justice of the peace, said he received a bomb threat, telephoned to his subcourthouse office about two miles from the downtown courthouse where the Ruby trial is being held. He quoted a clerk who reported a male voice as saying:

"I think I should tell you that a bomb is in the courthouse."

Asked if the call might have been intended for his father, young Brown replied, "I suspected this was the case."

Police were notified. They found no bomb in either building.

McCoy testified under defense questioning that while he was not against imposing the death sentence on a convicted criminal, it would be "a hard decision to make."

Asked under defense questioning if he would be willing to be judged by a juror with his identical frame of mind, McCoy replied, "I don't think I'd have a better chance unless he was loaded in my favor."

That apparently satisfied the defense and it announced its acceptance of McCoy without even giving the state its usual priority in the matter. However, Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade quickly concurred in the selection.

The judge's threat to cite for contempt of court came during the morning session.

Defense attorney Joe Tonahill was questioning jury candidate Herbert Goellner, a building maintenance supervisor. Judge Joe B. Brown warned him against shouting and against repeating questions that had been ruled out of order.

Finally, the judge told him: "Mr. Tonahill, I don't want to have to hold you in contempt."

Earlier, Tonahill had insisted over state objections that Goellner held definite opinions in the case that disqualified him as a juror.

When Judge Brown disagreed, Tonahill declared: "I move that we bring in a polygraph—lie detector—and test this witness and see if he is capable of laying aside his opinions."

Judge Brown denied the motion and eventually the defense was forced to use one of its dwindling supply of peremptory challenges to get rid of Goellner.

Ruby, operator of a Dallas strip joint, is on trial for his life. He stepped from a crowd in the basement of the Dallas police headquarters to shoot down Oswald 48 hours after President Kennedy's assassination.

The defense is pleading temporary insanity and is seeking to have the trial transferred from Dallas, charging bias here against the defendant. In line with this argument, Melvin M. Belli, chief defense attorney, has made much of the fact that most of the jury prospects saw the Oswald shooting on television.

Several times this week, the defense has sought to bar as jury candidates anyone who saw the shooting on television by having them classed as defense witnesses. This would make them ineligible to serve as jurors.

Friday, Tonahill tried to have a defense witness subpoena served on Causey, the first juror.

Belli told Judge Brown during argument on the matter: "If you take us out of Dallas, the further out of Dallas we get the fewer people will have seen it on television."

Brown dismissed the subpoena which would have knocked Causey off the jury.

Again it was Tonahill, 6 feet 4 and 245 pounds, who proved the chief thorn in the state's side.

During the heated questioning of Goellner, he shouted at one point: "Now if the district attorney thinks that Dallas County has got to kill Jack Ruby..."

Asst. Dist. Atty. A. D. Jim Bowie, a handsome dark-haired man and Tonahill's chief adversary, interrupted with an objection, but the defense lawyer cried: "There's more desperation in the district attorney's mind than is conceivable."

"I don't want you to raise your voices," Judge Brown said. "I don't want you shouting each other down. We're only five feet apart."

"Your Honor," replied Tonahill, "I most abjectly apologize for raising my voice and I won't do it again. I spent 30 months in the Navy serving my country..."

Bowie, with an air of quiet desperation, offered another objection that blocked Tonahill from further discourse.

Goellner's dismissal occurred after the defense used another of its peremptory challenges to eliminate Bill Bohannan, 38, a salesman who first took the witness stand late Thursday.

The state also exercised a peremptory challenge — without being required to give any reason — on James C. Bland, a store manager for an appliance company. He said acquaintances of his were so aroused by the death of President Kennedy that they might have been capable of doing just what Ruby did—shooting Oswald, who was charged with the assassination.

policymaking body for 13.5 million union members, said there is no other alternative than a shorter work week to spread employment.

Meany said the AFL-CIO will keep up its pressure to reduce the federal standard 40-hour week.

"Poverty comes from lack of income and lack of income comes from lack of jobs," Meany said. "This brings us right back to the same thing we have been talking about."

Meany also said the discussion with Wirtz "didn't indicate we are in agreement on wage policy."

Wirtz, asked to comment on Meany's earlier statement, that labor would not be stymied by administration wage guidelines, said, "I'm not convinced that there is any basic difference" between labor and the administration.

On another matter, Meany said Wirtz promised to look into the Executive Council's charge that Pennsylvania state employes who are paid with federal funds are being used by Gov. William W. Scranton "to emasculate the unemployment insurance system."

The council's resolution on the 35-hour work week said it would create 2.5 million jobs and would cost no more than an average wage increase. It suggested the cut could be made over several years.

Wirtz said a shorter work week in many cases might increase unemployment by boosting prices too high.

"We just don't agree with that," said Meany.

The labor leaders also criticized the administration's proposal to increase overtime payments in certain industries after a study by labor, management and government committees.

"Straight across-the-board action is the answer to this problem," the council said in urging the federal law requiring double pay for overtime.

The council said its proposal is aimed at discouraging overtime and putting more people to work.

In another resolution, the council called for a full-scale congressional investigation of automation and its impact on unemployment.

"For at least a dseeade, the government has encouraged and subsidized the spread of automation. Billions of taxpayers' dollars have been spent to promote the technological revolution," the council said.

"But there has been little corresponding concern for the disruptive and dislocating effects of automation on workers and their communities."

LBJ Warns Red Chinese On Viet Nam

now, it has been strained in the past.

Each spoke, too, of hopes for strengthening the peace.

And while Johnson was at it, he stuck in a jab at Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Republican presidential hopeful, by declaring that: "We have dealt with the latest challenge and provocation from Havana, without sending the Marines to turn on a water faucet."

This drew laughter and applause, and Johnson continued: "We believe it far wiser to send an admiral to cut the pipe than to send Marines to turn on the faucet. We are making the base more secure than ever before."

The Castro government cut off the water supply for the base in retaliation for the arrest of Cuban fishermen accused of poaching in Florida territorial waters.

A few hours after the water cutoff Feb. 6, Goldwater said in a New Hampshire speech that Castro should be told to turn it back on at once or "we will march out with a detachment of Marines and turn it on ourselves."

In a radio-television interview on Feb. 9, Goldwater said, "I still think he—Johnson—should have told Castro to turn the water back on" or "just send out a detachment of Marines from Guantanamo and turn it on and keep it on."

Goldwater added his belief that if this were done "it might lead to some shooting in Cuba. That's all."

Later, the U.S. government declared it would furnish its own water for the base and would not use any water from the Cuban source, even during the daily one-hour grace period offered by the Castro government. The admiral in charge of the base then cut the water line leading from Cuba into the naval base.

As for South Viet Nam, Johnson said that terror and violence directed and supplied by outside enemies threatened people who seek only to be left in peace. Again, Johnson said, the United States will continue to honor its 10-year-old commitment to "the support of their freedom." This passage drew prolonged applause.

He put no time limit on this. There have been some rumblings about the possibility that the United States may retrench on help for South Viet Nam.

With Communist China obviously in mind, Johnson said, with heavy emphasis on the phrase, that "those engaged in external direction and supply would do well to be reminded to remember that this type of aggression is a deeply dangerous game."

Then toward the end of his adress the President provided these assurances:

"We seek a growing partnership with all our friends, and we will never retreat from our obligations to any ally.

"Nor will we ever be intimidated by any state anywhere in the world that chooses to make itself our adversary.

"There is no panic on our agenda."

"We are interested in the deeds of our adversaries, not their creeds. Let them offer deeds of peace and our own response will be swift.

"So let us go forward with undaunted purpose to the healing of the nations."

Lopez Mateos, also wearing academic cap and gown, told the audience that "knowledge and freedom cannot be kept apart."

He said, "We have a right to demand from students and professors of universities in the world to be jealous guardians of the humane utilization of science, active agents of international concord and vigiliant consciences of the preservation of universal peace.

"The most efficient manner of reaching the high goal of a university and of forging a common heritage out of the knowledge, the genius and imagination of the wise men of the world is to abolish cold war, wipe out the origin of international tension, and to increase understanding among peoples and governments."

The two chief executives received honorary doctor of law degrees.

PUBLISHES MEMOIRS

Soviet Recounts Berlin War Fall

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Marshal Vassily I. Chuikov began publishing his recollections Friday on the fall of Berlin. They confirmed—but from a Soviet point of view—memoirs published earlier by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Chuikov reaffirmed what he told British and American visitors last May: that he had found Hitler's charred remains wrapped in a rug. His earlier remark that he had the body identified by Hitler's dentist did not appear in the serialized version of the memoirs which began publication in Literary Russia on Friday.

The marshal, who led the final assault on Berlin, shed little new light on what happened in the final holocaust of the doomed Nazi capital.

He cast doubt, however, on an official statement issued by the Soviet, British, American and French Control Commission in November 1945 that "Hitler and Eva Braun died shortly after 2:30 p.m. on April 30, 1945, in a bunker of the Chancellery, their bodies being burned just outside the bunker."

Chuikov, who entered the bunker with the 8th Red Guards Army on May 2, said they saw "the carpets still smoking and the charred corpse of Hitler in it.

"Isn't it strange," Chuikov asked, "that the burning of the body took two days?"

Soviet official records and Allied testimony showed that Chuikov met at his headquarters with Hitler's aide, Gen. Hans Kreb, on May 1 and was informed of the Fuehrer's suicide at that time. Chuikov did not mention this.

No trace of Hitler's body ever has turned up, although the newspaper Kazakhstanskaya Pravda published a picture June 5, 1960, which it claimed was of the corpse. When reproductions caused a sensation in the West, Soviet officials in Moscow downgraded it—but did not officially disavow it.

There seemed little significance in the timing of the publication of Chuikov's memoirs. He told American author Cornelius Ryan last year they would be serialized and then published in book form to coincide with the 20th anniversary of the fall of Berlin in May 1965.

The marshal speculated that the date of death was advanced in order to give high Nazis like Marshal Heremann Goering and Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler time to negotiate a separate peace with the Western powers.

The fact that Himmler, at least, did, is well documented by published correspondence of Churchill, former President Harry S. Truman and Soviet Premier Stalin. Chuikov adds nothing new except to cast further Russian suspicions on the motives of the Western Allies.

However, Himmler's move—made through Count Bernadotte of Sweden and transmitted through the British and American ministries in Stockholm — was received, rejected and the whole story communicated to Stalin before April 29. By that date Himmler was immobilized and Goering a prisoner of fanatic SS troops at Berchtesgaden.

Nevertheless, "I am sure," wrote Chuikov, "that hoping for a split between the Allies, (Martin) Bormann and (Paul Joseph) Goebbels, probably with Hitler's agreement, announced his death on April 29 and fixed this version with his will."

No trace of Bormann ever has been found, but Goebbels is believed to have committed suicide in the bunker.

'Beatle Look'

As the British singing group called the Beatles becomes more popular, their particular style of hairdo keeps appearing on local heads.

The latest person to adopt this "fashionable" coiffure is Mrs. Laura Roberts of the Monroe police department.

The inside story, she said, is that she got a haircut on her lunch hour recently and had to return to work with slightly damp locks, resulting in the "Beatle look."

Since so many of the city hall personnel seemed to enjoy teasing her about her new hair style, she just decided to keep wearing it that way.

French Students Shout Protests On Segni Visit

PARIS (UPI) — Hundreds of Fench students, egged on by hot-headed leftists, battled police Friday when Italian President Antonio Segni visited the Sorbonne with French Education Minister Christian Fouchet.

The demonstration was directed against Fouchet in protest over what the students feel is government neglect of French university facilities.

Gendarmes, swinging tightly-rolled lead-weighted capes, beat back the students and placed some in police wagons. There were no reports of casualties, but witnesses said several students and police were shaken up.

AGC Dedication, Open House Set At New Building

Ribbon cutting ceremonies at 2 p.m. Sunday, followed by an open house until 5 p.m., will dedicate the new $70,000 headquarters building for the Northeast Louisiana Contractors Association of the Associated General Contractors.

The dedicatory address for the brick and ceramic tile structure at 807 Hudson Lane will be given by Lee Vanderpool, president of the Ouachita National Bank. Charles Keller, of New Orleans, president of the National AGC, will be one of the featured speakers while his wife will cut the ribbon, officially opening the building.

The building will serve AGC contractors from the 14-parish northeast Louisiana area. Local officials of the Northeast AGC Chapter slated to participate in ceremonies include Rannie Terral, Farmerville, president; Bobby Rodgers, Bastrop, vice president; and A. C. Breckenridge Jr., Monroe, secretary-treasurer.

A highlight of the event will be presentation of a $2500 five-year scholarship to a Louisiana Tech student. The scholarship is for studies leading to two degrees, in business administration and civil engineering. The Construction Industry Advancement Program is sponsoring the scholarship.

General contractors, association members and all persons connected in any way with the construction industry are invited to the event.

Terral will serve as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Wayne Gray will give the invocation.

The Monroe Chapter of the American Institute of Architects drew the plans for the building, constructed under a contract with Breck Construction Co.

"Generous contributions by subcontractors and the general contractor members of the Association have made the building possible," Terral commented.

Beyond the kitchen - coffee shop area is a large meeting room that will seat approximately 150 persons. It is available to any organization within the scope of the construction industry free of charge.

CLASSES

Classes for future schools will be conducted there, to improve knowledge of general contractors, journeymen and apprentices.

The plan room will be utilized by sub-contractors to make estimates on building plans to be furnished the AGC by local architects.

Walls are brick and mapleton ash paneling. Ceilings are mineral board, and the structure has a poured roof deck with built-up roof.

Labor Hits Wirtz About Work Week

policymaking body for 13.5 million union members, said there is no other alternative than a shorter work week to spread employment.

Meany said the AFL-CIO will keep up its pressure to reduce the federal standard 40-hour week.

"Poverty comes from lack of income and lack of income comes from lack of jobs," Meany said. "This brings us right back to the same thing we have been talking about."

Meany also said the discussion with Wirtz "didn't indicate we are in agreement on wage policy."

Wirtz, asked to comment on Meany's earlier statement, that labor would not be stymied by administration wage guidelines, said, "I'm not convinced that there is any basic difference" between labor and the administration.

On another matter, Meany said Wirtz promised to look into the Executive Council's charge that Pennsylvania state employes who are paid with federal funds are being used by Gov. William W. Scranton "to emasculate the unemployment insurance system."

The council's resolution on the 35-hour work week said it would create 2.5 million jobs and would cost no more than an average wage increase. It suggested the cut could be made over several years.

Wirtz said a shorter work week in many cases might increase unemployment by boosting prices too high.

there being enough trouble in the world that he should make more, and that he was a burden on his brothers and sister."

However, Ruby appeared composed when the afternoon session started.

During the day, trial Judge Joe B. Brown's son, Joe, Jr., a justice of the peace, said he received a bomb threat, telephoned to his subcourthouse office about two miles from the downtown courthouse where the Ruby trial is being held. He quoted a clerk who reported a male voice as saying:

"I think I should tell you that a bomb is in the courthouse."

Asked if the call might have been intended for his father, young Brown replied, "I suspected this was the case."

McCoy testified under defense questioning that while he was not against imposing the death sentence on a convicted criminal, it would be "a hard decision to make."

Asked under defense questioning if he would be willing to be judged by a juror with his identical frame of mind, McCoy replied, "I don't think I'd have a better chance unless he was loaded in my favor."

That apparently satisfied the defense and it announced its acceptance of McCoy without even giving the state its usual priority in the matter. However, Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade quickly concurred in the selection.

The judge's threat to cite for contempt of court came during the morning session.

Defense attorney Joe Tonahill was questioning jury candidate Herbert Goellner, a building maintenance supervisor. Judge Joe B. Brown warned him against shouting and against repeating questions that had been ruled out of order.

Finally, the judge told him: "Mr. Tonahill, I don't want to have to hold you in contempt."

Earlier, Tonahill had insisted over state objections that Goellner held definite opinions in the case that disqualified him as a juror.

When Judge Brown disagreed, Tonahill declared: "I move that we bring in a polygraph—lie detector—and test this witness and see if he is capable of laying aside his opinions."

Judge Brown denied the motion and eventually the defense was forced to use one of its dwindling supply of peremptory challenges to get rid of Goellner.

Ruby, operator of a Dallas strip joint, is on trial for his life. He stepped from a crowd in the basement of the Dallas police headquarters to shoot down Oswald 48 hours after President Kennedy's assassination.

The defense is pleading temporary insanity and is seeking to have the trial transferred from Dallas, charging bias here against the defendant. In line with this argument, Melvin M. Belli, chief defense attorney, has made much of the fact that most of the jury prospects saw the Oswald shooting on television.

Several times this week, the defense has sought to bar as jury candidates anyone who saw the shooting on television by having them classed as defense witnesses. This would make them ineligible to serve as jurors.

Belli told Judge Brown during argument on the matter: "If you take us out of Dallas, the further out of Dallas we get the fewer people will have seen it on television."

Brown dismissed the subpoena which would have knocked Causey off the jury.

Again it was Tonahill, 6 feet 4 and 245 pounds, who proved the chief thorn in the state's side.

During the heated questioning of Goellner, he shouted at one point: "Now if the district attorney thinks that Dallas County has got to kill Jack Ruby. . ."

Asst. Dist. Atty. A. D. Jim Bowie, a handsome dark-haired man and Tonahill's chief adversary, interrupted with an objection, but the defense lawyer cried: "There's more desperation in the district attorney's mind than is conceivable."

"I don't want you to raise your voices," Judge Brown said. "I don't want you shouting each other down. We're only five feet apart."

"Your Honor," replied Tonahill, "I most abjectly apologize for raising my voice and I won't do it again. I spent 30 months in the Navy serving my country. . ."

Bowie, with an air of quiet desperation, offered another objection that blocked Tonahill from further discourse.

Goellner's dismissal occurred after the defense used another of its peremptory challenges to eliminate Bill Bohannan, 38, a salesman who first took the witness stand late Thursday.

The state also exercised a peremptory challenge — without being required to give any reason — on James C. Bland, a store manager for an appliance company. He said acquaintances of his were so aroused by the death of President Kennedy that they might have been capable of doing just what Ruby did —shooting Oswald, who was charged with the assassination.

PUBLISHES MEMOIRS

Soviet Recounts Berlin War Fall

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Marshal Vassily I. Chuikov began publishing his recollections Friday on the fall of Berlin. They confirmed—but from a Soviet point of view—memoirs published earlier by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Chuikov reaffirmed what he told British and American visitors last May: that he had found Hitler's charred remains wrapped in a rug. His earlier remark that he had the body identified by Hitler's dentist did not appear in the serialized version of the memoirs which began publication in Literary Russia on Friday.

The marshal, who led the final assault on Berlin, shed little new light on what happened in the final holocaust of the doomed Nazi capital.

He cast doubt, however, on an official statement issued by the Soviet, British, American and French Control Commission in November 1945 that "Hitler and Eva Braun died shortly after 2:30 p.m. on April 30, 1945, in a bunker of the Chancellery, their bodies being burned just outside the bunker."

Chuikov, who entered the bunker with the 8th Red Guards Army on May 2, said they saw "the carpets still smoking and the charred corpse of Hitler in it.

"Isn't it strange," Chuikov asked, "that the burning of the body took two days?"

Soviet official records and Allied testimony showed that Chuikov met at his headquarters with Hitler's aide, Gen. Hans Kreb, on May 1 and was informed of the Fuehrer's suicide at that time. Chuikov did not mention this.

No trace of Hitler's body ever has turned up, although the newspaper Kazakhstanskaya Pravda published a picture June 5, 1960, which it claimed was of the corpse. When reproductions caused a sensation in the West, Soviet officials in Moscow downgraded it—but did not officially disavow it.

There seemed little significance in the timing of the publication of Chuikov's memoirs. He told American author Cornelius Ryan last year they would be serialized and then published in book form to coincide with the 20th anniversary of the fall of Berlin in May 1965.

The marshal speculated that the date of death was advanced in order to give high Nazis like Marshal Heremann Goering and Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler time to negotiate a separate peace with the Western powers.

The fact that Himmler, at least, did, is well documented by published correspondence of Churchill, former President Harry S. Truman and Soviet Premier Stalin. Chuikov adds nothing new except to cast further Russian suspicions on the motives of the Western Allies.

However, Himmler's move—made through Count Bernadotte of Sweden and transmitted through the British and American ministries in Stockholm — was received, rejected and the whole story communicated to Stalin before April 29. By that date Himmler was immobilized and Goering a prisoner of fanatic SS troops at Berchtesgaden.

Nevertheless, "I am sure," wrote Chuikov, "that hoping for a split between the Allies. (Martin) Bormann and (Paul Joseph) Goebbels, probably with Hitler's agreement, announced his death on April 29 and fixed this version with his will."

No trace of Bormann ever has been found, but Goebbels is believed to have committed suicide in the bunker.

'Beatle Look'

As the British singing group called the Beatles becomes more popular, their particular style of hairdo keeps appearing on local heads.

The latest person to adopt this "fashionable" coiffure is Mrs. Laura Roberts of the Monroe police department.

The inside story, she said, is that she got a haircut on her lunch hour recently and had to return to work with slightly damp locks, resulting in the "Beatle look."

Since so many of the city hall personnel seemed to enjoy teasing her about her new hair style, she just decided to keep wearing it that way.

French Students Shout Protests On Segni Visit

PARIS (UPI) — Hundreds of Fench students, egged on by hot-headed leftists, battled police Friday when Italian President Antonio Segni visited the Sorbonne with French Education Minister Christian Fouchet.

Gendarmes, swinging tightly-rolled lead-weighted capes, beat back the students and placed some in police wagons. There were no reports of casualties, but witnesses said several students and police were shaken up.

Class C Regional Winds Up Today

By DICK WRIGHT
World Sports Writer

Four semifinal games in the morning and afternoon set up championship matches in the Class C regional playoffs today at Brown Gymnasium at Northeast State College.

The girls final is at 7 p.m. and the boys decider is at 8:30.

Weston and Enterprise start the day at 10 a.m. and Summerfield and Ogden follow at 11:30 both in the girls division.

At 1 p.m., district champions Lisbon and Marion clash in the first boys semifinal followed by Athens and Monterey at 2:30.

FRIDAY'S ACTION

Friday's girls action was marked by two routs and two heart-breakers.

Eight-C champion Enterprise lost no time in ousting Central of Delhi, 54-38, the day's opener and in the night's opener, Weston crushed Athens, 70-23.

In the second afternoon contest, Ogden and Marion battled through two overtimes before 8-C runnerup Ogden survived, 42-40, over the 7-C champions.

Summerfield, winner in District 5-C, escaped defeat at the last second as the sextet squeaked by Georgetown, 51-50.

How much better matched could two teams be than the contenders which lead off boys action today?

Lisbon and Marion are district champions, have 34-5 records and are coached by a couple of mentors who don't see too many trophies go to other hands.

Coach Glen Post's Marion Panthers chalked up their fourth consecutive district title this year in 8-C and defeated Ogden, 79-69, in the first round of the regional Thursday.

Lisbon didn't get a chance to show its point power when a stubborn Eros quintet held the scoring down, allowing the 5-C champs only a 28-24 victory.

Larry Saulters is the man who usually powers the Eagles but he scored only nine in the unusual contest with Eros. However, he can be expected to tear up the nets today. Behind Saulters' talent at the goal is Ronnie Suggs' talent on defense. He was a big reason the Eagles could get the ball as much as they did Thursday with his quick rebounding.

In the other boys semifinal today, 8-C champion Monterey meets 7-C runnerup Athens, which was barely edged out for the league title by Lisbon.

Monterey had the easiest first round victory Thursday when Chris Rhodes, a 1963 all-stater, let loose with 26 points in sealing a 75-35 win over Mer Rouge.

But Rhodes, who doubtlessly is the most famous of the Wolves, is only one of a trio that can give opponents nightmares. Homer Morace and Gene Tiffee stand high and score high. Tiffee dropped in 19 points and Morace turned in a notable defensive performance.

The Athenian Trojans may have that Achilles heel but after their 68-58 charge on Weston, it will be hard to find.

Only one of the five starters missed scoring in double figures, and he, Mike Edwards, made seven. Leading the Trojans Thursday was Walter Hayes with 21 points followed by Jimmy Buchner and Murray Greer with 14 each and Terry Baker with 12.

ENTERPRISE WINS QUICKLY

By the end of the opening stanza, the score was 20-7 for Enterprise and by halftime the game was out of reach of Central.

Nell Hammons, however, was the high scorer in the game with 24 points for Central. Teammate Donna McMurry helped out with 11 but the team that has been hampered all year by sickness could be no match for the opposing trio.

OGDEN BY A BREATH

A hot battle of neck and neck scoring erupted in the Marion-Ogden game and it took two overtimes before Ogden finally succeeded in surviving the 7-C champions.

The 8-C runnerups led by two points after one period but Marion evened the count by halftime 14-14. Ogden again took the lead during the third quarter only to see it disapper by the end of regulation play.

With the score at 34-34, the sextets used up the first two-minute added time knotted again, 38-38. In the second overtime, Ogden jumped off with a 40-38 lead but Marion retaliated with two points and with the clock running short, Marion missed on field goal tries, Ogden grabbed up the ball raced for the crucial points.

Alona Binford of Marion, known in every North Louisiana cage circle, poured in 21 points for a game high and Karen Binford had 15.

Joy Simon was formidable with 19 points for Ogden and the two other forwards proved themselves top players. Pat Pace turned in 13 points and Carol Thompson picked up 10.

WESTON SWEEPS

Yvonne Willis scored 24 points and Anne Hurst popped in 21 to rout the Athens six in short order in the first night game Friday.

After rolling up a 23-8 lead in the first quarter, the winners cruised on for a semifinal berth today. Lynda Avery scored 12 to complete the startings forwards' success.

Edwards was the only Athens lass to make much headway with the baskets as she tallied 13 points.

Weston won the 6-C championship while Athens took the second place in 5-C. In the boys round Thursday, the situation was reversed. Athens ousted the Weston boys.

SUMMERFIELD BARELY

The petite Georgetown fighter scored 42 points on layups and long throws but a Summerfield pair, Sandra Bishop and Mary Cullins, combined an accuracy that won.

Georgetown entered the tournament as the only team with a losing record but the hustling sextet turned out to be one of most spirited teams around. They finished the first quarter one point behind, 8-7, and led at the halftime, 21-18.

Going into the last quarter with a two point edge, 37-35, Summerfield saw the count evened, then upped it by two but couldn't hold on to the margin.

Toward the closing minutes, it looked as if Summerfield might pull out for a better edge but little Miss Connie cut short any hopes. She battled hard but couldn't make it in time to beat the buzzer.

Green Paces Girls Victory

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Sensational Jonnie Green scored 57 points to pace Lake Providence to a 70-60 girls regional playoff win over AIC of Opelousas here Friday night. Denise Lazaro had 30 for the losers.

The win upped the defending state champions' record to 24-3 for the season and puts them in the Sweet Sixteen playoff in Alexandria.

USL Clinches 1st Place GSC Tie

LAFAYETTE (Special) — A new "Church" turned the University of Southwestern Louisiana from a bridesmaid to a bride before 4,200 fans here Friday night when senior Dean Church, who did not play last year, turned in his greatest college performance to insure the Bulldogs of at least a tie for their first Gulf States Conference basketball championship with an 81-75 victory over Louisiana Tech.

Church, the Bulldogs Little All-America candidate, hit 11 of 15 field goal attempts and 11 of eight charity tosses to score 30 points and easily take game point honors. The effort moved him ahead of McNeese State's through the first 26 minutes of play with Tech holding a 40-39 halftime edge.

With 13:42 left in the contest a 3-23 rebounding edge.

The game was nip and tuck

Clyde Briley in the GSC scoring race. Church has 206 points in loop play.

Southwestern has now finished its GSC schedule with a 7-3 record and is assured of at least a tie. Tech, now 5-3 in the league, must win its last two remaining league games to tie.

USL, which has never won a league basketball championship in the 16 year history of the loop, is 13-9 for the season, while Tech is 10-10.

The hot-shooting Southwestern team hit a cool 59.3 per cent of its shots from the floor, making 32 of 54 field goal attempts. Tech managed only 23 of 47 for 49.0 per cent, but stayed in the game by sinking 29 of 32 foul shots. USL hit 20 of 25. Tech also had USL's Sam Thomas sank a layup to put the Bulldogs in front 54-53. Church then scored nine points in the next three minutes for a 63-58 advantage with 10:50 to go and Southwestern was never headed after that.

In the next four minutes Church and sophomore Earnest Lancon sparked the Bulldogs to a 14-point lead, 71-65 and the closest Tech could come was nine points in the final score.

USL had three other players in double figures. Bob Cutrer scored 17, Lancon had 12 and Ray Jarboe 10.

Joe Abendroth, who has been Tech's big gun in recent games, hit two of eight field goals and was held to seven points. Senior Dave Hruska hit three of three from the floor and soph Joey Barron had four of three.

Lisbon didn't get a chance to show its point power when a stubborn Eros quintet held the scoring down, allowing the 5-C champs only a 28-24 victory.

Larry Saulters is the man who usually powers the Eagles but he scored only nine in the unusual contest with Eros. However, he can be expected to tear up the nets today. Behind Saulters' talent at the goal is Ronnie Suggs' talent on defense. He was a big reason the Eagles could get the ball as much as they did Thursday with his quick rebounding.

In the other boys semifinal today, 8-C champion Monterey meets 7-C runnerup Athens, which was barely edged out for the league title by Lisbon.

Monterey had the easiest first round victory Thursday when Chris Rhodes, a 1963 all-stater, let loose with 26 points in sealing a 75-35 win over Mer Rouge.

But Rhodes, who doubtlessly is the most famous of the Wolves, is only one of a trio that can give opponents nightmares. Homer Morace and Gene Tiffee stand high and score high. Tiffee dropped in 19 points and Morace turned in a notable defensive performance.

The Athenian Trojans may have that Achilles heel but after their 68-58 charge on Weston, it will be hard to find.

Only one of the five starters missed scoring in double figures, and he, Mike Edwards, made seven. Leading the Trojans Thursday was Walter Hayes with 21 points followed by Jimmy Buchner and Murray Greer with 14 each and Terry Baker with 12.

ENTERPRISE WINS QUICKLY

By the end of the opening stanza, the score was 20-7 for Enterprise and by halftime the game was out of reach of Central.

Nell Hammons, however, was the high scorer in the game with 24 points for Central. Teammate Donna McMurry helped out with 11 but the team that has been hampered all year by sickness could be no match for the opposing trio.

OGDEN BY A BREATH

A hot battle of neck and neck scoring erupted in the Marion-Ogden game and it took two overtimes before Ogden finally succeeded in surviving the 7-C champions.

The 8-C runnerups led by two points after one period but Marion evened the count by halftime 14-14. Ogden again took the lead during the third quarter only to see it disapper by the end of regulation play.

With the score at 34-34, the sextets used up the first two-minute added time knotted again, 38-38. In the second overtime, Ogden jumped off with a 40-38 lead but Marion retaliated with two points and with the clock running short, Marion missed on field goal tries, Ogden grabbed up the ball raced for the crucial points.

Alona Binford of Marion, known in every North Louisiana cage circle, poured in 21 points for a game high and Karen Binford had 15.

Joy Simon was formidable with 19 points for Ogden and the two other forwards proved themselves top players. Pat Pace turned in 13 points and Carol Thompson picked up 10.

WESTON SWEEPS

Yvonne Willis scored 24 points and Anne Hurst popped in 21 to rout the Athens six in short order in the first night game Friday.

After rolling up a 23-8 lead in the first quarter, the winners cruised on for a semifinal berth today. Lynda Avery scored 12 to complete the startings forwards' success.

Edwards was the only Athens lass to make much headway with the baskets as she tallied 13 points.

Weston won the 6-C championship while Athens took the second place in 5-C. In the boys round Thursday, the situation was reversed. Athens ousted the Weston boys.

SUMMERFIELD BARELY

The petite Georgetown fighter scored 42 points on layups and long throws but a Summerfield pair, Sandra Bishop and Mary Cullins, combined an accuracy that won.

Sandra tallied 18 points and Mary poured in 25.

Georgetown entered the tournament as the only team with a losing record but the hustling sextet turned out to be one of most spirited teams around. They finished the first quarter one point behind, 8-7, and led at the halftime, 21-18.

Going into the last quarter with a two point edge, 37-35, Summerfield saw the count evened, then upped it by two but couldn't hold on to the margin.

Toward the closing minutes, it looked as if Summerfield might pull out for a better edge but little Miss Connie cut short any hopes. She battled hard but couldn't make it in time to beat the buzzer.

The win upped the defending state champions' record to 24-3 for the season and puts them in the Sweet Sixteen playoff in Alexandria.

USL Clinches 1st Place GSC Tie

LAFAYETTE (Special) — A new "Church" turned the University of Southwestern Louisiana from a bridesmaid to a bride before 4,200 fans here Friday night when senior Dean Church, who did not play last year, turned in his greatest college performance to insure the Bulldogs of at least a tie for their first Gulf States Conference basketball championship with an 81-75 victory over Louisiana Tech.

Church, the Bulldogs Little All-America candidate, hit 11 of 15 field goal attempts and 11 of eight charity tosses to score 30 points and easily take game point honors. The effort moved him ahead of McNeese State's Clyde Briley in the GSC scoring race. Church has 206 points in loop play.

Southwestern has now finished its GSC schedule with a 7-3 record and is assured of at least a tie. Tech, now 5-3 in the league, must win its last two remaining league games to tie.

USL, which has never won a league basketball championship in the 16 year history of the loop, is 13-9 for the season, while Tech is 10-10.

The hot-shooting Southwestern team hit a cool 59.3 per cent of its shots from the floor, making 32 of 54 field goal attempts. Tech managed only 23 of 47 for 49.0 per cent, but stayed in the game by sinking 29 of 32 foul shots. USL hit 20 of 25. Tech also had a 3-23 rebounding edge.

The game was nip and tuck through the first 26 minutes of play with Tech holding a 40-39 halftime edge.

With 13:42 left in the contest USL's Sam Thomas sank a layup to put the Bulldogs in front 54-53. Church then scored nine points in the next three minutes for a 63-58 advantage with 10:50 to go and Southwestern was never headed after that.

In the next four minutes Church and sophomore Earnest Lancon sparked the Bulldogs to a 14-point lead, 71-65 and the closest Tech could come was nine points in the final score.

USL had three other players in double figures. Bob Cutrer scored 17, Lancon had 12 and Ray Jarboe 10.

Joe Abendroth, who has been Tech's big gun in recent games, hit two of eight field goals and was held to seven points. Senior Dave Hruska hit three of three from the floor and soph Joey Barron had four of three.

Sullivan Award Lunch Sunday

Inaugurated in 1930 when Robert T. Jones Jr. was honored after scoring his grand slam in American and British amateur and open Golf, the Sullivan award is presented each year to the "amateur athlete who by performance, example and good influence did the most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship."

The selection is based on the balloting of over 500 amateur sportsmen past recipients of the award and the nation's leading sportswriter and sportscasters.

During 1963 Pennel set an American record of 17 feet ¾ inches on August 24 at Miami. His recognized world mark is 16 feet 10 inches set at London, Aug. 5.

During the National AAU Indoor Championships today Pennel will be presented the I. di Benedetto Award for his selection by the AAU track and field committee for the track and field athlete with the outstanding single best performance during the year. The committee accorded Pennel the honor for his 17¾ pole vault at Miami.

Six years ago, Pennel was the AAU Junior Olympics pole vault champion in the senior boys division. His winning vault, an AAU Junior Olympics Record, was 13.5. At Coral Gables high school his best performance had been 13.7.

Barbara White Wins To Enter Tourney Finals

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Defending champion Mrs. Paul Dye of Indianapolis and Barbara Fay White of Shreveport, La. advanced Friday to the finals of the Florida East Coast Women's Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Dye defeated Julia Hull of Anderson, Ind., 1 up on 19 holes in one semifinals. Miss White defeated Gloria Ehert of Allentown, Pa., 3 and 2, in the other.

BAYOU DESIARD delivered this string of white perch and bass to the efforts of Ed Crowley, Monroe, on a Friday morning fishing trip. NEW YORK (AP) — Gerry Lindgren, a shy, skinny 17-year-old kid who has made a successful run at the big time, now is making a run at the Big Town.

The 115-pound high school star, track toast of the West Coast after a couple of brilliant two-mile efforts, makes his New York debut tonight against an against an international field in international field in the three-mile run in the National AAU indoor track and field championships.

"We still don't know what Gerry can do," said Tracy Walters, his coach at Rogers High in Spokane, Wash. "We don't even know yet what his best distance is. We just try to stay stay with the pack, run with the opposition."

The opposition today at Madison Square Garden includes some of the best the world has to offer: Australia's Ron Clarke, Tom O'Riordan of Ireland, Irish-born veteran Pete McArdle of New York, Pat Clohessy of the Texas Olympic Club, Finland's Simo Solarenta, Toronto's Dave Ellis and Dan Shaughnessy and Lt. Tom Laris of the U.S. Army.

Which constitutes quite a field for one who has hobbling around in a cast and unknown outside his native Spokane a year ago. He had a broken bone in his foot at the start of the track season a year ago and was slow getting started.

But the youngster burst on the national scene in San Francisco Dec. 27 when he ran 9 competition for the first time, he ran a sensational time for a minutes flat for the two-mile.

Then, running against open schoolboy, 8:46, and finished second to veteran Gaston Roelants of Belgium in Los Angeles in mid-January.

Last week he trimmed his time to 8:40 while running second to Clarke's 8:36.9 in San Francisco's Golden Gate Invitational. His time was just 10.4 seconds slower than the pending indoor record.

"Until a few weeks ago," Walters said, "Tokyo and the Olympics was just a dream. Now it's a matter of who's going to beat him."

With injuries and ailments cutting into the field for the mile, attention in the AAU championships should center on Lindgren and the solid fields put together for the 600-yard run and the 60-yard dash.

In the 600, American recordholder George Kerr, a Jamaican running for the Oregon AAU, is challenged by Jay Luck of New Haven, Conn. Tommy Farrell of St. John's of New York and Chris Stauffer of Baltimore, all winners of major middle distance cup races this winter.

In the 60, Florida A&M's Bob Hayes may have to equal the world mark of 6 flat again—he's done it three times this year—to beat the field that includes Sam Perry of Fordham, Gerry Ashworth of Boston and Mel Pender of the Army.

Other top attractions include Gillanova's Noel Carrol in the 1,000; Hayes Jones in the hurdles; Rolando Cruz of Villanova John Uelses of LaSalle and C. K. Yang in the pole vault; John Thomas in the high jump; Ralph Boston in the broad jump; Gary Gubner and Parry O'Brien in the shot put, and Villanova's two-mile relay team.

The mile field, already hurt by the loss of Jim Beatty, was further weakened Thursday when John Camien of Emporia State of Kansas was stricken with a bronchial infection and ordered by his doctor to withdraw.

Myers, Haddad Win Pro-Am At Muny Golf Club

Johnny Myers and Dooley Haddad combined to take first place in a best-ball 18 hole pro-am tourney at Muny Golf Course Friday. Their score was a 13 under par 59.

Five other teams with Myers, Muny pro, as a member tied for second with 12 under, 60's.

Twelve golf professionals and over 40 amateurs braved the cold, light snow, and wind to compete in the event.

Finishing second in the pro-am competition were Prentiss Hendricks, Mark Whitfield, Dr. N. L. Moncrief, Tony Danna, all of Monroe, and George Gaston, Shreveport.

A special low round sweepstakes for the professionals was won by Myers with a score of 66. Lennard Warren, Bastrop, was second with 71, followed by Oran Whitington, Shreveport, with 72.

The five amateurs who tied for second will split the second and third place awards. Each will receive some type golf equipment.

Team Is Shutout In Tourney Play

GOES TO PENNEL

Sullivan Award Lunch Sunday

Inaugurated in 1930 when Robert T. Jones Jr. was honored after scoring his grand slam in American and British amateur and open Golf, the Sullivan award is presented each year to the "amateur athlete who by performance, example and good influence did the most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship."

The selection is based on the balloting of over 500 amateur sportsmen, past recipients of the award and the nation's leading sportswriter and sportscasters.

During 1963 Pennel set an American record of 17 feet ¾ inches on August 24 at Miami. His recognized world mark is 16 feet 10 inches set at London, Aug. 5.

During the National AAU Indoor Championships today Pennel will be presented the L. di Benedetto Award for his selection by the AAU track and field committee for the track and field athlete with the outstanding single best performance during the year. The committee accorded Pennel the honor for his 17¾ pole vault at Miami.

Six years ago, Pennel was the AAU Junior Olympics pole vault champion in the senior boys division. His winning vault, an AAU Junior Olympics Record, was 13-5. At Coral Gables high school his best performance had been 13-7.

WHILE American League owners were meeting in Boston Friday to decide what to do about the Kansas City Athletics squabble over a stadium, a lone workman touches up the fence around the team's spring training camp in Bradenton, Fla. The A's are scheduled to hold their first spring training drills at their winter quarters next Friday. (AP Wirephoto)

VOTE FOR BOARD MEETING

League Heads Take First Move To Kick Out Finley

BOSTON (AP)—Fellow American League owners lost patience with unyielding Athletics' boss Charles O. Finley Friday and paved the way to expel him by a 9-1 vote.

This final ballot authorized Joe Cronin, league president, to call a meeting of the board of directors, who in turn would decide the time and place of a general meeting — probably within a week to 10 days.

The meeting would consider and act upon the termination of Finley's status as an owner.

Finley, in a subdued statement read by attorney Louis Nizer, said he would make no move until after the next league meeting.

Earlier in the closed-door session Friday the owners determined by a 9-1 vote—Finley dissenting—that the Kansas City Council's proposed lease for use of the city stadium by the A's had been "fair and reasonable." On those grounds they declared Finley had failed to scure the stadium lease as ordered.

The action came with a dramatic suddenness after indications were that all parties were prepared for a long weekend attempting to solve the bitter problem.

The conference room was heavily populated by teams of legal counsel from all sides.

The reverberations were expected to be felt in Washington where a U.S. Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee awaited action before deciding whether to invite Finley to testify.

While the owners acted on the fact Finley twice passed deadlines without securing a lease, there may have been other elements. The league was being openly criticized for not taking a firmer stand. It was being encouraged to get tough by outspoken Finley critics in Congress.

Charles Holds Three Stroke Tourney Edge

The British Open champion, who highlighted his day with a brilliant eagle on the 15th hole, has a three-stroke lead with a 35-hole score of 140 heading into the final half of the four-day event at the Wack Wack Club.

Tied for second are Hsieh Yung Yo of China, who posted a second-round 72, and Frank Phillips of Australia, who shot a 70. Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., and Isao Katsumata of Japan follow with consistent 72-72—144s.

The only other American in the running is Gene Littler of San Diego, bunched, in 15th place at 148 with five others. Mike Souchak, another U.S. pro, failed to qualify for the final two rounds as the field of 134 was cut in half. The burly Pennsylvanian, bothered by an ailing back, had a 78 to go with Thursday's 79.

According to Henry Holdiness and Armand Breard, rally masters, the event will be less than two hours in duration and 60 miles in length. Trophies will be given in two classes, club members or experienced rallyests, and guests or novices.

A $1.50 entrance fee will be charged each car to defray cost of the trophies.

Sunday's contest will feature five speed changes and built-in course controls. One closed or blind check point is planned, with an open check point at the finish. The route will be on hard surface roads.

Penality points will be assessed for each one-tenth mile error in corrected odometer reading and for each five seconds off the predetermined event time.

Any one may enter the contest. A navagator or co-pilot is necessary, along with an accurate watch, and pen and paper. Slide rules, curtas, and other special equipment will be allowed.

A rally is a precision driving test requiring contestants to follow a detailed road travel plan. Specific route instructions are given, with penalties assessed for deviating from the prescribed route.

In addition to following a particular course the entrants are given a certain speed to average along each section of the route. Penalty points are awarded for each second (in this event, for each five seconds) a car misses the predetermined time for finishing the event at the average speeds set.

Gentlets Nip Northeast JV Five By 66-61

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Gary Espenschied scored 21 points and grabbed 13 rebounds as the Centenary freshmen downed Northeast State's Junior Varsity 66-61 Friday night at Hirsch Youth Center.

The contest was a preliminary game to the Centenary-Northwestern affair, won by the Gentlemen, 81-71.

The Gentlets, now 7-8 for the season, overcame a 38-34 halftime margin for the victory.

Albert Krause of Sicily Island, led the "Little Indians" to that margin with a hot shooting performance. He hit his first seven field goal tries and scored 18 points in the opening chapter as Northeast canned 51 percent of its shots.

However, with eight minutes remaining in the ball game, the Gentlets outscored Northeast 12-1 over a four minute stretch to take a commanding lead.

Krause ended with 23 points, high for the night, as Coach Stuart Toms' charges dipped below the .500 mark for the season with a 2-3 record.

The win avenged an earlier loss at the hands of Northeast in Monroe. It snapped a five-game losing streak for the Gentlets.

HEAVYWEIGHT SHOWDOWN NEARING

Liston Quietly Prepares For Bout; Clay Babbles Of KO Win In Eighth

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Cassius Clay finished his boxing sessions with a fancy bit of footwork Friday and with an even slicker performance at a mass press conference.

"I'm gonna outpoint him in the first seven rounds and knock him out in the eighth", said the 22-year-old challenger who meets heavyweight champion Sonny Liston Tuesday night.

That was Clay's final word—until the next time.

"I'm gonna weigh 215 pounds," he said. "Yes, Sir, 215 pounds of greased lightning. I'm gonna move like a lightweight. Next to me that Liston is gonna look like a dump truck.

"Yes Sir I'm gonna upset the whole world."

And so it went. On and on and on.

Clay looked a lot better in his final four rounds of boxing than he did Thursday, when Cody Jones, a 6-foot-1, 210-pounder from Detroit gave him a hard time. Jones scored repeatedly then with hard left hooks to the jaw and thumping lefts and right to the body.

In the Friday drill, Cassius went two rounds with Dave Bailey, a 6-1, 215-pounder from Philadelphia, and two with Jones.

Clay, a beautifully built 6-3, 215-pounder, backed and side stepped for the entire four rounds. His left jabs were accurate and had good power. His left hooks and right hands were mostly thrown while on the move and didn't have too much steam, but occasionally, he set himself in mid-ring and connected with a few solid shots.

"That's my strategy," Cassius said after the boxing drill. "To hit and not be hit."

Neither of the sparring partners landed a solid punch

Clay has boxed 151 rounds since Jan. 6.

Liston quit public boxing sessions last Tuesday, but he may have had a secret drill or two in the mornings. He confined his public workout Friday to another session of gym work without sparring.

The box office hasn't been moving as fast as Cassius but promoter Chris Dundee said ticket sales are picking up. He and Bill MacDonald are handling the live gate at Convention Hall. MacDonald has guaranteed the fighters $625,000 and says he needs $800,000 to break even.

"We have about $300,000 in" said Dundee. "The sales will pick up."

The ticket prices range from $20 to $250.

It's the closed circuit television which will bring in the big money. If these receipts live up to the predictions of Theatre Network Television, Inc., Liston may collect $1.3 million and Clay $600,000.

Nathan Halpern, the president of TNT, said Friday the telecast might be seen in Europe within an hour of the live telecast.

He said the telecast would be video-taped and sent to Europe via the Relay Satellite and that the television signal will be received and distributed by Eurovision, the network coordinating television service for Europe.

If it works, it will be the first time for a championship fight telecast to be beamed overseas by satellite communications.

Eleven, possibly more, European countries will be set to get the telecast. So far, Halpern said, it is scheduled for showing in the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Western Germany, Belgium, Austria, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland and Yugoslavia.

The fight is scheduled tostart about 10 p.m., EST, which makes it 3 a.m. and later Saturday in Europe.

NINE UNDER PAR

Snead In Lead In Seniors Golf

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Slammin, Sam Snead, grumbling that "I ought to do better'n that," whacked out a four-under par 68 in Friday's second round of the PGA Seniors Golf Tournament and boosted his lead to three strokes.

With a 36-hole total of 135, nine-under-par for the PGA National Golf Club course, Snead increased his margin over Leland (Duke) Gibson from one to three.

In his first venture in the Seniors field, the 51-year-old Snead seemed just about to get a lock on the Teacher Trophy, the $2,500 first prize, and the trip overseas to play the British Senior champ for the world title.

"I missed seven, eight putts under 10-feet," Snead complained. "When I get that close to the hole so many times I ought to get me a better score than that."

But he noted that "I haven't missed a single green throughout this tournament."

Snead started out just like he did in the first round, with an eagle three on the 515-yard second hole. Two wood shots left him on the edge of the green and he chipped in from 50 feet.

He shot himself into position for easy birdies on the seventh, 10th and 17th, but wound up with a bogie when he three-putted the 18th green from 13 feet. In two days, Snead has had three bogies, all due to three-putting.

Gibson, not a famous oldtimer like Snead but a consistent contender in the Seniors tiurnament, breathed down Sam's neck through Friday's first nine by shooting a 34, but he had to settle for a 37 on his second nine.

WINTER HOME OF KANSAS CITY
KANSAS CITY ATHLETICS

WHILE American League owners were meeting in Boston Friday to decide what to do about the Kansas City Athletics squabble over a stadium, a lone workman touches up the fence around the team's spring training camp in Bradenton, Fla. The A's are scheduled to hold their first spring training drills at their winter quarters next Friday. (AP Wirephoto)

VOTE FOR BOARD MEETING

League Heads Take First Move To Kick Out Finley

BOSTON (AP)—Fellow American League owners lost patience with unyielding Athletics' boss Charles O. Finley Friday and paved the way to expel him by a 9-1 vote.

This final ballot authorized Joe Cronin, league president, to call a meeting of the board of directors, who in turn would decide the time and place of a general meeting — probably within a week to 10 days.

The meeting would consider and act upon the termination of Finley's status as an owner.

Finley, in a subdued statement read by attorney Louis Nizer, said he would make no move until after the next league meeting.

Earlier in the closed-door session Friday the owners determined by a 9-1 vote—Finley dissenting—that the Kansas City Council's proposed lease for use of the city stadium by the A's had been "fair and reasonable." On those grounds they declared Finley had failed to scure the stadium lease as ordered.

The action came with a dramatic suddenness after indications were that all parties were prepared for a long weekend attempting to solve the bitter problem.

The conference room was heavily populated by teams of legal counsel from all sides.

The reverberations were expected to be felt in Washington where a U.S. Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee awaited action before deciding whether to invite Finley to testify.

While the owners acted on the fact Finley twice passed deadlines without securing a lease, there may have been other elements. The league was being openly criticized for not taking a firmer stand. It was being encouraged to get tough by outspoken Finley critics in Congress.

Charles Holds Three Stroke Tourney Edge

The British Open champion, who highlighted his day with a brilliant eagle on the 15th hole, has a three-stroke lead with a 35-hole score of 140 heading into the final half of the four-day event at the Wack Wack Club.

Tied for second are Hsieh Yung Yo of China, who posted a second-round 72, and Frank Phillips of Australia, who shot a 70. Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., and Isao Katsumata of Japan follow with consistent 72-72—144s.

The only other American in the running is Gene Littler of San Diego, bunched, in 15th place at 148 with five others. Mike Souchak, another U.S. pro, failed to qualify for the final two rounds as the field of 134 was cut in half. The burly Pennsylvanian, bothered by an ailing back, had a 78 to go with Thursday's 79.

If it works, it will be the first time for a championship fight telecast to be beamed overseas by satellite communications.

Eleven, possibly more, European countries will be set to get the telecast. So far, Halpern said, it is scheduled for showing in the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Western Germany, Belgium, Austria, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland and Yugoslavia.

The fight is scheduled tostart about 10 p.m., EST, which makes it 3 a.m. and later Saturday in Europe.

Icy Gem Wins By Nose In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Icy Gem, a nimble filly owned by I. C. McMahan of Nashville, Tenn., won by a nose in the feature race at the Fair Grounds Friday.

The filly overtook favored Birmis in the final few yards of the stretch. Her time over the sloppy six furlongs was 1:12 3-5. She paid $6.60, $3.40 and $3.00.

Birmis, who held a length lead nearly all the way only to falter at the finish, paid $2.60 and $2.60. Be Gail, arriving two lengths behind, paid $4.60.

The turnstile count for the chill, rainy day was 5,074. They bet a total of $332,301.

NINE UNDER PAR

Snead In Lead In Seniors Golf

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Slammin, Sam Snead, grumbling that "I ought to do better'n that," whacked out a four-under par 68 in Friday's second round of the PGA Seniors Golf Tournament and boosted his lead to three strokes.

With a 36-hole total of 135, nine-under-par for the PGA National Golf Club course, Snead increased his margin over Leland (Duke) Gibson from one to three.

In his first venture in the Seniors field, the 51-year-old Snead seemed just about to get a lock on the Teacher Trophy, the $2,500 first prize, and the trip overseas to play the British Senior champ for the world title.

"I missed seven, eight putts under 10-feet," Snead complained. "When I get that close to the hole so many times I ought to get me a better score than that."

But he noted that "I haven't missed a single green throughout this tournament."

Snead started out just like he did in the first round, with an eagle three on the 515-yard second hole. Two wood shots left him on the edge of the green and he chipped in from 50 feet.

He shot himself into position for easy birdies on the seventh, 10th and 17th, but wound up with a bogie when he three-putted the 18th green from 13 feet. In two days, Snead has had three bogies, all due to three-putting.

Gibson, not a famous oldtimer like Snead but a consistent contender in the Seniors tiurnament, breathed down Sam's neck through Friday's first nine by shooting a 3[illegible], but he had to settle for a 37 on his second nine.

TURKISH PEASANTS ROBBED

Greeks Halt Three Cyprus Buses, Taxi

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — Greek Cypriots halted three buses and a taxi carrying Turkish Cypriot peasants to the Nicosia market Friday and robbed the passengers at gunpoint British officials reported.

Another group of Greek Cypriots surrounded the Turkish Cypriot school in the northwestern Cyprus flashpoint village of Polis. British officials said tension was high there and that new violence appeared imminent.

(Diplomatic sources in London said Britain will call a summit conference with Greek and Turkish leaders to try settle the Cyprus crisis if present efforts fail in the United Nations.)

Acting British High Commissioner Cyril Pickard said the buses and taxi carrying the peasants to market were halted outside Famagusta gate by gunmen who took the occupants to the nearby Greek Cypriot cemetery and robbed them of $663.

He reported the party subsequently was taken to Nicosia central prison and held for more than two hours. British officials said they did not know whether the holdup was committed by Greek Cypriot police or Greek Cypriot irregulars.

Five hours after the reported robbery, Greek Cypriot government officials refused to confirm or deny the incident took place.

The peasants left the prison and complained personally to Vice President Fazil Kuchuk, leader of the Turkish Cypriot minority who immediately called Pickard and the United Nations observer Gen. Prem Singh Gyani of India.

Pickard went to see Kuchuk and the British official lent the peasants 100 pounds ($280).

In the incident at Polis, there was no immediate indication how many Turks were trapped in the school and in the area surrounded by the Greek cordon.

Penniless Star Of Silent Films To Return Home

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Salvation Army officials said Friday that silent screen star Mae Murray, found wandering around St. Louis on Wednesday, would be put on a plane and returned to Los Angeles.

Miss Murray, 61, was taken by police to the Salvation Army emergency lodge after she got off a bus here apparently believing she was in New York. She suffered a lapse of memory. She was penniless.

Capt. Fred Major of the Salvation Army contacted the Motion Picture Relief Fund in Hollywood, and fund officials promised to pay for Miss Murray's return flight.

Major said the former actress, who danced her way to fame as a Ziegfield girl and starred with Rudolph Valentino and Francis X. Bushman in silent films, wanted to go to New York to confer with a book publisher.

She suffered a stroke in 1960.

Miss Murray once was a millionaire several times over. But in 1946 she filed a bankruptcy petition.

DANIEL M. CUNNING, a son of former silent movie star Mae Murray, who was found wandering streets of St. Louis, said Friday in Troy, N. Y., that he will do "whatever has to be done" for his mother. (AP Wirephoto)

New Job Needs Of State Cited By Lyons Aide

HAYNESVILLE (Special) — An estimated total of 76,000 new jobs are needed to provide employment for the young people who will graduate or drop out of school this year as well as for the presently unemployed, it was reported here by the state budget aide of Charlton Lyons, Republican candidate for governor.

Attorney Tom Stagg, recently named by Lyons to represent him at the legislative budget hearings, disclosed the job needs in a speech to a fund raising dinner sponsored by the Lyons For Governor Committee of North Caliborne Parish.

"On the basis of most recent census figures and supplemental studies, it can be reliably estimate that approximately 2[illegible],700 young people will graduate or drop out of high school and enter the labor market seeking employment in 1964," Stagg declared.

"In addition, there were 5[illegible],200 unemployed persons in the labor market seeking job as of the start of the year," he added.

Lyons' budget assistant pointed out that each year in the future similar numbers of young people will be graduating or dropping out of school to create a continuing demand for vastly expanded job opportunities.

"Our only hope for providing increased job opportunities is to accelerate industrial development under the comprehensive and aggressive program proposed by Charlton Lyons," stated Stagg.

Referring to Lyons' opponent in the contest for governor, Stagg continued: "John McKeithen's only solution to any of Louisiana's pressing problems is to stand at the border to wait for Liz Taylor and denounce any visitor not born in Louisiana as a 'carpet - bagger.'"

"Presumably, he would also make similar name-calling attacks against the Vice President In Charge of Plant Locations for General Electric, the sponsor of Ronald Reagan's television program," he concluded.

Puzzling Illness Hits 4 Residents In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Medical authorities sought the cause Friday of a mysterious malady which held four Jackson persons in a semi-conscious state.

Police Det. Sgt. John Hamblee said "we would rouse them and they kept going back to sleep."

The victims of the malady were identified as Mr. and Mrs. John R. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Ace Bishop of Mize.

The two women are sisters.

All four were taken to the University Hospital where physicians sought to determine the cause of the ailment.

Police were called to the west Jackson house Friday when neighbors were unable to rouse its occupants.

Officers said Martin, 59, was found beneath a kitchen table with a chair across his body. Mrs. Martin, 58, was in bed.

Mrs. Bishop was lying on the floor wrapped in a blanket and Bishop was sitting in a chair in a second bedroom.

Officers said the house was locked from the inside and was in no disarray.

Police said the four apparently became ill Thursday night.

MAY DEADLINE SET

Cambodia Still Apt In Cutting U.S. Ties

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI) — It seems an article of faith in this pleasant capital city that Cambodia will break diplomatic relations with the United States sometime this year.

Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, 43, has set May as the time when he will sever relations with those countries which still oppose a conference to guarantee Cambodia's neutrality.

The United States, stung by events in neighboring Laos and deeply embroiled in events in neighboring Viet Nam and Thailand, might condone Cambodian neutrality but has no intention of guaranteeing it.

May then, seems a likely month when the American mission will pack up and go home. The only other eventuality seriously considered here is that relations might be ruptured somewhat earlier.

The Cambodian position is based in part on these assumptions:

—A belief on Prince Sihanouk's part that South Viet Nam and perhaps all of Southeast Asia is lost to Communist China.

—The feeling that Russian and Red Chinese diplomatic missions in Phnom Penh have stayed out of mischief while the American Central Intelligence Agency has been mixed up in intrigue.

—A conviction that the United States and most Western powers have never taken Cambodia seriously.

On the latter point, Sihanouk gets very little argument. American officials have flown around and over Cambodia, but no one of any ranking stature ever has called on the prince.

The one exception was a proposed semi-official visit by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson a few weeks ago. But Sihanouk turned the idea down cold.

Cambodia is a country of five million people and a land area of 88,780 square miles about the same size as England, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Lately Sihanouk's scorn has centered on the United States and its two closest allies in Southeast Asia, Thailand and South Viet Nam.

Pope Drafting New Ecumenical Rules

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

Vatican sources report that Pope Paul VI is drafting new rules of procedure for the Ecumenical Council, which will resume work in September.

How far the Pope will go in overhauling council machinery is still a carefully kept secret.

But it is no secret that many council fathers would like stricter curbs on debate and greater assurance that the council's working commissions will be responsive to the majority will.

Present rules for cutting off debate are riddled with loopholes, and long-winded bishops may continue discussing a topic long after the vast majority of the fathers are ready to move on to something else.

The council's progressive wing, which mustered a majority of two-thirds or better on most key votes at last fall's session, is particularly anxious to make sure that its overwhelming floor victories are not quietly overruled by the Theological Commission, headed by the conservative Curia cardinal, Alfredo Ottaviani.

Ottaviani let it be known last fall that he did not consider his commission bound by a series of floor votes in which more than 80 per cent of the fathers endorsed the concept that bishops have a divine right to share with the Pope in the supreme government of the church. Since the commission has the responsibility for putting documents in final form, Ottaviani's stand could frustrate the majority will—unless Pope Paul puts his foot down with firm new rules of procedure.

Purim recalls the dramatic story related in the Biblical Book of Esther. Esther was a Jewish queen who saved her people from destruction at the hands of an early anti-Semite, Haman, prime minister of Persia.

The celebration of Purim traditionally includes presentation of children's plays in religious schools, and costume balls for adults. In Israel, there are colorful street parades similar to New Orleans' Mardi Gras.

The Lutheran Church in America is faced with a sharp cutback in its overseas mission program for lack of funds.

Instead of sending 62 missionaries abroad this year, as it had originally planned, the denomination will be able to send only 39. And it anticipates a cut of nearly 50 per cent in its planned capital expenditures in Asia, Africa and South America during the next two years.

The Rev. Dr. Earl S. Erb, foreign mission director, warns that still further cutbacks will be necessary unless Lutherans begin to give more generously to the work of Christ's kingdom beyond parochial boundaries.

Three Protestant denominations which are Methodist in heritage and predominantly Negro in membership are discussing a merger. They are the African Methodist Episcopal Church, founded in 1787; the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, founded in 1796; and the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, founded in 1870. They have a combined membership of about 2.5 million.

Merger talks began in Washington, D. C., recently. The three denominations are very similar in doctrine and form of government.

New Job Needs Of State Cited By Lyons Aide

HAYNESVILLE (Special) — An estimated total of 76,000 new jobs are needed to provide employment for the young people who will graduate or drop out of school this year as well as for the presently unemployed, it was re ported here by the state budget aide of Charlton Lyons, Republican candidate for governor.

Attorney Tom Stagg, recently named by Lyons to represent him at the legislative budget hearings, disclosed the job needs in a speech to a fund-raising dinner sponsored by the Lyons For Governor Committee of North Caliborne Parish.

"On the basis of most recent census figures and supplemental studies, it can be reliably estimate that approximately 22,700 young people will graduate or drop out of high school and enter the labor market seeking employment in 1964," Stagg declared.

"In addition, there were 53,200 unemployed persons in the labor market seeking jobs as of the start of the year," he added.

Lyons' budget assistant pointed out that each year in the future similar numbers of young people will be graduating or dropping out of school to create a continuing demand for vastly expanded job opportunities.

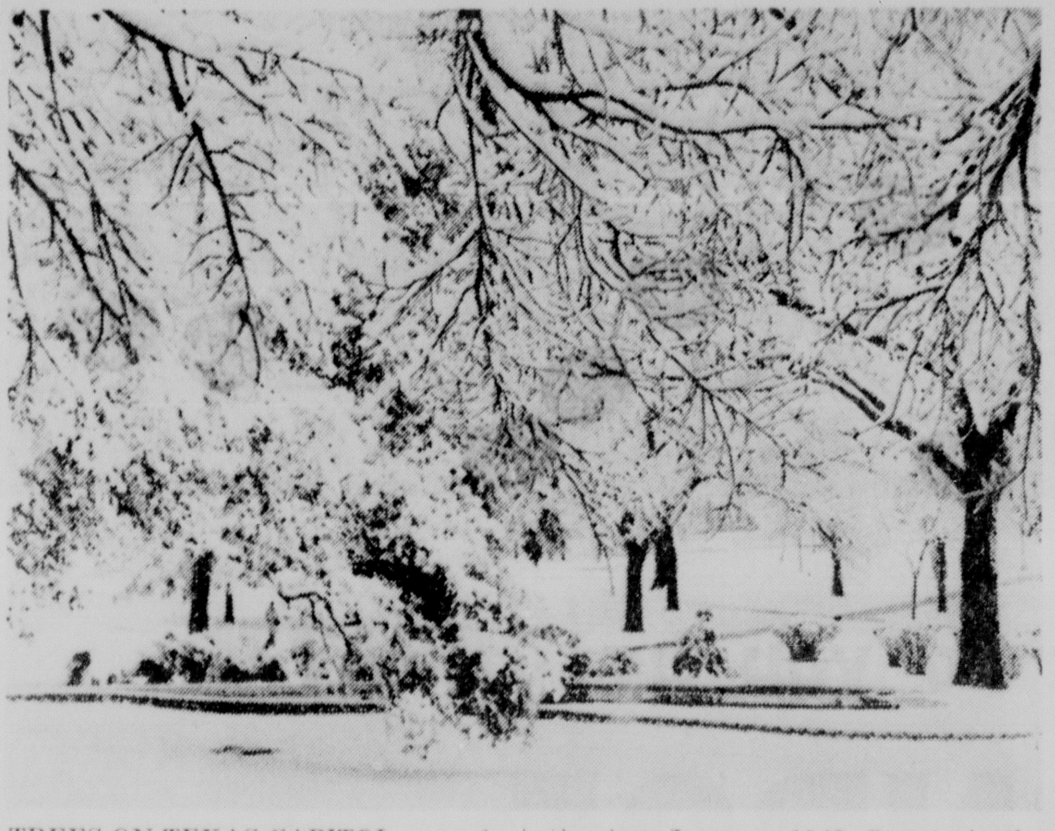
"Our only hope for providing increased job opportunities is to accelerate industrial development under the comprehensive and aggressive program proposed by Charlton Lyons," stated Stagg.

Referring to Lyons' opponent in the contest for governor, Stagg continued. "John McKeithen's only solution to any of Louisiana's pressing problems is to stand at the border to wait for Liz Taylor and denounce any visitor not born in Louisiana as a 'carpet - bagger,' "

"Presumably, he would also make similar name-calling attacks against the Vice President In Charge of Plant Locations for General Electric, the sponsor of Ronald Reagan's television program,' he concluded.

AVOCADO-APPLE SALAD

Blend a little curry powder into sour cream or yogurt and dollop on slices of California avocados and wedges of red-skinned apples alternated fan-shape on lettuce for a refreshing winter salad.



TREES ON TEXAS CAPITOL grounds bend heavily under weight of snow Friday morning. The weather bureau said snows, measuring four to six inches in depth, was heaviest snowfall in Austin since January, 1949. Puzzling Illness Hits 4 Residents In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Medical authorities sought the cause Friday of a mysterious malady which held four Jackson persons in a semi-conscious state.

Police Det. Sgt. John Hamblee said "we would rouse them and they kept going back to sleep."

The victims of the malady were identified as Mr. and Mrs. John R. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Ace Bishop of Mize.

The two women are sisters.

All four were taken to the University Hospital where physicians sought to determine the cause of the ailment.

Police were called to the west Jackson house Friday when neighbors were unable to rouse its occupants.

Officers said Martin, 59, was found beneath a kitchen table with a chair across his body. Mrs. Martin, 58, was in bed.

Mrs. Bishop was lying on the floor wrapped in a blanket and Bishop was sitting in a chair in a second bedroom.

Officers said the house was locked from the inside and was in no disarray.

Police said the four apparently became ill Thursday night.

MAY DEADLINE SET

Cambodia Still Apt In Cutting U.S. Ties

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI)—It seems an article of faith in this pleasant capital city that Cambodia will break diplomatic relations with the United States sometime this year.

Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, 43, has set May as the time when he will sever relations with those countries which still oppose a conference to guarantee Cambodia's neutrality.

The United States, stung by events in neighboring Laos and deeply embroiled in events in neighboring Viet Nam and Thailand, might condone Cambodian neutrality but has no intention of guaranteeing it.

May then, seems a likely month when the American mission will pack up and go home. The only other eventuality seriously considered here is that relations might be ruptured somewhat earlier.

The Cambodian position is based in part on these assumptions:

—A belief on Prince Sihanouk's part that South Viet Nam and perhaps all of Southeast Asia is lost to Communist China.

—The feeling that Russian and Red Chinese diplomatic missions in Phnom Penh have stayed out of mischief while the American Central Intelligence Agency has been mixed up in intrigue.

—A conviction that the United States and most Western powers have never taken Cambodia seriously.

On the latter point, Sihanouk gets very little argument. American officials have flown around and over Cambodia, but no one of any ranking stature ever has called on the prince.

The one exception was a proposed semi-official visit by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson a few weeks ago. But Sihanouk turned the idea down cold.

Cambodia is a country of five million people and a land area of 88,780 square miles about the same size as England, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Lately Sihanouk's scorn has centered on the United States and its two closest allies in Southeast Asia, Thailand and South Viet Nam.

Breaking relations with the United States is not going to solve any of Cambodia's problems. The country is badly undeveloped, with rice paddies occupying 80 per cent of the usable land.

Lyons Endorsed In Winnfield By Kennon Backer

SHREVEPORT (Special) — J. D. Taylor of Winnfield, lifelong friend and assistant state campaign manager for Robert Kennon in the latter's recent bid for the Democratic nomination for governor, Friday endorsed Charlton Lyons, Republican gubernatorial candidate for the March 3rd general election.

In a statement issued in Winnfield, Taylor said, "I have studied Mr. Lyons' platform and in my opinion it is the finest document ever offered the people of Louisiana as a political platform."

"And Mr. Lyons record as a businessman and attorney qualifies him to fulfill his platform," Taylor added.

"Today I believe most people in Louisiana feel the voters and the taxpayers are entitled to better government, both in Baton Rouge and Washington," continued Taylor's endorsement statement.

"Mr. Lyons platform offers the people of Louisiana an opportunity to institute a system of government in Baton Rouge that will bring about an industrial development 'boom' unequalled in the history of our country," declared Taylor.

"Mr. Lyons' election as governor of Louisiana can do more to reverse the Socialistic trend in our country than any election in the nation next to the election of the next president himself," Taylor stated.

"And Mr. Lyons' election can have a tremendous bearing on who our next president will be, and what recognition and consideration the People of Louisiana will get regardless of who is elected President," he added.

"The time has come when we can no longer be Political Cowards. Often when we are in some type of public business or profession, we feel we cannot express political views for fear of offending friends or losing business."

Library Work To Resume Soon At Thibodaux

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Construction work may resume soon, the State-Times said Friday, on a $600,000 library at Nicholls State College, Thibodaux, damaged by fire and exposure to weather.

The newspaper said Director W. D. Atkins of the state Bond and Building Commission told newsmen he understood the Haddad Construction Co., Slidell, and his insurer Fireman's Fund Insurance Co., were near an agreement to allow full-scale construction again.

Newsmen said an inspection of the building earlier this week revealed water standing on the floors, asphalt tile floor-buckling and cracking and other damage.

The newsmen said the damage apparently had been mounting since a mysterious fire ruined the roof of the nearly-complete building Oct. 14.

An official report of the state fire marshal's office said the fire started from an undetermined origin.

In Thibodaux, president Vernon Galliano of Nicholls State said he was at a loss to explain the delay in resuming construction.

The college president said he had been in frequent touch with adjusters in attempts to expedite construction.

In Baton Rouge, a spokesman for General Adjustment Bureau said the damage was covered under a builder's risk policy written by Fireman's Fund.

Negro Attorney Trying To Show Mix Halt Pattern

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— A Negro attorney questioned Friday whether a private school in Tuskegee is really private and set out to show a pattern of interference by state authorities in the desegregation of Macon County schools.

The arguments came in a hearing before a three-judge federal panel on Negro attorney Fred Gray's request for an order to desegregate all public schools in Alabama at the same time.

Questioning an officer of the private school foundation which supervises Macon Academy at Tuskegee, Gray asked for detailed information about the number of classrooms, the size of the building and similar matters.

The court, seeking to determine the reason for the questioning, asked if he contended it was a public school.

"We say it is not a private school," the attorney replied. He said state authorities have encouraged and assisted the school, and that the state board accredited it and also took steps to provide state aid tuition grants for its pupils.

Accrediting the private school was improper, Gray said, because the school does not meet the qualifications.

He charged that there was a "great amount of cooperation" from all parties involved with the result that the previous desegregation orders concerning the Macon County schools are being circumvented.

Lyons Endorsed In Winnfield By Kennon Backer

SHREVEPORT (Special) — J. D. Taylor of Winnfield, lifelong friend and assistant state campaign manager for Robert Kennon in the latter's recent bid for the Democratic nomination for governor, Friday endorsed Charlton Lyons, Republican gubernatorial candidate for the March 3rd general election.

In a statement issued in Winnfield, Taylor said, "I have studied Mr. Lyons' platform and in my opinion it is the finest document ever offered the people of Louisiana as a political platform."

"And Mr. Lyons record as a businessman and attorney qualifies him to fulfill his platform," Taylor added.

"Today I believe most people in Louisiana feel the voters and the taxpayers are entitled to better government, both in Baton Rouge and Washington," continued Taylor's endorsement statement.

"Mr. Lyons platform offers the people of Louisiana an opportunity to institute a system of government in Baton Rouge that will bring about an industrial development 'boom' unequalled in the history of our country," declared Taylor.

"Mr. Lyons' election as governor of Louisiana can do more to reverse the Socialistic trend in our country than any election in the nation next to the election of the next president himself," Taylor stated.

"And Mr. Lyons' election can have a tremendous bearing on who our next president will be, and what recognition and consideration the People of Louisiana will get regardless of who is elected President," he added.

"The time has come when we can no longer be Political Cowards. Often when we are in some type of public business or profession, we feel we cannot express political views for fear of offending friends or losing business."

Library Work To Resume Soon At Thibodaux

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Construction work may resume soon, the State-Times said Friday, on a $600,000 library at Nicholls State College, Thibodaux, damaged by fire and exposure to weather.

The newspaper said Director W. D. Atkins of the state Bond and Building Commission told newsmen he understood the Haddad Construction Co., Slidell, and his insurer Fireman's Fund Insurance Co., were near an agreement to allow full-scale construction again.

Newsmen said an inspection of the building earlier this week revealed water standing on the floors, asphalt tile floor-buckling and cracking and other damage.

The newsmen said the damage apparently had been mounting since a mysterious fire ruined the roof of the nearly-complete building Oct. 14.

An official report of the state fire marshal's office said the fire started from an undetermined origin.

In Thibodaux, president Vernon Galliano of Nicholls State said he was at a loss to explain the delay in resuming construction.

The college president said he had been in frequent touch with adjusters in attempts to expedite construction.

In Baton Rouge, a spokesman for General Adjustment Bureau said the damage was covered under a builder's risk policy written by Fireman's Fund.

Negro Attorney Trying To Show Mix Halt Pattern

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— A Negro attorney questioned Friday whether a private school in Tuskegee is really private and set out to show a pattern of interference by state authorities in the desegregation of Macon County schools.

The arguments came in a hearing before a three-judge federal panel on Negro attorney Fred Gray's request for an order to desegregate all public schools in Alabama at the same time.

Questioning an officer of the private school foundation which supervises Macon Academy at Tuskegee, Gray asked for detailed information about the number of classrooms, the size of the building and similar matters.

The court, seeking to determine the reason for the questioning, asked if he contended it was a public school.

"We say it is not a private school," the attorney replied. He said state authorities have encouraged and assisted the school, and that the state board accredited it and also took steps to provide state aid tuition grants for its pupils.

Accrediting the private school was improper, Gray said, because the school does not meet the qualifications.

He charged that there was a "great amount of cooperation" from all parties involved with the result that the previous desegregation orders concerning the Macon County schools are being circumvented.

5 Doctors Say Youth Insane

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Five physicians testified Friday that Frank N. Chisesi Jr. was insane when he killed a high school classmate in 1959.

They were called as the defense went all out to block admission of two statements—one written, the other oral — in which the 17-year-old defendant admitted killing Rhett Blanke.

The jury was sent out of the courtroom while the opposing lawyers argued the problems involved.

The defense contends that young Chisesi is innocent of the charge of murder because he was mentally ill and didn't know right from wrong.

Chisesi, confined to a mental institution, has been ruled presently sane. The state contends he killed Blanke because of previous fistfights with him, planning the shooting several days in advance.

Dr. Kenneth A. Ritter, a psychiatrist who took part in a sanity study on Chisesi soon after the slaying, testified that at the time the boy had a major mental disorder "known as schizophrenia with paranoic tendencies."

Dr. Howard H. Russell, the family physician, said he considered the boy "a paranoid of the worst kind." A paranoid is a person afflicted with delusions of grandeur or persecution.

Dr. Russell said he "advised the father to quit his work, if necessary, buy a gun and a boat and go hunting and fishing with the boy."

Judge J. Bernard Cocke of New Orleans, hearing the case in Chalmette in adjoining St. Bernard Parish, admonished Dr. Russell repeatedly for evasive answers during cross-examination.

Asked whether he had any training in psychiatry, Dr. Russell replied he did not know how to answer the question.

Evaluation Team To Visit Northeast

A visiting team will arrive at Northeast Louisiana State College Sunday afternoon to begin a three-day study of the school's teacher education program in response to Northeast's request for accreditation by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Northeast State, under the leadership of the Division of Education, has been engaged in self evaluation of its teacher education program for the past three years with the aim of making its initial application to the National Council for accreditation. The Division of Education has prepared an 157-page report on its teacher education program for the National Council.

"Northeast State is already accredited by the state of Louisiana and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools," said Dr. Eugene Holtzclaw, dean of the Division of Education. "Accreditation by the National Council is the next step in our attempts to improve the teacher education program even more."

Although the visiting team will mainly be interested in the Division of Education, it will study the college as a whole since teacher education involves many other departments besides education, Dr. Holtzclaw said.

Dr. Holtzclaw said one of the main advantages of National Council accreditation is reciprocity in certification of teachers in 34 other states. With National Council accreditation, Northeast State graduates can be certified to teach in the 34 states without being required to take extra courses, as they may be now.

The visiting team will visit classes, confer with faculty members, administrators and students, study the teacher education curriculum, etc., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It will study both the undergraduate and graduate education programs of the College.

Members of the team are Dr. C. M. Clarke, North Texas State; Dr. Robert B. Bailey, Southwestern Oklahoma State; Dr. Milt W. Lehr, Northwestern Oklahoma State; Dr. Jeff Farris, Arkansas State Teachers College; Dr. Norman C. Mohn, Kingsville (Tex.) Public Schools; and Chairman Dr. Paul T. Dixon, Kansas State Teachers College at Pittsburg, all members of the National Council Visitation Committee; Dr. Warren F. Jones, Union University, representing the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; N. B. Hackett, executive secretary and representative of the Louisiana Teachers Association; and William E. Noonan Jr., representing the State Department of Education.

The Visitation Committee will make its report on Northeast's teacher education program to the Appraisals Committee of the National Council, which will recommend whether or not the program will be accredited.

A decision is not expected for from six months to a year, Dr. Holtzclaw said.

Chairmen of committees at Northeast State which have prepared reports on the teacher education program are Dr. Jack Harrington (Objectives of Teacher Education), Dr. William J. Christmas (Organization of Administration of Teacher Education), Dr. Holtzclaw (Student Personnel Programs and Services for Teacher Education), Dr. M. S. Nicklas (Faculty for Teacher Education), Dr. L. Leonard Kilgore (Professional Laboratory Experiences for Prospective Teachers) and Alva S. Huffman (Facilities and Instructions Materials for Teacher Education).

Richland Voters To Sign Forms

RAYVILLE (Special) — Richland Parish Registrar of Voters, Mrs. Lula Cheek, announced that all registered voters in the parish are urged to sign their permanent registration forms immediately.

"Failure to sign these forms will result in cancellation of their registration," Mrs. Cheek said.

Forms may be obtained and signed in the parish court house.

Rep. Passman Against LBJ's Overtime Bill

Rep. Otto Passman, Fifth District congressman, Friday rejected the Johnson administration's proposal to increase overtime pay as a means of discouraging overtime work and thereby stimulating increased employment.

Passman termed the proposal "unsound and workable."

He said that, in his opinion, the measure would not improve the nation's unemployment situation by "any appreciable extent, but would, in fact, because of having the effect of increasing automation, bring about more unemployment." He added that — it would result, in some circumstances, in reduced production and less total pay for workers and, in other cases, in higher overtime pay and increased production costs.

Passman pointed out also that already, "many, if not actually most, U. S. products have just about been priced out of world markets, and the proposed plan would certainly further weaken our position in this respect."

The administration bill would require double-time pay for overtime work, instead of the present time-and-a-half pay requirement, under certain circumstances.

Humane Group To Plan Drive

A planning session for the May fund-raising drive is slated Tuesday night at 1300 Roselawn Avenue by the newly appointed board of directors of the Ouachita Humane Society Inc.

Proceeds from the drive to be planned at 7:30 p.m. will go to construct a shelter to house mistreated and homeless animals and provide funds for the first year's operations.

Directors include Mrs. George Wright Sr., Arthur Tidwell, Richard Anderson Mrs. Tom R. Files, Mrs. Charles L. Hunt and Joe Sutton. Mrs. Files is also head of the education committee and Mrs. Hunt is in charge of the adoption committee while Anderson is chairman of public relations.

Rep. Passman Against LBJ's Overtime Bill

Rep. Otto Passman, Fifth District congressman, Friday rejected the Johnson administration's proposal to increase overtime pay as a means of discouraging overtime work and thereby stimulating increased employment.

Passman termed the proposal "unsound and workable."

He said that, in his opinion, the measure would not improve the nation's unemployment situation by "any appreciable extent, but would, in fact, because of having the effect of increasing automation, bring about more unemployment." He added that — it would result, in some circumstances, in reduced production and less total pay for workers and, in other cases, in higher overtime pay and increased production costs.

Passman pointed out also that already, "many, if not actually most, U. S. products have just about been priced out of world markets, and the proposed plan would certainly further weaken our position in this respect."

The administration bill would require double-time pay for overtime work, instead of the present time - and - a - half - pay requirement, under certain circumstances.

Hoffa Lawyers Question Character Of Louisiana Witness

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Edward G. Partin, chief government witness at James R. Hoffa's jury tampering trial, was described Friday as a neurotic, a woman chaser and "a professional liar."

But a psychiatrist who said he treated him and a Louisiana friend disagreed over whether he was, in addition, a dope addict.

Defense efforts to discredit Partin, a Baton Rouge, La., Teamsters official, led to several clashes between one of Hoffa's lawyers and the judge.

Partin gave testimony linking Hoffa, international Teamsters president, and others on trial with him with alleged efforts to rig the Nashville jury which tried Hoffa on a conspiracy charge in 1962.

Dr. Levin F. Magruder, a Baton Rouge, psychiatrist and former superintendent of two state mental hospitals in Louisiana, testified he treated Partin as a private patient in 1962.

Dr. Magruder said Partin was suffering from "psychoneurotic reaction," and said he was depressed, easily irritated, tense and "felt he was being imposed on—that he was carrying too big a load."

Under cross-examination, he said he found no evidence that Partin had been taking Narcotics—contrary to earlier defense testimony.

Dr. Magruder said Partin told him he had been taking "beanies," stay-awake pills commonly used by truck drivers.

And Anne Mae Smith of Baton Rouge, Partin's former secretary, said she had seen him taking pills. In addition, she said, he once showed her a kit that contained needles and syringe.

Terming Partin "a professional liar," Mrs. Smith was one of a half-dozen witnesses who said they wouldn't believe Partin under oath.

The friend had pictured Partin as a dope addict and a woman chaser.

But U.S. Dist. Court Judge Frank Wilson refused to let the jury hear testimony from Partin's estranged wife or a woman who said Partin dated her 14-year-old sister in 1962.

Defense attempts to discredit Partin preceded Hoffa's own appearance as a witness, now expected Monday. The trial's fifth week ended Friday.

In midafternoon, Harry Berke, Hoffa's Chattanooga lawyer, called Rena Mae Booth of Baton Rouge, a nurse who told the court Partin had dated her 14-year-old sister in Hattiesburg, Miss., in 1962.

As Mrs. Booth began her story—with the jury absent—the judge asked Berke why she was called.

"We want to show that in 1962, he (Partin) was running around with a 14-year-old girl in Hattiesburg, Miss., at the same time he was going with a girl in Childersburg, Ala.," said Berke.

"Now, Mr. Berke," the judge said, sternly, "how can any lawyer think this sort of thing is competent? We are not here to try domestic life."

"If the government has the right to build up this witness," snapped Berke, "we think we have the right to put on evidence to impeach him."

Earlier, Otis Calvin Tynes, 37, Ethel, La., was asked by Berke if he knew Partin was addicted to narcotics.

"Positively yes," replied Tynes, who said he was a close friend of Partin and Mrs. Partin. He also said he often saw Partin with other women.

Mrs. Partin, the auburn-haired mother of Partin's five children, then was called to the stand by Hoffa's Detroit lawyer, James Haggerty, who said she would back up Tynes' story.

INTEREST IN SALINE RIVER Reservoir northeast of Crossett, Ark., mounts each week as water continues to boil out of the low intake pumping station and into the growing lake. The lake has now passed the half-way mark in the filling process. The reservoir, built by Georgia-Pacific's Crossett Division, is being stocked with fish and will be open to the public in the future. It will cover 17,000 acres, with over four-billion gallons of water spreading over the area. Depth will average eight feet. (Photo by Janice Clark)

Steel Industries Asked To Prove Dumping Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. importers Friday challenged the American steel industry's efforts this week to prove dumping charges against foreign steel producers.

William J. Barnhard, representing U.S. importers, told the trade Information Committee Friday there was something irregular about 'dumping' charges. This is the same industry, he said, "whose predatory pricing and trade practices led to the modern form of anti-dumping legislation throughout the free world."

Leading U.S. steel officials told the Tariff Commission this week that they were unable to compete with low priced steel products. They said they were being dumped on the American market by foreign producers.

In addition, they said, foreign governments maintain high tariffs and other barriers against U.S. steel imports.

They urged the administration to end dumping, secure tariff cuts and reduce or eliminate other barriers to U.S. steel in foreign markets. Otherwise, they said, steel should not be included in the tariff-cutting negotiations beginning in Geneva May 4.

In a prepared memorandum, Barnhard countered that American anti-dumping laws were modeled after similar laws in other countries, designed to protect them from the monopolistic practices of the old U.S. 'steel trust.'

"The nature of the evils at which the anti-dumping acts were aimed," he added, "shows clearly that these laws were not intended to be trade or tariff laws, but were written as part of our antitrust laws."

"It is strange," he continued, that "the U.S. anti-dumping act is now being used not to protect small businessmen from monopolies and giant competitors, but instead is being used to protect big business from price competition."

Barnhard criticized the anti-dumping legislation now before Congress as a repudiation of American trade objectives and would induce European Common Market and other trading areas of the world to adopt similar restrictive policies.

"The results could be disastrous to the (Geneva) negotiations and to our essential national policy of trade expansion," he said.

NEW YORK SCANDAL

Mayor Asks Probe Of Fire Department

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner called Friday for a "digging investigation" of the Fire Department to find out what its members do at the firehouse when not rolling hose or polishing brass.

The mayor's order was in a blistering reply to charges that some members of one fire company had chartered their own little ladies auxiliary composed of women of possibly questionable virtue.

Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson suspended the captain and five members of Engine Co. 35 Thursday on charges implying they spent their leisure time doing something other than petting the firehouse Dalmatian or playing card.

He said the men allowed "women of alleged ill repute" to frequent their quarters — mostly between 3 and 6 a.m.

"We will pursue this as far as possible," Wagner vowed. "We are going to continue this digging, to check all around to see that nothing like this takes place anywhere else or in this department."

Thompson noted that the development might "put the reputation of the department at stake," hastily adding that all the men in Engine Co. 35 are "not evil."

Regardless, he said each member of the company would be questioned to possibly shed more light on the operation charged to the five men.

After the mayor had called Thompson to his office for an explanation of the charges, he expressed "shock that anything like this could go on in a city department — particularly the Fire Department, which always has been an example to the people of the neighborhood."

Engine Co. 35 continued Friday to be somewhat of an example to the residents of the Spanish Harlem neighborhood, as dozens of curious peeked into the firehouse windows.

Thompson lifted the lid on the scandal when he noted that on more than one occasion during the last month, four or five "unauthorized civilians—both male and female — had visited the premises."

Also being sought, it was learned, are several young men from the neighborhood who reportedly paid $5 each to spend time frolicking with women in the firehouse sleeping quarters.

Thompson said the company captain and one of his lieutenants touched off the probe with a quarrel over discipline in the unit.

The five firemen will be given public hearings next week on charges of "conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, conduct tending to bring reproach upon the department, conduct unbecoming an officer and disorderly conduct."

None of the five men had any comment on the charges.

Soviets Dash British Hopes For Meeting

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union dashed British hopes Friday for a meeting here between Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Butler will arrive Monday to attend the 17-nation disarmament conference.

"We look forward to Mr. Butler's visit and hope he will give us some constructive ideas on disarmament measures, but Mr. Gromyko is not coming here to see him," an official Soviet spokesman said.

Butler invited the Soviet foreign minister to meet him in Geneva Jan. 21 when the conference was resumed after a five-month recess.

Gromyko never answered formally and Butler postponed his trip, hoping that Gromyko would agree to the meeting. Butler has not met Gromyko since he became foreign secretary last October.

Britain had hoped that U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk could have joined him and Gromyko in a major conference for easing East-West cold war tensions.

Rusk, however, was reported to have opposed such a meeting at this time.

Butler is scheduled to address the conference Tuesday. By chance, that day will be Britain's turn as chairman and Butler will preside at the plenary session.

Reports from London Friday said Butler will propose the creation of a permanent United Nations peacekeeping force for such trouble spots as Cyprus in an attempt to break the conference stalemate.

THOMAS H. WEEKS, above, arrived in Monroe this week to become manager of the Goodrich store on Louisville. He has been with the company for the past ten years as manager of the Columbus, Miss. store. The Weeks, with their four children, have purchased a home on Ft. Miro street in Monroe.

DISPLEASED WITH U.S.

Pakistani Leader Pleased With Chou

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) —Showing displeasure at U.S. foreign policy, President Mohamed Ayub Khan of Pakistan said Friday Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China has convinced him Peking has peaceful intentions.

Ayub told a news conference his talks with Chou in the past two days showed that "the Chinese are prepared to be reasonable with anyone who is prepared to be reasonable with them."

Ayub said he is sure Communist China would talk over its differences with the United States and is "absolutely certain" Peking would negotiate its border conflict with India.

Ayub criticized U. S. arms aid to India as being a threat to Pakistan, which is quarreling bitterly with India over the state of Kashmir.

"In the last couple of years the United States has been doing things in India we think are against our security," Ayub said. "We feel we have cause to complain to our friends (America)."

Asked if his avowed effort to improve Pakistan's relations with Communist China did not conflict with his country's membership in the United States-backed SEATO and CENTO military alliances, Ayub said:

"That's the way our friends, the British and Americans see it. I don't see why they should conflict."

A $3 billion economic military aid bill is part of the price the United States has paid to keep Pakistan in these alliances as part of a defensive arrangement against the southward move of communism into the Indian subcontinent. Since the 1962 India-China border war, America has shipped about $50 million worth of arms to India.

India is already sufficiently strong to protect itself against any possible threat through Tibet and its northern approaches, Ayub said. What India plans, he contended, is to use its increasing strength against its small neighbor nations, or intimidate them.

For Pakistan, he said, "the most important thing is self-preservation."

ALEXANDRIA RESEARCH

2 State Solons Ask For Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Gillis W. Long and Joe D. Waggoner, Louisiana Democrats, urged a House appropriations subcommittee Friday to provide $200,000 for complete staffing of the forest products research laboratory at Alexandria, La.

Congress appropriated $900,000 over the past two years for construction of this facility but the president's budget for the year beginning next July 1 does not include any funds for staffing and operation.

The congressmen joined with Warren E. Deitrich of Minden, president of the Louisiana Forestry Association, and Charles H. Lewis Jr., of Alexandria, executive director, in asking for money for scientists and research technicians.

They asked for $150,000 to begin a two-year staffing program which ultimately would employ 10 scientists at the laboratory.

"The economic progress of this entire area is largely dependent upon the progress of research in the field of wood products," Lewis said.

Dietrich also urged appropriation of $50,000 to fully staff an insect research division at Alexandria.

"For several years now, losses to insects and disease in the southern pine region have exceeded forest fire losses to a considerable degree," Dietrich said.

ALEXANDRIA RESEARCH

2 State Solons Ask For Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Gillis W. Long and Joe D. Waggoner, Louisiana Democrats, urged a House appropriations subcommittee Friday to provide $200,000 for complete staffing of the forest products research laboratory at Alexandria, La.

Congress appropriated $900,000 over the past two years for construction of this facility but the president's budget for the year beginning next July 1 does not include any funds for staffing and operation.

The congressmen joined with Warren E. Deitrich of Minden, president of the Louisiana Forestry Association, and Charles H. Lewis Jr., of Alexandria, executive director, in asking for money for scientists and research technicians.

They asked for $150,000 to begin a two-year staffing program which ultimately would employ 10 scientists at the laboratory.

"The economic progress of this entire area is largely dependent upon the progress of research in the field of wood products," Lewis said.

Dietrich also urged appropriation of $50,000 to fully staff an insect research division at Alexandria.

"For several years now, losses to insects and disease in the southern pine region have exceeded forest fire losses to a considerable degree," Dietrich said.

LONG ARM?

For your bath, a long handled bath brush is essential unless you have a long arm, that is, if you wish to reach the middle of your back.

VALUABLE OUTPOST

Prize From War Is U.S. Bastion

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Won as a battle prize in World War II, the Ryukyu Islands stand today as America's most valuable military outpost in the Western Pacific.

There are immense diplomatic and economic problems in ruling an island chain that is 6,000 miles from the U.S. mainland—and only 364 miles from Red China.

The United States has poured more than a billion dollars into the islands it holds under terms of the Japanese peace treaty.

There is a vast network of air fields and Marine and paratroop camps scattered across the rocky, barren islands. Hillside arsenals hold deadly weapons of all types, military roads and firing ranges abound, and ports have been outfitted to handle ships of the roving 7th Fleet.

This activity hasn't enchanted the islanders. The common cry for years has been a return to Japanese control. Some charge their islands have been turned into a U.S. colony. Leftists in Japan and elsewhere riase the cry of "U.S. imperialism."

Pressed from all sides to justify U.S. rule on Okinawa Island and the 72 smaller Ryukyus, U.S. diplomats publicly recognize Japan's "residual sovereignty" but explain America will retain control until "threat and tension" no longer exist in the Far East.

Of all U.S. military complexes in Asia, this is the only one in which American commanders have complete political control. They can come and go without seeking permission from a host government.

Japan, despite the U.S.-Japan security treaty, protests every time an American plane is flown into an Asian hot spot from Japan. So far, U.S. nuclear-powered submarines are barred from entering Japanese ports to give shore leaves to crewmen.

Caraway on U.S. treaty rights in the Ryukyus: "We can do anything we need to except give them away."

Caraway has carried forward major economic, judicial and educational reforms in his two years as high commissioner.

The highest-ranking American civilian to enter the Ryukyuan government was Shannon McCune, appointed civil administrator in June 1962. McCune resigned in January, saying he wanted to return to the academic world as assistant to the president of the University of Illinois.

Informed sources, however, say McCune and Caraway differed greatly on the degree of autonomy to be permitted the weak Ryukyuan legislature and chief executive, Seisaku Ota.

All bills passed by the 29-seat legislature must be approved by Caraway, and its nominees for chief executive must receive the general's approval.

Both sides seem to agree, however, on one point: the islanders do not have the fiscal and technical skills needed to radically improve their own economy.

Under American direction, the economy has made great progress. The islands once were considered the poorest of all Japan's prefectures but today rank ahead of at least eight prefectures in per capita income, purchasing power, and other economic indicators.

Caraway's deputies estimate the United States has funneled in about $150 million in economic aid since 1945, plus about $117 million annually spent by GIs.

Japan, anxious to keep its foot in the door, increased economic aid from $417,000 in fiscal 1963 to about $8 million for 1964. But in terms of gathering in dollars, Japan and not the United States benefits.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is impossible to carry out beauty routines efficiently unless we have good equipment to work with. I am not talking about our skin and eyes and hair but the actual items we need to groom ourselves properly. Check your bathroom and dressing table stocks.

You will need nail scissors for cutting toenails and cuticle clippers to use in case of an unexpected hangnail. It is better not to cut the cuticle if you can avoid doing so. Instead it should be pushed back gently. However if you have been careless and allowed the skin about your nails to become dry, then the clippers will be necessary at such times. The regular use of a cuticle cream or oil will keep the skin soft.

NAIL BRUSH TOO

So, we have nail scissors, cuticle clippers and a cuticle oil or cream to start with. We will also need a nail brush and some emery boards. Even if you have your nails done professionally you will sometimes wish for one of these to smooth off any rough nail edge which may appear. It is also a good idea to use the emery board on toenails after cutting them. The least roughness will cause a run in stockings.

Most women need tweezers or a facial depilatory. They also require a regular depilatory or a razor, electric or otherwise.

A medium-soft, smaller brush is splendid for the rough skin on the feet. A rough washcloth should be used all over the body.

These items do not reflect the world of special skin care and makeup; soaps, cleansing and lubricating creams, moisturizing lotions, body and hand hand cream or lotion, bath oils and bath powder, eyebrow pencils, mascara, shadow, rouge, foundation bases and face powders.

Rights Agitator Group Ignored At Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A drive to get 1,000 students at all-Negro Arkansas AM&N College to march on a segregated cafe fizzled Friday.

The students ignored pleas of civil rights organizers.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus had called the racial situation in this southeast Arkansas city threatening and said state police had implemented an antiriot plan.

The state police office said extra troopers had been alerted and that some troopers attended a meeting in Pine Bluff on Thursday night.

The Student Government Association called on assembly at the college and when it was over, H. Beecher Hicks Jr., president of the association, said no mass demonstrations were planned by students.

State police said earlier they had been informed that civil rights forces were trying to get 1,000 students to march on the cafe at which Negro comedian Dick Gregory was arrested Monday.

William Hanse, a white field secretary for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and 40 other Negroes also were arrested in demonstrations at the cafe this week.

Gregory was released from jail on bond Friday. He told a news conference that he talked by telephone twice with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Gregory said Kennedy was sending FBI agents to investigate "unhuman" conditions in the jail.

Hicks said the students formed a committee of 21 persons to discuss race relations and report back to the student body.

The cafe was not specifically mentioned at the assembly, Hicks said. But Dr. Lawrence Davis, president of the college, advised the students against participating in mass demonstrations.

Davis told newsmen SNCC was an instigator of racial unrest and had made repeated efforts to involve the college in its work in Pine Bluff. AM&N never has been involved to any degree and only four of the 42 arrested this week were students at the college.

State To Close Feliciana Ferry

BATON ROUGE (AP) —The Highway Department will discontinue Mississippi River ferry service at St. Francisville for a three-hour period beginning at 7 p.m. Friday, Highway Director Ray Burgess said.

The ferry Feliciana must be moved to a shipyard for repairs. The three-hour period will be needed, Burgess said, to make alterations to the landing pontoons and move in a replacement ferry.

TELLS OF BANK DEAL

Associate Says Baker Borrows

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, who a year ago claimed a net worth of over $2 million and powerful friends in the Senate, was pictured Friday as a borrower of small sums totaling about $1,000 in the past couple of months.

The testimony came from one of Baker's business associates, Fred B. Black Jr., who said he held a block of bank stock recommended by the late multi-millionaire Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., for Baker, but that Baker never came up with his share of the money.

Black told the Senate Rules Committee at a closed session last Monday that he borrowed $175,000 to buy 6,400 shares of stock in the Farmers & Merchants State Bank in Tulsa after Kerr told him it would be "a fine investment."

The committee, which is seeking to determine whether Baker, 35, misused his official position while serving as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, released Black's testimony Friday.

At the same time Baker's lawyer, Edward Benett Williams told a reporter the former Senate aide is in the clear on possible contempt of Congress charges growing out of his refusal to submit his financial records to the committee.

Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7, was subpoenaed before a closed session last Wednesday and is due to reappear before the committee next Tuesday, this time at an open hearing.

Commenting on a statement by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., that Baker was in contempt the moment he appeared before the committee without the subpoenaed records, Williams said: "It's a lot of humbug when they say we didn't bring the records with us. Baker had in his briefcase all of the subpoenaed records—whatever is in existence—when he appeared."

Black, Washington representative of North American Aviation Corp., is listed in committee records as co-owner with Baker of 57 per cent of the stock of the Serv-U Corp., a vending machine firm that has lucrative franchises with North American and the Northrop Corp., another big aerospace defense contractor.

Black told the committee that at Kerr's suggestion he made an oral agreement with Baker to sell Baker half of his $175,000 worth of stock in the Tulsa bank "at any time that he could come up with the money."

Kerr told him, Black said, that except for his wife and his sons he "never loved a man so much as he did Bobby Baker."

Black said he was able to borrow the $175,000 from the Fidelity National Bank & Trust Co. of Oklahoma City after Kerr, who controlled the bank, introduced him by telephone to the bank's president. That was on March 20, 1962. Kerr died on Jan. 1, 1963.

When Baker was unable to pay for his share, Black said, he sold about half of the Tulsa bank stock to Edward Levinson, whom he described as a Las Vegas gambler, and Benjamin Sigelbaum, a Miami real estate operator.

Black said he sold 1,500 shares to Levinson and 1,600 shares to Sigelbuam to "help protect me on the amount of money that the note was for, so that I could not suffer a terrible loss if the stock went down instead of up."

He said the stock "hasn't had any phenomenal rise" but he thought it is now worth $6 or $7 a share more than he paid for it.

Black said Baker concurred in his decision to sell the stock to Levinson and Sigelbaum, who are described as financial backers of the Serv-U Corp.

Asked if Kerr helped Baker in financial transactions, Black replied: "I can only answer that by saying that Sen. Kerr told me that there wasn't anything in the world that Bobby Baker would ask him to do for him, if he had the power to do it, that he would not do."

Black expressed the opinion that Serv-U's prospects have been hurt by the publicity about the committee's investigation.

"I wouldn't pay one-tenth the money today for the stock that I bought that I paid for it when I bought it," he said.

The committee has been told that Baker and Black paid $1 a share for their Serv-U stock when the company was organized late in 1961 and early in 1962. Baker has valued his 2,850 shares of Serv-U stock at $1 million, and listed other assets of $1.1 million.

In the last 60 days, Black said, he has loaned Baker about $1,000 in small amounts at a time. He said he didn't know if Baker wanted it to meet expenses.

Kennon Rejects Offer Of Post By McKeithen

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Democratic nominee John McKeithen will begin a new search today for an expert in the State Sovereignty field to serve under his administration if he is elected in the March 3rd general election.

Former governor Robert Kennon turned down an appointment offer from McKeithen yesterday. Kennon said he was willing to work with McKeithen for state sovereignty but preferred to do so "without the acceptance of a state position."

Former Ambassador Morrison and Superintendent of Education Shelby Jackson accepted the offers.

Morrison is to head a fresh program to expand Louisiana industry while Jackson is to direct an Americanism education program.

Kennon said he was approached by a McKeithen aide with an appointment offer. "I told him I would continue to work for state sovereignty and would cooperate with him and others working for the same objective" the former governor said. "But I prefer to do so without acceptance of a state position."

U.S. To Open Polaris Base Near Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The United States has announced the opening of a new Polaris submarine base at Rota on Spain's south coast. The announcement came almost at the moment a dispute between Washington and Madrid over the latter's continued trade with Cuba appeared to be reaching a climax which could result in withdrawal of American military aid.

Use of the joint U.S.-Spanish naval and air base at Rota as headquarters for Mediterranean-based missile firing submarines had been under discussion for months. But no formal announcement was made until a naval spokesman in Scotland—near the Holy Loch Polaris base—announced transfer of the submarine tender Proteus to Rota.

Spanish and American quarters here were puzzled as to why the announcement came not from the Spanish or American government, but from the relatively remote U.S. base in Scotland.

Officials at Rota confirmed the Proteus was en route there from Scotland, and probably would arrive Monday. Staff members of the submarine squadron already are in Rota.

Gen. Francisco Franco's Cabinet discussed the development Friday in the context of diplomatic discussions now going on in Washington. These concern U.S. insistence, under the latest aid law, that Spain curb its air and sea commerce with Castro Cuba, a step which this regime has refused to do.

The Catholic daily newspaper Ya said editorially the Washington policy of threatening to withdraw aid from those who maintain contacts with Cuba appeared to be confusion rather than policy. The Spanish government has held that it has as much right to deal with Cuba as the United States has to sell wheat to the Soviet Union.

Establishment of the Polaris base at Rota was another step in the reshaping of U.S. defense activities in Spain under an agreement which began in 1953 and was renewed for five years last September.

One of the three Strategic Air Command bases, Zaragoza, will be phased out by the middle of 1964. It is probable at least one of the other two will be closed as B47 nuclear bombers, major weapon at the Spanish-U.S. bases, are declared obsolete.

Defense activity then is expected to center at Rota, on the Bay of Cadiz. It has an ideal location, on the Atlantic with easy access to the west but close enough to the Mediterranean to make servicing of submarines based there relatively easy.

Older Brother Of Lee Oswald To Give Story

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The older brother of accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald spent 11 hours Friday telling the Warren commission about the life of the man believed to have killed President John F. Kennedy.

Robert L. Oswald, a 29-year-old sales coordinator for a Denton, Tex., brick firm, then cancelled a plane reservation and agreed to stay on in Washington and continue briefing the commission today.

Former Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) Director Allen W. Dulles said Oswald's information was not "startling, but has been helpful."

Oswald was telling the commission his life story as it related to his brother, and was identifying correspondence and other documents he presented to the group investigating the assassination.

Dulles called Oswald "a very cooperative witness." He said commission members had asked Oswald a number of penetrating questions "and he has answered questions for 11 hours."

Rancher Killed In Plane Crash

GILLETTE, Wyo. (UPI) — A rancher was killed Friday when his single-engine plane crashed while he was using it to drive a herd of wild antelope within range of cameras shooting film for a special network television wildlife program.

Chuck Beach, a cameraman from Casper, Wyo., television station KTWO, said he saw Marquiss's plane spin out of control and disappear behind a hill.

BERRYVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Flames swept through a barn on the Rosemont estate of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., Friday, causing an estimated $40,000 in damages and claiming the life of the senator's favorite dog.

VALUABLE OUTPOST

Prize From War Is U.S. Bastion

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Won as a battle prize in World War II, the Ryukyu Islands stand today as America's most valuable military outpost in the Western Pacific.

After 19 years, U.S. rule over 900,000 islanders seems destined to go on without any let up, despite some rumbling from the natives.

Any postwar plans to return the islands to Japan vanished with the rise of Communist China.

There are immense diplomatic and economic problems in ruling an island chain that is 6,000 miles from the U.S. mainland—and only 364 miles from Red China.

The United States has poured more than a billion dollars into the islands it holds under terms of the Japanese peace treaty.

There is a vast network of air fields and Marine and paratroop camps scattered across the rocky, barren islands. Hillside arsenals hold deadly weapons of all types, military roads and firing ranges abound, and ports have been outfitted to handle ships of the roving 7th Fleet.

This activity hasn't enchanted the islanders. The common cry for years has been a return to Japanese control. Some charge their islands have been turned into a U.S. colony. Leftists in Japan and elsewhere riase the cry of "U.S. imperialism."

Japan, now a major U.S. ally in the Far East, frequently says it wants to get back the islands it lost in 1945.

Pressed from all sides to justify U.S. rule on Okinawa Island and the 72 smaller Ryukyus, U.S. diplomats publicly recognize Japan's "residual sovereignty" but explain America will retain control until "threat and tension" no longer exist in the Far East.

Privately, they heatedly express their intention of doing everything within their power to preserve the Ryukyus as a stable base for defensive or offensive operations.

Of all U.S. military complexes in Asia, this is the only one in which American commanders have complete political control. They can come and go without seeking permission from a host government.

Japan, despite the U.S.-Japan security treaty, protests every time an American plane is flown into an Asian hot spot from Japan. So far, U.S. nuclear-powered submarines are barred from entering Japanese ports to give shore leaves to crewmen.

U.S. military men say that if the Japanese regain control of the Ryukyus, the islands will become a politically unreliable base.

The distance to a base with comparable facilities is long—4,103 miles southeast across the vast Pacific to Hawaii and out of easy striking range from the Asian mainland.

Sustaining a "favorable climate" in the Ryukyus for continued military operations is the job of Lt. Paul W. Caraway, high commissioner and top-ranking official among the 60,000 Americans in the islands.

Caraway on U.S. treaty rights in the Ryukyus: "We can do anything we need to except give them away."

Caraway has carried forward major economic, judicial and educational reforms in his two years as high commissioner.

The highest-ranking American civilian to enter the Ryukyuan government was Shannon McCune, appointed civil administrator in June 1962. McCune resigned in January, saying he wanted to return to the academic world as assistant to the president of the University of Illinois.

Informed sources, however, say McCune and Caraway differed greatly on the degree of autonomy to be permitted the weak Ryukyuan legislature and chief executive, Seisaku Ota.

All bills passed by the 29-seat legislature must be approved by Caraway, and its nominees for chief executive must receive the general's approval.

Some civilians complain that a colonial mentality exists in the islands, with the U.S. military vastly underrating the islanders' abilities to develop administrative skills and greater self-government.

Both sides seem to agree, however, on one point: the islanders do not have the fiscal and technical skills needed to radically improve their own economy.

Under American direction, the economy has made great progress. The islands once were considered the poorest of all Japan's prefectures but today rank ahead of at least eight prefectures in per capita income, purchasing power, and other economic indicators.

Caraway's deputies estimate the United States has funneled in about $150 million in economic aid since 1945, plus about $117 million annually spent by GIs.

Japan, anxious to keep its foot in the door, increased economic aid from $417,000 in fiscal 1963 to about $8 million for 1964. But in terms of gathering in dollars, Japan and not the United States benefits.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is impossible to carry out bauty routines efficiently unless we have good equipment to work with. I am not talking about our skin and eyes and hair, but the actual items we need to groom ourselves properly. Check your bathroom and dressing table stocks.

You will need nail scissors for cutting toenails and cuticle clippers to use in case of an unexpected hangnail. It is better not to cut the cuticle if you can avoid doing so. Instead it should be pushed back gently. However if you have been careless and allowed the skin about your nails to become dry, then the clippers will be necessary at such times. The regular use of a cuticle cream or oil will keep the skin soft.

NAIL BRUSH TOO

So, we have nail scissors, cuticle clippers and a cuticle oil or cream to start with. We will also need a nail brush and some emery boards. Even if you have your nails done professionally you will sometimes wish for one of these to smooth off any rough nail edge which may appear. It is also a good idea to use the emery board on toenails after cutting them. The least roughness will cause a run in stockings.

Most women need tweezers or a facial depilatory. They also require a regular depilatory or a razor, electric or otherwise.

You need a magnifying glass. Half - glasses are splendid for making up the brows. You will need tissues.

A medium-soft, smaller brush is splendid for the rough skin on the feet. A rough washcloth should be used all over the body.

These items do not reflect the world of special skin care and makeup; soaps, cleansing and lubricating creams, moisturizing lotions, body and hand hand cream or lotion, bath oils and bath powder, eyebrow pencils, mascara, shadow, rouge, foundation bases and face powders.

Rights Agitator Group Ignored At Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A drive to get 1,000 students at all-Negro Arkansas AM&N College to march on a segregated cafe fizzled Friday.

The students ignored pleas of civil rights organizers.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus had called the racial situation in this southeast Arkansas city threatening and said state police had implemented an antiriot plan.

The state police office said extra troopers had been alerted and that some troopers attended a meeting in Pine Bluff on Thursday night.

The Student Government Association called o1 assembly at the college and when it was over, H. Beecher Hicks Jr., president of the association, said no mass demonstrations were planned by students.

State police said earlier they had been informed that civil rights forces were trying to get 1,000 students to march on the cafe at which Negro comedian Dick Gregory was arrested Monday.

William Hanse, a white field secretary for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and 40 other Negroes also were arrested in demonstrations at the cafe this week.

A field secretary for SNCC said earlier Friday that an attempt was being made to recruit students for a demonstration at the cafe.

Gregory was released from jail on bond Friday. He told a news conference that he talked by telephone twice with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Gregory said Kennedy was sending FBI agents to investigate "unhuman" conditions in the jail.

The cafe, the Truckers Inn, was closed during the student assembly and remained closed Friday night.

Hicks said the students formed a committee of 21 persons to discuss race relations and report back to the student body.

The cafe was not specifically mentioned at the assembly, Hicks said. But Dr. Lawrence Davis, president of the college, advised the students against participating in mass demonstrations.

Davis said mass demonstrations are "unfeasible, unsafe and would make no contribution" to improving race relations.

Davis told newsmen SNCC was an instigator of racial unrest and had made repeated efforts to involve the college in its work in Pine Bluff. AM&N never has been involved to any degree and only four of the 42 arrested this week were students at the college.

State To Close Feliciana Ferry

BATON ROUGE (AP) —The Highway Department will discontinue Mississippi River ferry service at St. Francisville for a three-hour period beginning at 7 p.m. Friday, Highway Director Ray Burgess said.

The ferry Feliciana must be moved to a shipyard for repairs. The three-hour period will be needed, Burgess said, to make alterations to the landing pontoons and move in a replacement ferry.

TELLS OF BANK DEAL

Associate Says Baker Borrows

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, who a year ago claimed a net worth of over $2 million and powerful friends in the Senate, was pictured Friday as a borrower of small sums totaling about $1,000 in the past couple of months.

The testimony came from one of Baker's business associates, Fred B. Black Jr., who said he held a block of bank stock recommended by the late multimillionaire Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., for Baker, but that Baker never came up with his share of the money.

Black told the Senate Rules Committee at a closed session last Monday that he borrowed $175,000 to buy 6,400 shares of stock in the Farmers & Merchants State Bank in Tulsa after Kerr told him it would be "a fine investment."

The committee, which is seeking to determine whether Baker, 35, misused his official position while serving as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, released Black's testimony Friday.

At the same time Baker's lawyer, Edward Benett Williams told a reporter the former Senate aide is in the clear on possible contempt of Congress charges growing out of his refusal to submit his financial records to the committee.

Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7, was subpoenaed before a closed session last Wednesday and is due to reappear before the committee next Tuesday, this time at an open hearing.

Commenting on a statement by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., that Baker was in contempt the moment he appeared before the committee without the subpoenaed records, Williams said: "It's a lot of humbug when they say we didn't bring the records with us. Baker had in his briefcase all of the subpoenaed records—whatever is in existence—when he appeared."

Black, Washington representative of North American Aviation Corp., is listed in committee records as co-owner with Baker of 57 per cent of the stock of the Serv-U Corp., a vending machine firm that has lucrative franchises with North American and the Northrop Corp., another big aerospace defense contractor.

Black told the committee that at Kerr's suggestion he made an oral agreement with Baker to sell Baker half of his $175,000 worth of stock in the Tulsa bank "at any time that he could come up with the money."

Kerr told him, Black said, that except for his wife and his sons he "never loved a man so much as he did Bobby Baker."

Black said he was able to borrow the $175,000 from the Fidelity National Bank & Trust Co. of Oklahoma City after Kerr, who controlled the bank, introduced him by telephone to the bank's president. That was on March 20, 1962. Kerr died on Jan. 1, 1963.

When Baker was unable to pay for his share, Black said, he sold about half of the Tulsa bank stock to Edward Levinson, whom he described as a Las Vegas gambler, and Benjamin Sigelbaum, a Miami real estate operator.

Black said he sold 1,500 shares to Levinson and 1,600 shares to Sigelbuam to "help protect me on the amount of money that the note was for, so that I could not suffer a terrible loss if the stock went down instead of up."

He said the stock "hasn't had any phenomenal rise" but he thought it is now worth $6 or $7 a share more than he paid for it.

Black said Baker concurred in his decision to sell the stock to Levinson and Sigelbaum, who are described as financial backers of the Serv-U Corp.

Black testified he became a gin rummy playing partner of Kerr after Baker introduced him to the senator.

Asked if Kerr helped Baker in financial transactions, Black replied: "I can only answer that by saying that Sen. Kerr told me that there wasn't anything in the world that Bobby Baker would ask him to do for him, if he had the power to do it, that he would not do."

Black expressed the opinion that Serv-U's prospects have been hurt by the publicity about the committee's investigation.

"I wouldn't pay one-tenth the money today for the stock that I bought that I paid for it when I bought it," he said.

The committee has been told that Baker and Black paid $1 a share for their Serv-U stock when the company was organized late in 1961 and early in 1962. Baker has valued his 2,850 shares of Serv-U stock at $1 million, and listed other assets of $1.1 million.

In the last 60 days, Black said, he has loaned Baker about $1,000 in small amounts at a time. He said he didn't know if Baker wanted it to meet expenses.

Kennon Rejects Offer Of Post By McKeithen

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Democratic nominee John McKeithen will begin a new search today for an expert in the State Sovereignty field to serve under his administration if he is elected in the March 3rd general election.

Former governor Robert Kennon turned down an appointment offer from McKeithen yesterday. Kennon said he was willing to work with McKeithen for state sovereignty but preferred to do so "without the acceptance of a state position."

McKeithen offered three of his former opponents positions in his administration if he is elected in the March 3 general election.

Former Ambassador Morrison and Superintendent of Education Shelby Jackson accepted the offers.

Morrison is to head a fresh program to expand Louisiana industry while Jackson is to direct an Americanism education program.

Kennon said he was approached by a McKeithen aide with an appointment offer. "I told him I would continue to work for state sovereignty and would cooperate with him and others working for the same objective" the former governor said. "But I prefer to do so without acceptance of a state position."

U.S. To Open Polaris Base Near Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The United States has announced the opening of a new Polaris submarine base at Rota on Spain's south coast. The announcement came almost at the moment a dispute between Washington and Madrid over the latter's continued trade with Cuba appeared to be reaching a climax which could result in withdrawal of American military aid.

Use of the joint U.S.-Spanish naval and air base at Rota as headquarters for Mediterranean-based missile-firing submarines had been under discussion for months. But no formal announcement was made until a naval spokesman in Scotland—near the Holy Loch Polaris base—announced transfer of the submarine tender Proteus to Rota.

Spanish and American quarters here were puzzled as to why the announcement came, not from the Spanish or American government, but from the relatively remote U.S. base in Scotland.

Officials at Rota confirmed the Proteus was en route there from Scotland, and probably would arrive Monday. Staff members of the submarine squadron already are in Rota.

Gen. Francisco Franco's Cabinet discussed the development Friday in the context of diplomatic discussions now going on in Washington. These concern U.S. insistence, under the latest aid law, that Spain curb its air and sea commerce with Castro Cuba, a step which this regime has refused to do.

The Catholic daily newspaper Ya said editorially the Washington policy of threatening to withdraw aid from those who maintain contacts with Cuba appeared to be confusion rather than policy. The Spanish government has held that it has as much right to deal with Cuba as the United States has to sell wheat to the Soviet Union.

Establishment of the Polaris base at Rota was another step in the reshaping of U.S. defense activities in Spain under an agreement which began in 1953 and was renewed for five years last September.

One of the three Strategic Air Command bases, Zaragoza, will be phased out by the middle of 1964. It is probable at least one of the other two will be closed as B47 nuclear bombers, major weapon at the Spanish-U.S. bases, are declared obsolete.

Defense activity then is expected to center at Rota, on the Bay of Cadiz. It has an ideal location, on the Atlantic with easy access to the west but close enough to the Mediterranean to make servicing of submarines based there relatively easy.

Older Brother Of Lee Oswald To Give Story

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The older brother of accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald spent 11 hours Friday telling the Warren commission about the life of the man believed to have killed President John F. Kennedy.

Robert L. Oswald, a 29-year-old sales coordinator for a Denton, Tex., brick firm, then cancelled a plane reservation and agreed to stay on in Washington and continue briefing the commission today.

Former Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) Director Allen W. Dulles said Oswald's information was not "startling, but has been helpful."

Oswald was telling the commission his life story as it related to his brother, and was identifying correspondence and other documents he presented to the group investigating the assassination.

Dulles called Oswald "a very cooperative witness." He said commission members had asked Oswald a number of penetrating questions "and he has answered questions for 11 hours."

Rancher Killed In Plane Crash

GILLETTE, Wyo. (UPI) — A rancher was killed Friday when his single-engine plane crashed while he was using it to drive a herd of wild antelope within range of cameras shooting film for a special network television wildlife program.

Chuck Beach, a cameraman from Casper, Wyo., television station KTWO, said he saw Marquiss's plane spin out of control and disappear behind a hill.

Senator's Barn Razed By Fire

BERRYVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Flames swept through a barn on the Rosemont estate of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., Friday, causing an estimated $40,000 in damages and claiming the life of the senator's favorite dog.

Local Hospital Audit Is Made

The annual audit of the Glenwood Hospital, Hospital Service District Number one, was performed Friday by Richard Young, assistant to the supervisor of public funds.

A report of the audit will be issued to the local board of commissioners of the district after the audit has been sent to the state supervisor in Baton Rouge for review.

FOUNDATION'S TOP HONOR

Glenn Given Award By Freedom Group

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — John H. Glenn Jr., the Marine astronaut who now seeks to become a U.S. senator, Friday night was named winner of the Freedom Foundation's highest honor "for his exemplary citizenship in boyhood and manhood."

Besides Glenn, who will get the $5,000 George Washington Award, the foundation honored 922 other individuals, schools, businesses and organizations for things they wrote, said, did or photographed during 1963, "to bring about a better understanding of the American way of life."

Lauris Norstead, retired Air Force general who once commanded North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe, was hailed as an "ambassador of freedom for the U.S.A." and given a special freedom leadership award. He was cited particularly "for developing sentineled solidarity among our Western allies for the protection of free men and nations."

National recognition awards were awarded to three women and two men who, the foundation said, "have shown resoluteness of personal faith and character, creativeness of mind and sacrifice of heart for the republic."

They are Mrs. Margaret Long Arnold, Concord, N.H., president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; V. M. Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune; Russell Potter Reeder Jr., retired Army colonel of West Point, N.Y.; Sharon Sue Rountree, San Angelo, Tex., youth leader, and Mrs. Elfrieda Freeman Tice, of Mitchell, S.D., national president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Glenn was cited "for nobly yet humbly personifying the American way of life by sincere patriotic words and deeds in our country's hours of challenge and for inspiring all Americans in actively espousing resolute, responsible and reverent patriotism, by boldly speaking for this republic under God."

Previous winners of the top award in the 15-year history of the nonpartisan, nonsectarian foundation include former President Herbert Hoover, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and U.S. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

The presentation of the top awards will be made Saturday at Valley Forge, on the 232nd anniversary of George Washington's birthday.

3-Day Stumping Tour Launched By McKeithen

JENA (Special) — Democratic gubernatorial nominee John McKeithen, beginning a three-day stumping tour, said here Friday that Louisiana "must have a new erea, a new way of life if she is to realize her great potential."

McKeithen said, "This new era must be ushered in by economy and efficiency in government. Let us begin with a code of ethics for elected and appointed officials, including the governor. Public office is a sacred trust, we will spend four years living up to that trust."

McKeithen suggested that "the governor and the legislature set the example of economy in government by agreeing to reduce both the salaries of the legislature and the governor."

"Let us clearly show to one and all," McKeithen continued, "that good and efficient government must and will begin at the top. Louisiana must live within its budget and Louisiana's government must do away with frills and unnecessary spending."

McKeithen went on, "We must turn the full force of the government upon the very real problems that face us, essentials such as education, adequate teachers and school personnel salaries and those other important elements that can gete us moving ahead.

"And above all else, let us end the political bickering and infighting that have torn this state apart, that have afforded the rest of the world with interesting headlines. While we got the headlines, our sister states got new industry and much needed jobs for their people."

McKeithen concluded, "the time is at hand for Louisiana and her people to realize the blessings which the All Mighty has showered upon this state."

Japanese Okay U.S. Discharges

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government has agreed to a U. S. request to discharge about 6,000 Japanese employes at U.S. military bases in Japan by next October, the defense agency disclosed Friday.

A spokesman for the agency said the reduction will be carried out in line with Washington's policy to slash dollar spending overseas. Approximately 50,000 Japanese are presently employed at American military facilities throughout Japan.

Image Of New Hampshire As Staid Is Misleading

(EDITOR'S NOTE—You know New Hampshire. Home of the stern Yankee, working his rocky farm, eschewing "sin." Right? You couldn't be wronger. Today's New Hampshiremen more likely is of Irish or French-Canadian stock, works in a factory and provides most of the state's income through "sin taxes." Here's a fresh look at the Granite State, site of the nation's first presidential primary on March 10, by an Associated Press writer who traveled the state's cities and towns.)

It comes to mind about this time every four years when folksy strangers begin exploring the electoral byways of New Hampshire in hopes that one of them will lead to the road that leads to the White House.

But the recurring image is not quite accurate.

Instead of a farmhouse, a New Hampshire voter is more likely to have just left a textile mill in Manchester or a shoe factory in Rochester or a paper mill in Berlin or a half-finished atomic submarine in the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

He may have a Yankee twang and attend the traditional Yankee Congregational Church on Sunday morning, but it is quite likely, too, that he is of Irish or French - Canadian descent and he goes to a Roman Catholic mass on the Sabbath. Two in five New Hampshire people are Catholic.

The chances are good that he is a Republican but if he lives in one of three counties they are equally good that he is a Democrat. Hillsborough, Coos and Strafford counties have broken Democratic ranks only for Dwight D. Eisenhower in the past 32 years.

By a 1962 U.S. Department of Agriculture count, there were only 7,000 farmers and 3,000 hired farm hands. At the same time, the nonagricultural labor force totalled 205,000 and 89,000 of them were engaged in some form of manufacturing.

In some places around Laconia in the heart of the state farming was given up so long ago that trees 50 or 60 years old can be found growing through the stone walls that once divided the small, neat, rocky farms from their small, neat, rocky neighbors.

One of the few New Hampshiremen who resemble the traditional picture is Holman J. Amey of Pittsburg on the Canadian border, who was born some 60 years ago in the same house he lives in today. He farms about 100 of his 1,200 acres.

From a window of his farm house just off U.S. Route 3, Amey can see the result—people from Pittsburg, some of them ex-farmers, driving down to Beecher Falls, Vt., to work in the furniture factory.

By at least one standard, New Hampshire is the second most highly industrialized state in the union. Some 15 per cent of its total population works at manufacturing. Only Connecticut has a higher ratio.

The heart of industrial New Hampshire is the Merrimack River Valley, which includes the state's two largest cities, Manchester, 88,282, and Nashua, 39,096. One out of every five New Hampshiremen live in either Manchester of Nashua, pronounced locally Nashah-way.

There is nothing of colonial New England about Manchester. There shouldn't be. It never was colonial. It was named Manchester 150 years ago after the English textile center with the hope that it too would one day be a great mill city. It was.

The drab, red-brick mill buildings that line the riverfront are the relics of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co., once the largest cotton mill in the world. Amoskeag designed, built and nourished Manchester. And almost destroyed it.

At its peak about 50 years ago, Amoskeag employed 17,000 workers. It was down to about 7,000 in December, 1935, when the mill closed its doors and slipped into bankruptcy. Middle-aging Manchesterites still remember the time vividly as "black Christmas."

Today, Manchester industry is more diversified. In addition to textile mills and shoe factories, there is a growing electronics industry, an offshoot of the electronics complex in Massachusetts, which is within an hour's driving time of Manchester.

Allan V. Evans, New Hampshire's director of economic development, estimates that in some lower New Hampshire towns almost one half of the workers travel to jobs in Boston or the plants that line Route 128.

Many residents of south New Hampshire are former Massachusetts people, who have fled the crowded suburbs of Boston. They have helped to change the face of the Granite State, politically at least.

People who come from urban areas like Massachusetts are more inclined to be Democrats," says New Hampshire Gov. John W. King, who has benefited by the shift. He's the first Democratic governor of New Hampshire in 40 years.

The largest single industrial employer in New Hampshire is the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, which strangely enough is neither in Portsmouth nor New Hampshire. It's in adjacent Kittery, Maine, but more than half of its 8,500 workers live in New Hampshire.

Portsmouth is unique in New Hampshire in that it is the only area with an appreciable Negro population. The state has only 1,903 Negroes by latest count and 1,300 of them live in Portsmouth or neighboring Newington.

The dominant industrial force in New Hampshire's north country is the Brown Company, which exists in almost baronial isolation in Berlin, pronounced Ber-lin.

Brown Company, a paper and pulpwood firm, owns most of northern New Hampshire, including whole but uninhabited townships. It pays 52 per cent of the taxes of Berlin, pop. 17,821 and 60 per cent of the taxes of Gorham, pop. 3,039.

A year ago, when Brown closed one of its pulp mills, some 3,000 workers were left without jobs. Most of them simply packed up and left Berlin. There were no other opportunities for them.

"The job loss was among the skilled younger men," says Edward J. Reichert, assistant secretary of Brown Company. "The union seniority rules says the last hired is the first fired. We lost many of our best men."

The loss of youth is a problem throughout New Hampshire. Eleven per cent of its population is 65 or more. Only three states have more.

Young people think there is no opportunity here," says Evans. "Right now we are trying to attract skilled laborers and technicians in the 30-40 age group and we are emphasizing the establishment of technical schools."

Berlin is also where French New Hampshire starts. One in every six New Hampshiremen is of French - Canadian descent. Berlin is 70 per cent French. The ratio of Frenchmen is higher in Manchester, too.

They filtered down from Canada's Quebec Province in the late 1800s and early 1900s to work in the mills in the Merrimack River Valley and the logging camps in Coos (pronounced Koh-oss), the northernmost of New Hampshire's 10 counties.

Perhaps it's the French influence that has given New Hampshire a more relaxed atmosphere than one would expect in a state founded by Puritan colonists.

Anti-Smoking Bills Facing Stiff Congress Opposition

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON (Special) (CQ) — Attempting to get anti-cigarette legislation through Congress is not going to be an easy task, now or in the foreseeable future, despite the Jan. 11 Government report on the hazards of smoking.

The economic stakes to important regions in the country are high when the total value of tobacco — both as a farm commodity and as a manufactured product — is taken into consideration.

Growing tobacco or manufacturing tobacco products is a significant commercial activity in 30 of the 50 states, all with representatives in Congress who will jealously watch their states' interests. Furthermore, 47 states benefit handsomely by stiff cigarette taxes, an important source of state revenue.

In addition, there are many strategically placed Senators and Representatives on key committees that can be expected to protect tobacco against adverse reactions to the charges of health hazards.

Agriculture Department figures show that tobacco was the ninth-ranking farm commodity in sales during 1962 — 3.6 percent of all sales of agricultural products. In many states, tobacco accounted for a large percentage of cash receipts from farm income.

In North Carolina, the largest tobacco producing state, it accounted for 48.7 percent of all farm commodity sales in 1962; in Kentucky it accounted for 39.6 percent; in South Carolina, 29.3 percent; and in Virginia, 20.1 percent.

The importance of the tobacco industry to manufacturers is considerable. In 1962, the total value of manufactured tobacco products (including the immediate process of stemming and redrying) was $3 billion — with 85 percent produced in the South.

In North Carolina alone during 1958, the production of manufactured tobacco products accounted for $1.2 billion. In the same year, the value of manufactured tobacco products was $342 million outside the South.

Aided by the seniority system, there are some Southern Congressmen who will be in an advantageous position to protect tobacco interests.

Hearings began Jan. 29 in the House Agriculture Committee on a bill to conduct research into the quality and health factors of tobacco. Committee Chairman Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D N.C.) represents a district with 10,244 tobacco farms, each growing at least 10 acres of tobacco. Also representing tobacco districts on the Committee are Reps. George M. Grant (D Ala.), John L. McMillan (D S.C.), Watkins M. Abbitt (D Va.), D. R. (Billie) Matthews (D Fla.), Frank A. Stubblefield (D Ky.), G. Elliot Hagan (D Ga.), Paul B. Dague (R Pa.) and Ralph Harvey (R Ind.).

Including Chairman Cooley, the nine Members represent 37,000 tobacco farms from 9 of the 30 tobacco-producing states. It can not be expected that Cooley and his Committee will be very enthusiastic about any proposals that might discourage the sale of cigarettes, although they do favor funds for increased research.

Cooley said recently the Federal Trade Commission had no legal authority to require that every cigarette package carry a health warning. He called recent FTC proposals "absurd" and said: "I think someone in the FTC must be emotionally disturbed."

A number of legislative proposals calling for stricter advertising controls over cigarettes have been referred to the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Although not as well represented, tobacco has its allies there too. The Public Health and Safety Subcommittee is headed by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D Ala.).

Rep. William Natcher (D Ky.), who represents 6,222 tobacco farms in a state where the total manufacturing value of tobacco products was over $300 million in 1962, is a key member of the Agriculture Department Appropriations Subcommittee. The Subcommittee appropriates the funds for the extensive programs which research the means to improve the quality of tobacco and lower the cost of production.

Bills, similar to those introduced in the House, are now before the Senate Agriculture, Commerce and Labor and Public Welfare Committees. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D La.), chairman of the Agriculture Committee, has tobacco allies in Sens. Olin D. Johnson (D S.C.), Spessard L. Hollard (D Fla.), Herman E. Talmadge (D Ga.), B. Everett Jordan (D N.C.) and John Sherman Cooper (R Ky.). Jordan is Chairman of the Agriculture Research and General Legislation Subcommittee which, if hearings are held, will handle the tobacco research bills.

Tobacco interests in the Commerce Committee are represented by Sens. Strom Thurmond (D S.C.), Thruston B. Morton (R Ky.) and Hugh Scott (R Pa.). And Sen. Maurine Neuberger's (D Ore.) bill, calling for a national education program to outline the dangers of smoking, will face the watchful eye of Labor and Public Welfare Committee Chairman Lister Hill (D Ala.).

Considering the economic interests involved, and the certain Congressional opposition on some key committees, the likelihood of enacting legislation that would limit the sale and distribution of cigarettes is slim.

Federal Judges Rule Passport Law Is Invalid

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A controversial passport law has been ruled unconstitutional by a three-judge federal panel which said the government could not penalize a citizen for re-entering "the land of his allegiance."

The case arose when William Worthy, a Negro journalist from Boston, returned from Cuba on Oct. 10, 1961. He landed at Miami, Fla., and a federal grand jury there indicted him for unlawfully entering the country without a valid passport.

A trial without a jury convicted him and sentenced him to three months imprisonment and nine months on probation. He remained free on bond while asking the appeals court to decide the constitutional issues.

In its ruling Thursday, the appeals court said, "The government cannot say to its citizen, standing beyond its border, that his re-entry into the land of his allegiance is a criminal offense."

Although a citizen may have been at fault in leaving the United States without a passport, the opinion said, he could not be required "to choose between banishment or expatriation on the one hand" or "being faced with criminal punishment and the loss of some of the rights and privileges of citizenship" by returning.

Worthy, a correspondent for the Baltimore Afro-American, said in a statement after the decision that he hoped the Johnson administration "will be more enlightened than its three predecessors" on the public's "right to know and to travel."

In 1955, he traveled in Communist China and Hungary despite State Department restrictions on such travel. In 1957, he was refused a passport because he would not pledge that he would not do it again. At that time the federal courts upheld the right of the State Department to control issuance of passports. The appeals court ruling of Thursday was not involved with that phase of passport control.

Local Jaycees Plan Camp-Out For 40 Children

"Camp-Out For Handicapped Children" is the name of a new youth program of the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce.

According to Jaycee Malcolm Keith, project chairman, it is designed to "give handicapped children the opportunity to know the joys of an overnight camp-out."

First of its kind for the Jaycees, the event is slated tentatively for late March, with about 40 children expected to participate.

"Trained supervisors will be on hand to help the children, as well as both the Monroe Jaycees and Jaynes," Keith said.

Exact date, time and location will be announced later.

Image Of New Hampshire As Staid Is Misleading

(EDITOR'S NOTE—You know New Hampshire. Home of the stern Yankee, working his rocky farm, eschewing "sin." Right? You couldn't be wronger. Today's New Hampshiremen more likely is of Irish or French-Canadian stock, works in a factory and provides most of the state's income through "sin taxes." Here's a fresh look at the Granite State, site of the nation's first presidential primary on March 10, by an Associated Press writer who traveled the state's cities and towns.)

It comes to mind about this time every four years when folksy strangers begin exploring the electoral byways of New Hampshire in hopes that one of them will lead to the road that leads to the White House.

It shows a stern old Yankee digging out of his snowbound farm house on his way to the polls to cast a vote (Republican, of course) in the nation's first primary of the presidential season.

But the recurring image is not quite accurate.

Instead of a farmhouse, a New Hampshire voter is more likely to have just left a textile mill in Manchester or a shoe factory in Rochester or a paper mill in Berlin or a half-finished atomic submarine in the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

He may have a Yankee twang and attend the traditional Yankee Congregational Church on Sunday morning, but it is quite likely, too, that he is of Irish or French - Canadian descent and he goes to a Roman Catholic mass on the Sabbath. Two in five New Hampshire people are Catholic.

The chances are good that he is a Republican but if he lives in one of three counties they are equally good that he is a Democrat. Hillsborough, Coos and Strafford counties have broken Democratic ranks only for Dwight D. Eisenhower in the past 32 years.

The stereotype of the New Hampshireman as a farmer has been inaccurate for some time now.

By a 1962 U.S. Department of Agriculture count, there were only 7,000 farmers and 3,000 hired farm hands. At the same time, the nonagricultural labor force totalled 205,000 and 89,000 of them were engaged in some form of manufacturing.

In some places around Laconia in the heart of the state farming was given up so long ago that trees 50 or 60 years old can be found growing through the stone walls that once divided the small, neat, rocky farms from their small, neat, rocky neighbors.

One of the few New Hampshiremen who resemble the traditional picture is Holman J. Amey of Pittsburg on the Canadian border, who was born some 60 years ago in the same house he lives in today. He farms about 100 of his 1,200 acres.

"I don't care what the city newspapers tell you," says Amey, explaining the decline of the farm. "Costs have gone up; income hasn't."

From a window of his farmhouse just off U.S. Route 3, Amey can see the result—people from Pittsburg, some of them ex-farmers, driving down to Beecher Falls, Vt., to work in the furniture factory.

By at least one standard, New Hampshire is the second most highly industrialized state in the union. Some 15 per cent of its total population works at manufacturing. Only Connecticut has a higher ratio.

The heart of industrial New Hampshire is the Merrimack River Valley, which includes the state's two largest cities, Manchester, 88,282, and Nashua, 39,096. One out of every five New Hampshiremen live in either Manchester of Nashua, pronounced locally Nashah-way.

There is nothing of colonial New England about Manchester. There shouldn't be. It never was colonial. It was named Manchester 150 years ago after the English textile center with the hope that it too would one day be a great mill city. It was.

The drab, red-brick mill buildings that line the riverfront are the relics of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co., once the largest cotton mill in the world. Amoskeag designed, built and nourished Manchester. And almost destroyed it.

At its peak about 50 years ago, Amoskeag employed 17,000 workers. It was down to about 7,000 in December, 1935, when the mill closed its doors and slipped into bankruptcy. Middle-aging Manchesterites still remember the time vividly as "black Christmas."

Today, Manchester industry is more diversified. In addition to textile mills and shoe factories, there is a growing electronics industry, an offshoot of the electronics complex in Massachusetts, which is within an hour's driving time of Manchester.

In fact, southern New Hampshire resembles and relies upon Massachusetts heavily.

Allan V. Evans, New Hampshire's director of economic development, estimates that in some lower New Hampshire towns almost one half of the workers travel to jobs in Boston or the plants that line Route 128.

Many residents of south New Hampshire are former Massachusetts people, who have fled the crowded suburbs of Boston. They have helped to change the face of the Granite State, politically at least.

People who come from urban areas like Massachusetts are more inclined to be Democrats," says New Hampshire Gov. John W. King, who has benefited by the shift. He's the first Democratic governor of New Hampshire in 40 years.

The largest single industrial employer in New Hampshire is the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, which strangely enough is neither in Portsmouth nor New Hampshire. It's in adjacent Kittery, Maine, but more than half of its 8,500 workers live in New Hampshire.

Portsmouth is unique in New Hampshire in that it is the only area with an appreciable Negro population. The state has only 1,903 Negroes by latest count and 1,300 of them live in Portsmouth or neighboring Newington.

The dominant industrial force in New Hampshire's north country is the Brown Company, which exists in almost baronial isolation in Berlin, pronounced Ber-lin.

Brown Company, a paper and pulpwood firm, owns most of northern New Hampshire, including whole but uninhabited townships. It pays 52 per cent of the taxes of Berlin, pop. 17,821 and 60 per cent of the taxes of Gorham, pop. 3,039.

The danger of such dependence on one firm or industry is apparent.

A year ago, when Brown closed one of its pulp mills, some 3,000 workers were left without jobs. Most of them simply packed up and left Berlin. There were no other opportunities for them.

"The job loss was among the skilled younger men," says Edward J. Reichert, assistant secretary of Brown Company. "The union seniority rules says the last hired is the first fired. We lost many of our best men."

The loss of youth is a problem throughout New Hampshire. Eleven per cent of its population is 65 or more. Only three states have more.

Young people think there is no opportunity here," says Evans. "Right now we are trying to attract skilled laborers and technicians in the 30-40 age group and we are emphasizing the establishment of technical schools."

Berlin is also where French New Hampshire starts. One in every six New Hampshiremen is of French - Canadian descent. Berlin is 70 per cent French. The ratio of Frenchmen is higher in Manchester, too.

They filtered down from Canada's Quebec Province in the late 1800s and early 1900s to work in the mills in the Merrimack River Valley and the logging camps in Coos (pronounced Koh-oss), the northernmost of New Hampshire's 10 counties.

Perhaps it's the French influence that has given New Hampshire a more relaxed atmosphere than one would expect in a state founded by Puritan colonists.

Anti-Smoking Bills Facing Stiff Congress Opposition

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON (Special) (CQ) — Attempting to get anti-cigarette legislation through Congress is not going to be an easy task, now or in the foreseeable future, despite the Jan. 11 Government report on the hazards of smoking.

The economic stakes to important regions in the country are high when the total value of tobacco — both as a farm commodity and as a manufactured product — is taken into consideration.

Growing tobacco or manufacturing tobacco products is a significant commercial activity in 30 of the 50 states, all with representatives in Congress who will jealously watch their states' interests. Furthermore, 47 states benefit handsomely by stiff cigarette taxes, an important source of state revenue.

In addition, there are many strategically placed Senators and Representatives on key committees that can be expected to protect tobacco against adverse reactions to the charges of health hazards.

Agriculture Department figures show that tobacco was the ninth-ranking farm commodity in sales during 1962 — 3.6 percent of all sales of agricultural products. In many states, tobacco accounted for a large percentage of cash receipts from farm income.

In North Carolina, the largest tobacco producing state, it accounted for 48.7 percent of all farm commodity sales in 1962; in Kentucky it accounted for 39.6 percent; in South Carolina, 29.3 percent; and in Virginia, 20.1 percent.

The importance of the tobacco industry to manufacturers is considerable. In 1962, the total value of manufactured tobacco products (including the immediate process of stemming and redrying) was $3 billion — with 85 percent produced in the South.

In North Carolina alone during 1958, the production of manufactured tobacco products accounted for $1.2 billion. In the same year, the value of manufactured tobacco products was $342 million outside the South.

Aided by the seniority system, there are some Southern Congressmen who will be in an advantageous position to protect tobacco interests.

Hearings began Jan. 29 in the House Agriculture Committee on a bill to conduct research into the quality and health factors of tobacco. Committee Chairman Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D N.C.) represents a district with 10,244 tobacco farms, each growing at least 10 acres of tobacco. Also representing tobacco districts on the Committee are Reps. George M. Grant (D Ala.), John L. McMillan (D S.C.), Watkins M. Abbitt (D Va.), D. R. (Billie) Matthews (D Fla.), Frank A. Stubblefield (D Ky.), G. Elliot Hagan (D Ga.), Paul B. Dague (R Pa.) and Ralph Harvey (R Ind.).

Including Chairman Cooley, the nine Members represent 37,000 tobacco farms from 9 of the 30 tobacco-producing states. It can not be expected that Cooley and his Committee will be very enthusiastic about any proposals that might discourage the sale of cigarettes, although they do favor funds for increased research.

Cooley said recently the Federal Trade Commission had no legal authority to require that every cigarette package carry a health warning. He called recent FTC proposals "absurd" and said: "I think someone in the FTC must be emotionally disturbed."

A number of legislative proposals calling for stricter advertising controls over cigarettes have been referred to the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Although not as well represented, tobacco has its allies there too. The Public Health and Safety Subcommittee is headed by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D Ala.).

Rep. William Natcher (D Ky.), who represents 6,222 tobacco farms in a state where the total manufacturing value of tobacco products was over $300 million in 1962, is a key member of the Agriculture Department Appropriations Subcommittee. The Subcommittee appropriates the funds for the extensive programs which research the means to improve the quality of tobacco and lower the cost of production.

Bills, similar to those introduced in the House, are now before the Senate Agriculture, Commerce and Labor and Public Welfare Committees. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D La.), chairman of the Agriculture Committee, has tobacco allies in Sens. Olin D. Johnson (D S.C.), Spessard L. Hollard (D Fla.), Herman E. Talmadge (D Ga.), B. Everett Jordan (D N.C.) and John Sherman Cooper (R Ky.). Jordan is Chairman of the Agriculture Research and General Legislation Subcommittee which, if hearings are held, will handle the tobacco research bills.

Tobacco interests in the Commerce Committee are represented by Sens. Strom Thurmond (D S.C.), Thruston B. Morton (R Ky.) and Hugh Scott (R Pa.). And Sen. Maurine Neuberger's (D Ore.) bill, calling for a national education program to outline the dangers of smoking, will face the watchful eye of Labor and Public Welfare Committee Chairman Lister Hill (D Ala.).

Considering the economic interests involved, and the certain Congressional opposition on some key committees, the likelihood of enacting legislation that would limit the sale and distribution of cigarettes is slim.

Federal Judges Rule Passport Law Is Invalid

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A controversial passport law has been ruled unconstitutional by a three-judge federal panel which said the government could not penalize a citizen for re-entering "the land of his allegiance."

The case arose when William Worthy, a Negro journalist from Boston, returned from Cuba on Oct. 10, 1961. He landed at Miami, Fla., and a federal grand jury there indicted him for unlawfully entering the country without a valid passport.

A trial without a jury convicted him and sentenced him to three months imprisonment and nine months on probation. He remained free on bond while asking the appeals court to decide the constitutional issues.

In its ruling Thursday, the appeals court said, "The government cannot say to its citizen, standing beyond its border, that his re-entry into the land of his allegiance is a criminal offense."

Although a citizen may have been at fault in leaving the United States without a passport, the opinion said, he could not be required "to choose between banishment or expatriation on the one hand" or "being faced with criminal punishment and the loss of some of the rights and privileges of citizenship" by returning.

Worthy, a correspondent for the Baltimore Afro-American, said in a statement after the decision that he hoped the Johnson administration "will be more enlightened than its three predecessors" on the public's "right to know and to travel."

In 1955, he traveled in Communist China and Hungary despite State Department restrictions on such travel. In 1957, he was refused a passport because he would not pledge that he would not do it again. At that time the federal courts upheld the right of the State Department to control issuance of passports. The appeals court ruling of Thursday was not involved with that phase of passport control.

Local Jaycees Plan Camp-Out For 40 Children

According to Jaycee Malcolm Keith, project chairman, it is designed to "give handicapped children the opportunity to know the joys of an overnight camp-out."

First of its kind for the Jaycees, the event is slated tentatively for late March, with about 40 children expected to participate.

"Trained supervisors will be on hand to help the children, as well as both the Monroe Jaycees and Jaynes," Keith said.

Exact date, time and location will be announced later.
